Two Charlestonians Missing in Plane

Search for A.L. Story, Mrs. George Shelby; Wreckage of Craft Found in Shannon County

A section of a wing was found about 20 miles northeast of Winona in Howell county this morning as the Civil Air Patrol and state highway police pressed a search for a prominent Southeast Missouri cotton producer and landowner.

A. L. "Abbie" Story, 50, and his sister-in-law, Mrs. George Shelby, 38, both of Charleston, were missing in a flight from Columbia Wednesday afternoon. They were returning to Charleston after attending a state agricultural, conservation and stabilizationcommittee meeting in Columbia.

The wreckage found by a highway patrolman was not immediately identified.

Winona is about 130 miles west of Sikeston.

The debris was found in a heavily forested area. The highway patrol said the rugged terrain is covered with oak and pine trees and thick brush.

A thunderstorm struck this area yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Shelby is a twin sister of Janice Story, wife of A. L. Story.

The plane was white and copper color with black numerals. The number 8630Y was painted on the side.

Story and his sister-in-law had attended the meeting in Columbia Tuesday and Wednesday. They left Columbia at 2:30 p.m.

A 50-mile search was underway for a twin engine Piper Comanche plane by the CAP, which was piloted by Story. The plane was believed down in the central Missouri Ozarks.

The last word received from the pilot was when he was flying over Vichy in Maries county at 3:05 p.m. yesterday. The Sikeston area experienced rain squalls yesterday afternoon and last night.

Planes from the Malden Civil Air Patrol, assisted by members of the Poplar Bluff, Sikeston and Cape Girardeau units, left early today in search of the area.

At 10:30 a.m. today the wing section, without markings, was found on Peck's ranch in Shannon county.

Shortly after noon today a second portion of a plane was found near the first portion. Neither portion was immediately identified. A ground party of foresters began a thorough search of the area.

Story formerly was president of the National Cotton Council and was a candidate for appointment as secretary of agriculture during the Kennedy administration.

Story is president of the First Security State Bank of Charleston and a member of the state ASC committee. He is a past president of the American Cotton Producers Association, and on the board of the First Methodist church in Charleston.

The Story plane was based at the Sikeston airport, which was yesterday's flight destination.

Beulah's Force Waning

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)— Waning Hurricane Beulah surged farther inland today, leaving hundreds of square miles of death, destruction and growing floods in her wake.

The monster storm's main track stretched 160 miles into Texas from Brownsville, the coastal point where she first raged ashore Wednesday.

Curving on a more westerly course as she advanced, Beulah finally dropped below minimum hurricane force— 75 miles per hour— early today.

Floods boiled up along rivers and creeks faster than harried disaster relief officials could keep track of them.

The small city of Alice, 40 miles west of Corpus Christi, was deluged by 7.28 inches of rain. Victoria, about 100 miles north of Corpus Christi, recorded 8.30 inches. Other towns and cities in the storm area recorded rains in two-digit figures, topped by 13.80 inches at Tuleta, 70 miles northeast of here.

A 13-day-old storm that began in the Atlantic, Beulah claimed 30 lives— six in Texas. Eighteen died in the Caribbean and the rest perished in Mexico's southern regions.

Flooding plagued the southern half of Texas and threatened to be a major problem for days. The rains showed no signs of abating as Gulf of Mexico tides swept headlong up river beds and collided with flood waters from Beulah's rains.

In an unprecedented move the State Department announced through Texas officials at Austin that the United States and Mexico had declared a disaster area along the border Rio Grande.

"The U.S. Immigration service is to open the international border and it is to remain open until further notice," a Texas spokesman said.

Brownsville's sister city of Matamoros, Mexico, sustained heavy damage from Beulah, as did Reynosa, Mexico, just across the river from Edinburg, Tex.

The Coast Guard was dispatching three amphibious airplanes from Corpus Christi today to survey damage in the storm's main track.

Tornadoes dealt damage in the millions of dollars. A final accounting of the storm's monetary harm was days— or possibly weeks— away.

Electrical power was shut off to about one-fourth of the Texas land mass. Brownsville was the hardest hit city in the state. Beulah screeched ashore there with 160 m.p.h. winds and rains too heavy to measure.

Hurricane force winds continued at Alice, a city of 23,000 some 40 miles west of Corpus Christi. Downtown businesses were flooded as were most homes. The residents had fled inland or to shelters.

Lack of water was a problem elsewhere. The municipal filtering plant at Corpus was fouled by Gulf backup. The situation was the same along the coast, where some cities reported up to 85 per cent destruction.

Restoration of electrical power was days away, utility company spokesmen said.

Beulah kept her hurricane status for hours longer than expected. Once over land, most hurricanes quickly lose force.

She was centered 60 miles west of Corpus Christi at 5 a.m., when hurricane warnings finally were lowered.

Tornadoes writhed off in record numbers from Beulah, herself the third largest hurricane in recorded history. She was responsible for 30 confirmed twisters. There were unofficial reports of more than 50 sightings. One tornado hit tiny Burnet, Tex., some 250 miles to the north of Beulah's track.

Three Candidates for Miss Sikeston of 1967

Karen Sue Baugus, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C.A. Baugus, 308 Broadway, Sandra Jane Eaton, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Eaton, 835 Greer, and Vickie Lynn Welch, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Welch, 307 Marion, are candidates for Miss Sikeston, 1967.

Miss Sikeston will be crowned Sept. 29 during the 23rd annual American Legion Cotton Carnival Monday through Sept. 30. The contest will begin at 10 p.m. The winner will be crowned by Lt. Gov. Thomas Eagleton.

Miss Baugus is a high school senior and plans to teach mentally retarded children. She is five feet, six and a half inches tall, weighs 135 pounds, has brown hair and green eyes.

Miss Eaton, a high school senior, plans to attend Memphis State University. She is five feet, one inch tall, weighs 105 pounds, has brown hair and green eyes.

Miss Welch, also a senior, plans to attend the University of Missouri at Columbia and become a physical education teacher. She is five feet, two inches tall, weighs 103 pounds, has blonde hair and blue eyes.

33 Join Scott County Young Democrats Club at Benton

By Jerry Obermark

BENTON -- Thirty three new members were signed at the Scott County Young Democrats Club meeting Wednesday night in the community building.

The meeting consisted of a social gathering and business session. Tom Gilmore, Sikeston, president, said that the club plans to have meetings every six weeks. Bill Lewis Jr. and Jim S. Green, both of Sikeston, will plan the schedule.

Before State Sen. Albert M. Spradling Jr., Cape Girardeau, was introduced two announced candidates for the Democratic nomination for representative of the 10th District were asked to speak.

Cape Girardeau County Prosecuting Attorney Bill Burlison pointed out that Scott county cast more votes in the 1966 primary than any other county in the 10th district with 5,691. This was 1,200 more votes cast than the second highest turnout in Dunklin county, he added.

Limited to three minutes Burlison stated two problems in the district.

"A tragic problem that exists in our farm program is pointed up by the fact that farmers are getting a much lower per cent of the agriculture consumer dollar, while the labor that distributes the farmer's products is getting a higher percentage of that dollar," Burlison said.

"Another serious problem faced by the district is the fact that it is losing political interest," he said. "In recent years, the district has lost eight per cent of its population, while the state's population as a whole has increased."

Jim Wallace, locomotive engineer from Scott City, solicited support and pledged to lobby for those unable to lobby for themselves if elected. He pledged to work in close harmony with residents and to represent the area in a forthright manner.

Gilmore thanked candidates for their comments and pledged that the club will serve as a vehicle for active participation in politics. He urged the 100 persons attending to stay involved, and participate.

Spradling urged club members appeal to young voters. More than 50 per cent of the eligible voters in the United States will be under 28 years old in 1968, he said. This group can carry whomever and whatever party they choose, he said.

Voter turnout in Missouri was poor in 1966, with only about 40 per cent of the eligible voters going to the polls for the primary and less than 50 per cent voting in the general election, he said.

Spradling urged the group to recruit more young persons and kindle interest and participation in politics.

Persons over 65 years old constitute a powerful political minority group, since 88 per cent of them vote. This group has controlled elections in the state for many years, Spradling said.

The race for the U. S. senate seat of Sen. Edward V. Long in the 1968, primary will probably be one of the roughest ever seen in the state, Spradling predicted. And the office of lieutenant governor is likely to have several candidates vying for the democratic nomination.

He urged the group to be independent thinkers as Democrats and unite in a party effort following the primary.

Expounding on Gov. Warren E. Hearnes' record, Spradling said, he had been one of Hearnes chief opponents when he took office, but is now convinced that Hearnes is one of the best governors the state has ever had.

Hearnes has addressed his programs to the problems of the people rather than special interest legislation, he said.

Good strides have been made during Hearnes' term in the fields of primary and secondary education, mental health and toll roads, Spradling said.

"We have a man in the governor's seat now who recognizes the problems of the states who is fighting for the state and for Southeast Missouri," he said.

Diet Pill Warning Issued

PORTLAND, Ore, AP -- "If you're alive now, stop taking the pills," Oregon's medical examiner warned women Wednesday.

He referred to women who think they might be taking a combination of diet pills that are believed responsible for the deaths of eight Oregon women during the past four years.

Dr. Russell Henry, bombarded by phone calls after he announced findings of a two-year study, called a news conference to describe the pills and to reassure those who take diet pills.

"Don't panic," he said. "We are not talking about diet pills in general."

Henry said the pills he has investigated contain a combination of amphetamines, premobarbitual, thyroid, digitalis, laxative and diuretic. He said some women take 10 to 12 a day.

He said the pills are multicolored and are easily obtainable in some states.

The pills are not illegal when prescribed by a doctor but are listed under Oregon's Dangerous Drugs Act, he said.

Asked to name the manufacturers, Henry named Delco Chemical Co. Inc., Mount Vernon, N.Y.; Lampar Co., Dallas, Tex.; and Western Research Labortories, Denver, Colo.

He said other firms also manufacture and distribute the pills.

Henry said women who think they might be taking the combination of pills should consult their doctors.

He said the pills deplete the body's supply of potassium and make the heart susceptible to metabolic stimulants.

Symptons, Henry said, are muscel weakness, shortness of breath, nervousness and heart palpitation.

Political Topics Creep Into Lady Bird's Tour Stops

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP)— Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson headed into three more Midwest states today on a "Crossroads U.S.A." tour that bore at least the blush of a political campaign trip.

It wasn't billed as political, and there wasn't any hard campaigning on the first day of the trip in South Dakota and Minnesota Wednesday.

But there were gentle reminders at nearly every stop that the federal government headed by Mrs. Johnson's husband is involved in the propsperity, beautification and welfare of the Midwest.

The first stop at Montevideo, Minn., for instance was at Brookside Manor, a senior citizens' home built with an $800,000 federal loan.

Minutes later, Mrs. Johnson and Robert Weaver, secretary of housing and urban development, dedicated the Montevideo downtown urban renewal area -- also built partly with federal funds.

The Nicollet mall in Minneapolis, a downtown shopper-oriented project, was another stop -- and it was built partly with federal funds.

On a bus trip through the South Dakota-Minnesota border area, Mrs. Johnson and her party gazed at herds of fattening cattle and fields of ripening corn.

Today's schedule included an early-morning flight to Quincy, Ill., where the party was to board a Mississippi River boat for a two-hour trip to Hannibal, Mo.

Chiles Charged With Forgery

ILLMO -- Johnny Chiles, 26, of Illmo was arrested Wednesday afternoon and charged with forgery, Sheriff John Dennis said today.

Chiles is charged with forging a $12.50 check at the 66 service station in Scott county Sept. 1.

The check, drawn on the Bank of Sikeston, was made out to Johnny Chiles and signed "Curtis Chiles," whose address was given by Johnny Chiles as Sikeston, Dennis said.

Chiles has several more checks out which will be investigated, Dennis said.

The suspect is being held in county jail.

Theft Suspect Arrested

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- Sheriff John Dennis of Scott county and Cape Girardeau county sheriff officers arrested Harold Crowden, 18, of Rockview as a suspect in the theft of tools and welding equipment from the Frank Miller farm, located near the Cape Girardeau airport.

On Labor Day $300 worth of tools were taken from the farm. On Tuesday acetylene equipment was taken, Dennis said.

Crowden was turned over to Cape Girardeau county authorities and is being held in the county jail at Jackson.

Hockaday Says Court Decisions Confusing Many Law Officers

KANSAS CITY (AP) -- Recent decisions by the U. S. Supreme Court protecting the rights of accused persons have left many law officers confused, says the head of the Missouri Highway Patrol.

Col. E. I. Hockaday told the Missouri Police Chiefs Association Wednesday that officers need a set of guidelines interepreting court rulings, so they know what they can and cannot do.

The patrol superintendent also advocated a gun control law, mandatory training programs for law officers and abolishment of bail bonds.

Goldberg Asks Hanoi to Guarantee Talks Would Follow Bombing Halt

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg today asked North Vietnam for a definite and specific statement as to whether a halt of U.S. bombing would lead to meaningful negotiations without advantage to either side.

In a major policy speech before the 122-nation U.N. General Assembly, the chief U.S. delegate reaffirmed that the United States favors peace talks and is willing to negotiate at Geneva or elsewhere.

He appealed to all U.N. members collectively and individually to aid in the search for peace. He also reaffirmed the U.S. belief that the United Nations has responsibilities under its charter to take a hand in the Vietnam problem.

Goldberg noted that Hanoi has indicated a cessation of the bombing "could" lead to negotiations but he said that Hanoi has not made a definite commitment nor has any of its allies "conveyed to us any authoritative message from Hanoi that there would in fact be negotiations if the bombing were stopped."

"We have sought such a message directly from Hanoi without success," he said. "On its part, the United States would be glad to consider and discuss any proposal that would lead promptly to productive discussions that might bring peace to the area."

He then asked:

"Does North Vietnam conceive that the cessation of bombing would or should lead to any other results than meaningful negotiations or discussions under circumstances which would not disadvantage either side?"

Goldberg dealt with a wide range of world problems, including the Middle East, but his main stress was on Vietnam.

He asked North Vietnam's allies, presumably including the Soviet Union, "what would they do or refrain from doing, and how would they then use their influence and power" to bring peace if the United States halted the bombing of North Vietnam.

"Constructive answers to these questions would aid in the search for peace," he said.

Goldberg repeated that the United States does not seek a military solution to the Vietnam problem, but he noted that neither North Vietnam nor its adherents have yet agreed to the objective of a political settlement through negotiations.

He expressed hope that Hanoi would agree, but he declared:

"In any event there will be no slackening of our resolve to help South Vietnam defend its right to determine its own future by peaceful means and free from external force."

Turning to the Middle East, Goldberg appealed for flexibility on the part of all on the method of bringing peace to the area. No appropriate method, including good offices or mediation, should be excluded, he declared.

"In realism," he said, "it is perhaps not to be expected that reconciliation and magnaminity will appear overnight; but surely enmity must at least give way to tolerance and to the will to live toegether in peace. Once that will is manifest, the terms of settlement can be evolved."

He repeated the principles laid down by President Johnson last June calling for a withdrawal of Israeli troops, recognition of all that each nation has a right to live in peace, freedom of passage through international waterways, justice for refugees and determination of the status with all concerned.

Goldberg said the preoccupation of the United States with the treaty on nonproliferation has not diminished U.S. interest in other problems in the arms control field— notably efforts to negotiate an agreement on anti-missile missiles.

Two Charged With Burglary

BENTON--Two Oran men have been charged with four breakins in Scott county this week, Sheriff John Dennis said today.

Charged with burglary and stealing are Danny Lee Hibbs, 18, and Larry Junior Rose, 24. They are being held in county jail.

They are charged with:

A breakin at the Morley VFW Tuesday night, where two bottles of whiskey were taken.

A breakin at Graviett's tavern at Vanduser Tuesday night, where about $60 and two cases of beer were taken.

A breakin at Al's tavern in Chaffee Wednesday night, where about $100 and two six-packs of beer were taken.

A breakin at Stuckey's service station at Benton Wednesday night, where about $50, tire tools and a flashlight were taken.

The two were picked up by Dennis in Benton about 8 a.m. today. The service station was broken into about 5 a.m., Sam Stuckey, the owner, said.

Dennis said all the stolen goods have been recovered.

Bottle Injures Carrier's Eye

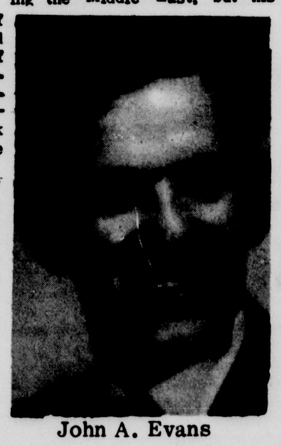
Sikeston police have identified a youth who threw a soda bottle from a school bus Tuesday evening in the 700 block of Greer and struck Bobby Bye, a carrier for the Daily Standard, above the left eye.

Bobby is the son Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bye, 216 Goode. He was taken to the hospital Tuesday evening and referred for treatment in a doctor's office. He attended school Wednesday, but stayed home today, because the eye has swollen and is watering, Mrs. Bye said.

The information obtained by police was given to school authorities.

In other activity, Vernon Morris, 411 North Ingram, reported to police Wednesday that a rock was thrown through a window in his house.

Mrs. Theon Compas, 305 Kay Dr., reported to police Wednesday evening that a wheel was taken from a riding power mower parked on the carport.



John A. Evans

City Appoints Two Officers

The appointment of a police patrolman and a humane officer was announced today by City Manager W. Raymert Miller.

John A. Evans, 24, Bertrand, manager of the Rex Theater in Sikeston, will be a patrolman. His appointment is effective Saturday.

Robert Williams, 28, 1602 Matthews, a painter, was appointed as humane officer.

British Seamen Quit After Seeing Grain Bagged for Viet North

LONDON (AP) — Eight British merchant seamen who quit a British ship which had carried Australian grain to Red China said Wednesday night they saw the grain going "straight into bags stamped North Vietnam."

"It was in Tsingtau," said seaman Alan McIntyre, 34, adding: "The Australians have troops in South Vietnam fighting. It's disgusting."

Miller Attends League Meeting

City Manager W. Raymert Miller is in Kansas City today attending the 33rd annual conference of the Missouri Municipal League.

The program includes a series of discussions on city problems and workshops. Governor Warren E. Hearnes will address the group today.

A panel discussion will be conducted today on "Paying the Cost of local Government."

The conference opened Wednesday and will conclude after sessions tomorrow.

GI Bill Program Brings in 9,200

ST. LOUIS (AP) -- In the first 13 months of the program, more than 9,200 Missouri servicemen and veterans have entered training under the Post-Korean G. I. Bill, the Veterans Administration announced today.

There are 9,234 trainess enrolled in the program, the St. Louis VA regional office reported, including 6,964 veterans and 146 servicemen who entered at the college level or above. The figure includes 2,088 veterans and 36 servicemen who enrolled in vocational training or other courses below the college level.

The bill became effective June 1, 1966.

The number of Missouri trainees is expected to be increased under the recently-passed Veterans Pension and Readjustment Assistance Act of 1967, the VA said. The act becomes effective on Oct. 1 and includes the same types of training for those who are veterans of the Vietnam conflict.

Pope's Doctors Say Operation Not Urgent

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI's three doctors said today their examinations showed no immediate need for an operation to correct the prostate condition which led to his illness.

Informed sources had said, however, that although the operation was not urgent, it would be necessary eventually.

The 69-year-old Pope fell ill Sept. 4 but has recovered enough that the sources said he may even be able to preside at the opening of the worldwide bishops' synod meeting Sept. 29.

The doctors said the Pontiff's recovery was continuing relatively rapidly, and that the treatment he has been receiving seemed sufficient to bring about his almost complete recovery from the inflammation of the urinary system which he has suffered.

Queen Mary Ends First Leg of Final Journey

NEW YORK (AP)— The aging Queen Mary--fast enough to outrun Hitler's U-boats as a troopship a generation ago but unable to keep pace with jet age travel — arrived under gray and somber skies today on the first leg of her 500th and last transAtlantic round trip.

She carried 1,500 passengers— many of them Americans who flew to England for the sentimental journey.

Friday the 31-year-old one-time sea queen sails home to Southampton where thousands sang the British national anthem, waved and wept as she departed last Saturday on her last trip to New York.

And next month comes a 35-day final passenger cruise around Cape Horn to Long Beach, Calif., which has bought the Queen Mary for $3.5 million to use as a floating hotel and museum.

China Ridicules U.S. Antimissile Plans

TOKYO (AP) — Saying that the United States has panicked, Red China today ridiculed American plans to build a $5 billion antimissile defense against a possible nuclear attack by the Chinese in the 1970s.

"In the past when China had no nuclear weapons, it did not submit to the United States or the Soviet nuclear big stick," said the official New China News Agency. "Much less will the Chinese people be cowed by an intimidation or blackmail now that they have their own nuclear weapons."

Chamber to Discuss Drive

The Sikeston Chamber of Commerce board of directors met at noon today at the Mid Towner Restaurant to discuss the upcoming membership drive to be held Oct. 3, Richard Pinkerton, manager, said.

St. Louis Man Dies in Collision

James Arthur Thompson, 57, St. Louis, died today at 10:45 a.m. from injuries received in a highway accident at 8:30 a.m. today on highway 67, 15 miles south of Fredericktown.

His body is at the Wilson Funeral Home in Fredericktown.

He was traveling north in a 1962 Ford, when a 1962 Chevrolet, driven south by Rube Moffit, 59, Poplar Bluff, struck the Thompson car headon.

Moffit was taken to the Madison County Memorial hospital, Fredericktown, suffering from a bruised chest.

Four others were injured in vehicle collisions Wednesday according to the highway patrol.

Mrs. Cleo S. Bailey, 71, Perkins, was injured at 1:45 p.m. on route E, two and one half miles east of Benton.

A 1949 John Deere tractor driven by James LeGrand, 21, Benton, pulling a wagon, attempted to make a left turn, when a 1964 Valiant, driven by W. S. Bailey, 71, husband of Cleo S. Bailey, struck the tractor in the left side in an attempt to pass.

Mrs. Bailey, a passenger in the Valiant, was taken to the Southeast Missouri hospital in Cape Girardeau, where she was treated for head and shoulder injuries.

Nada Anderson, 58, Morley, driving a 1961 Ford, received leg cuts and head bruises at 5:15 p.m. on a gravel road in Morley.

Her car was struck by a 1961 Chevrolet, driven by Larry Boley, 18, Bell City. Brush obscured the view at a street intersection.

Mrs. Anderson was treated at the Missouri Delta Community hospital.

Leonard Hokey, 57, route two, Essex, driving a 1957 Buick, was treated for cuts on his cheek after a two-car collision at 1:15 p.m. on route V, five miles west of Sikeston.

A 1957 Ford, driven by Earl Landers, 20, Morehouse, slid through a stop sign on slick pavement and into the side of the Buick.

Landers was given a summons for careless and reckless driving, and failure to yield the right-of-way.

At 2:10 p.m. on business route 60, one half mile west of Sikeston, a 1966 Ford, driven by Lena Landers, 49, Canalou, pulled from a drive and was struck by a 1957 Ford pickup truck, driven by Charles R. Lambert, 60, Sikeston.

Mrs. Landers received cuts on her head and was treated at the Missouri Delta Community hospital.

A summons was given Lambert for careless and reckless driving.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

AUTUMN, HER GIFTS AND WOUNDS

The Autumnal Equinox begins at 12:33 p.m. on Saturday, Sept. 23.

STONE HARBOR, N.J. -- If April is the cruelest month, as T. S. Eliot would insist, September may be the kindest. September is a relief from the hurts of summer and a preparation for the slings and arrows of winter. On the Atlantic littoral the waters are warmer than in July, although the waves are more vigorous.

Asters frost the fencerows, and sumac berries flame at the roadside. Migratory birds begin forming their sun-clouding southward planes. Maples turn to glory and shed, and the smoke and smell of leaves burning spreads through the suburbs. Children trudge schoolward, and man relaxes.

THIS IS A GOOD SUMMER, to have over, as the U. S. Weather Bureau concedes. Nature gave a little and took a little. After a five-year drought, the Northeast is watersoaked. Great waves of cold air moved south from the Arctic to the Midwest and West this summer. Then planetary winds scooped up the cold air and carried it eastward, where it met the Bermuda high. The warm, moist air went up; the cold air condensed into rain.

Forest fires are vexing the Northwest. Smokejumpers have seen more action this year than ever before. On all state, federal, and private lands, there were 122,500 forest or brush fires in 1966, turning more than 4-1/2 million acres into ash. This year bids to be worse. The third weekend in August was the worst of the year, with hundreds of fires, mostly touched off by lightning, burning in the West.

Summer's weather was unusual, but then all weather is fickle, according to the federal experts. "The atmosphere is always abnormal," says Jerome Namais, chief of the Weather Bureau's Extended Forecast Division.

MOST CURIOUS has been the late start to hurricane activity, usually September's lash. So far we have had only Arlene, Beulah, Chloe and Doria of a string of girls' names for tropical storms and hurricanes that the Weather Bureau this year roguishly extends through Verna and Wallis. Not since 1941 has there been such a delayed start.

The official hurricane season extends from June 15 through Nov. 15, but the brunt usually comes in September. There is a record of only one hurricane (in 1925) as late as Nov. 30. Last year there were 11 tropical storms in the Gulf of Mexico, Carribean, and Southwestern Atlantic. About half reached the 75-mile-an-hour itensity needed to qualify as a hurricane. This year we have had 10 or 11 tropical storms -- well above normal -- on the Pacific side of Mexico and Central America, but only weak activity in the Atlantic.

The Weather Bureau has been experimenting for two decades with dispersing hurricanes by cloud-seeding. A modification in regulations allows a wider range this year. As many as 14 planes will be on standby until Oct. 15 at Roosevelt Roads Naval Air Station, Puerto Rico, and the Jacksonville, Fla., Naval Air Station.

Storms of all kinds, and seismic sea waves, claim 500 to 600 lives a year in the United States, and do $1 billion to $15 billion damage. Hurricanes are major contributors to both tolls. September and autumn are welcome, so long as they leave their windy and willful ladies behind them.

EAGLETON TAKES THE PLUNGE

Democratic organization stalwarts may deplore the prospect of a strong challenge to Senator Long's renomination next year, but the general public has reason to welcome Lt. Gov. Eagleton's decision to become a candidate. Party organizations -- and of course incumbents -- always like to keep things quiet, somnolent and tidy in the primary. It's more comfortable all around, and less of a strain on campaign funds, to hand the incumbent renomination without a struggle, and to concentrate upon re-electing him in the general election.

Lt. Gov. Eagleton, after much soul-searching and listening at the grass roots, has decided not to play the game. He has always been a prime prospect for United States Senator some day, and now rejects the advice of those who want him to wait until some year when he can get the nomination easily. Well, why not? His decision to run will compel Senator Long to give the state good reasons why he should be nominated in preference to a young and very attractive challenger. If the contest results in airing issues that ought to be aired, notably foreign policy and the war in Vietnam, the people can only gain.

There will be plenty of time to choose between the two -- and possibly more -- candidates when the contest has developed. For the present, we think Missourians can welcome the fact that there will be a contest.

THE DECLINE OF HERESY

In an unorthodox age, who can be called a heretic? That, essentially, is the question that a special committee of the Episcopal Church attempted to answer in a recent report. The committee concluded that "Any risks the church may run by fostering a climate of geniune freedom are minor in comparison to the dangers it surely will encounter from any attempt at suppression, censorship or thought control." The triennial general convention of the Episcopal Church, which opens in Seattle on Sunday, Sept. 17, will debate and pass judgment on the report.

Although the Rt. Rev. James A. Pike, former Bishop of California, was not mentioned in the report, it obviously was written with him in mind. Bishop Pike's repudiation of such traditional Christian doctrines as the Virgin Birth and the Trinity prompted the Episcopal House of Bishops to initiate heresy proceedings against him last autumn. The proceedings were halted after adoption of a resolution rejecting the concept of heresy trials, but Bishop Pike insisted on a trial to clear his name. Formation of the special church committee followed. Bishop Pike, now a theologian in residence at the Center for the Study of Democratic Institution, Santa Barbara, Calif., has said he will withdraw his demand for a heresy trial if the Seattle convention approves the committee report.

Bishop Pike's controversial views would certainly have furnished grounds for heresy proceedings in the early days of Christianity. Prior to the Council of Nicaea (325 A.D.), the Christian Church was seriously challenged by pagan and Jewish beliefs which threatened to become blended with the faith. At that time, the punishment of heresy was by reproof or excommunication. In the post-Nicene period heresies became less significant differences in interpretation of Christian doctrine. Nevertheless, the penalties for heresy grew more severe, as during the Spanish Inquisition.

Today, the various Christian faiths are working toward reunification in a single church. The emphasis is on finding common denominators of belief, not on underlining doctrinal differences. Achievement of Christian unity, however, might well lead to formation of an entirely new orthodoxy. Then heresy would again become one of the prime concerns of Christian religious leaders.

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — For "like new" Spider Man comic books and a free baby sitter (if you'll take her to the beach) turn to the boys and girls want ad page in the Yonkers Herald-Statesman.

It's free and it's fun for the young advertisers but the Statesman limits ads to 25 words and a special rules clause keeps parents from using their kids' names to peddle boats, cars, pianos or baby cribs.

The wheeler, dealer teens of the New York City suburb filled six or seven columns a day for two weeks in a mad scramble for part-time jobs, reading swaps and second-hand merchandising.

Billy Wolfe's Sealpoint Siamese had eight "beautiful kittens," which he said he'd let go for just $25 apiece. The kittens are pretty desirable because they were "home raised with a dog."

"If you like," advertized Gail Freddolino, 9, "I would like to sell my two stuffed animals for only $1. They are good stuffed animals."

Also for sale were "a low mileage record player" by Lynne Galant, 14, and a sleeping bag by Ken Johnsson, who insisted: "I never used it. No lie."

Harlene Grossman, 11, was "selling books to suit every cause and every person. The books are in good shape. They just aren't read."

And two samples from that booming comic book trade:

"I am selling 5 Spider Man, 5 Avenger, 1 Little Archie, 1 Green Lantern, 1 Batman, 1 Fantastic Four and 2 Illustrated Classics for $1." Clifford Firstenberg, 11.

"I will trade 12 good giant Dennis the Menace comics for 15 good small Marvel Super Hero comics," Matthew Alderman, 10.

The want ad columns were bursting with "eager" and "enthusiastic" baby sitters. And the need to compete produced some unusual offers.

"Going to the beach! Take me along and I will sit the kids. No charge." Ellen Cohen, 15.

From Mary Buhler, 12, a would-be "mother's helper," came this suasion: "Have general idea help at home with 4 brothers & Sisters. Won't cost you much."

For 25 cents an hour 9-year-old Kathleen O'Keefe "will read to or play with children 1½-5 while mother does housework."

In the classic job-seekers ad, Donald Flynn, 18, wrote: "Responsible youth seeks employment as a Catholic organist or waiter or clerk or counterman or gardener. No experience available."

Richard Barrer, 14, "will pay top dollar for toads, common or foreign." And "If anyone has any radios or any type of electrical or scientific equipment to get rid of," please call Allen Weiner, 13.

The Missouri State Highway Patrol has been selected as a member of the Federal Bureau of Investigation's National Crime Information Center.

The Center is a computerized information system established as a service to all law enforcement agencies -- local, state and federl. Several police agencies throughout the country are members of NCIC.

Information dealing with stolen automobiles, wanted persons, stolen property and other such police information will be transmitted by the member agencies directly into the computer center at the FBI Headquarters in Washington, D. C. The submitted information will then be available to any inquiring police agency in the country. The total transaction time of an inquiry to and response from the Center will be about thirty seconds.

Colonel E. I. (Mike) Hockaday, the Patrol Superintendent, said, "The National Crime Information Center will enable law enforcement agencies throughout the country to check on information Center will enable law enforcement agencies throughout the country to check on information concerning crime and criminals at one location. This will make for more efficient handling and exchange of documented police information."

The Superintendent also stated that additional personnel are needed to operate this system. He said, "We are looking for young men with technical or operational experience in communications to work i this new activity. Those qualified men selected will be in on the beginning of an interesting and important law enforcement communications program."

Colonel Hockaday pointed out that letters of inquiry for these positions should be addressed to the Missouri State Highway Patrol, Division of Communications, Jefferson City, Missouri.

A big Kansas farmer found it necessary to go to Minneapolis for several months and decided to leave one of his best workers in charge. "I want you to take care of things, Hank, as if I were here myself. Understand?"

Hank nodded.

Four months later the boss farmer returned to find everything in shape. Said Hank, pointing things out, "the chicks have been laying plenty of eggs, the wheat has grown double strong, the vegetables are better than they've ever been, and as for those monthly spells your daughter used to have, I've even got those stopped."

IS IT NOW A PLANE?

Those who make a study of so-called classic cars make much of such famous old gas buggies as the Stutz, the Mercer, the Pierce-Arrow and others of a bygone era. All of them played a significant role in ushering in the age of the automobile.

We submit, however, that the glories of all those old cars fade dimly in comparison with a car of more recent vintage -- the Edsel, sometimes referred to as the Fiasco Eight. From what we have read about it, it was the most carefully conceived car ever built. Not only was the engineering computerized down to the last nut, bolt and knob, it was carefully calculated -- by some Dearborn Whiz Kids, no doubt -- so that it would be irresistible to buyers.

Responsible for this remarkable vehicle was Robert G. McNamara, who now directs our Department of Defense (or is it Disarmanent?). While McNamara made many valuable contributions to his former employer, it is indisputable that the Edsel was his crowning achievement, indeed his monument in the motor world.

So impressed were his fellow officials with the car, or with its creator's arguments in favor of it, that cost became no object. It is estimated that more than a quarter-billion dollars were spent in developing it and getting it on the market.

But it was one thing to get it on the market and something else again to keep it there. For reasons unknown, it evoked no enthusiasm whatsoever from those who ultimately decide the success or failure of any commodity -- the buying public.

Of course if Mr. McNamara had been able to talk to each prospective buyer personally, with all those computerized arguments and a few charts, he might have been able to sell them a bill of goods. But along about this time he was busy with other matters. And then his employers patriotically allowed him to accept a job with the U. S. Government.

What has become of the Edsels that were sold? You occasionally see one in running condition, recognizable by the odd-looking horse-collar radiator. But they're scarce and getting scarcer.

One rumor is that the Defense Department has bought them all up to get the engines for Mr. McNamara's TFX wonder plane. Maybe the new Congressional investigation of the TFX will confirm or discount the rumor.

One of Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara's favorite theories goes like this: "When a man is bald in front it means he is a thinker; when he's blad in back, he's sexy; and when the baldness in the back merges with the baldness in front, he just thinks he's sexy."

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON -- Former Vice President Nixon is doing a lot more to get the GOP nomination than the public knows about. He's quiet, methodical, efficient. And He's gained a lot of ground.

Nixon's forces recently held a "team meeting." It was held behind closed doors in Washington. Very little leaked out, but this column can now report what happened.

About 20 were expected, but about 40 went to the meeting. It was the first meeting presided over by Henry Bellmon, former Republican governor of Oklahoma, replacing Gaylord Parkinson as chairman of the Nixon forces. Parkinson, whose wife is seriously ill, has returned to California.

Bellmon dropped word that on April 1 he would announce his candidacy against Sen. Mike Monroney, who has long dominated Democratic politics in Oklahoma. Monroney has been a popular and competent senator, but Bellmon seemed to feel that sentiment was swinging toward the Republicans in Oklahoma and that he could win.

John Sears, age 32 and Bellmon's assistant, gave a briefing on political polls, a survey of the press, and listed the press stooges for each of Nixon's Republican rivals.

--YOUNG MEN FOR OLD--

Two members of the executive staffs of Newsweek and Time, and a radio network official said they were attending the Nixon meeting at the risk of their jobs; nevertheless they were out to defeat Johnson and elect Nixon.

The secret diagnosis of Nixon's GOP rivals was given as follows:

1. Gov. Romney of Michigan has "swallowed himself."

2. Gov. Rockefeller of New York has been using Sen. Charles Percy of Illinois as a front. Percy has no chance.

3. Rockefeller has no chance to be nominated, even if he wanted to run. The Republican party simply will not take Rockefeller.

It was agreed that Nixon is the best debater and best qualified to attack Johnson on the credibility gap.

Biggest danger to Nixon, it was decided, is that in the early primaries, especially New Hampshire, supporters of Ronald Reagan would write his name in just as Henry Cabon Lodge was a write-in candidate four years ago. This could take constructive votes away from Nixon, help Romney.

It was also agreed that a major danger to Nixon is the "he can't win" psychology based on the fact that he has been defeated for President and Governor of California.

One important decision made at the meeting was that "old men" should stand aside -- except for raising funds -- and let young men run the Nixon show. To that end, David Sterling, age 27, was appointed manager of Nixon's campaign in the New Hampshire primary. Sterling, absolutely unknown in national politics, is a Yale Law School student from Hillsboro, N. H.

To show what the "old men" could still do, however, several of them pledged to raise around $25,000 each for Nixon's preliminary primary campaign expenses. Most of these pledges came from Californais, among them Maurice Stans, director of the budget under Eisenhower.

It was decided that Nixon would enter all of the early primaries, beginning with New Hampshire and continuing through Wisconsin, Indiana, Oregon and Nebraska.

The most encouraging development was a poll conducted by James C. Cleveland in the second district of New Hampshire which showed Nixon running well ahead.

Out of 3,680 replies from Republicans, Nixon scored 1,242, Rockefeller, 703, Romney 667, Reagan 515.

Among the 2,091 Democrats who replied to the poll, 1,426 were for President Johnson, 315 for Sen. Bobby Kennedy, 149 for ex-Gov. George Wallace of Alabama, 100 for Vice President Humphrey, 72 for Sen. William Fulbright of Arkansas, and 25 for Sen. Teddy Kennedy of Massachusetts.

The meeting closed on a note of "Let's win big with our boy Dick."

--MORSE VS. LBJ--

Two strong men who disagree vigorously on Vietnam but agree on a lot of other things were at the White House last week as the Railroad Arbitration Board brought in its settlement of the railroad-labor dispute. Present were President Johnson, Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz, and members of the board, headed by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore.

The President first called on several of the board members to express their views. Fred Kappel, retired chairman of the giant American Telephone and Telegraph company, had signed the report but wrote some objections. He repeated these objections.

The President then turned to George Meany, President of the AFL-CIO. "George, what do you think?" he said.

"The unions would like to have had more," said Meany. "Sen. Morse has spoken for me. I thought it was a fine agreement."

"You provided us with a great chairman," said Public Representative Ted Khiel, referring to Morse. "He did a great job."

"I'm not surprised," said LBJ. "Will both sides accept it?"

Ex-Sen. Saltonstall of Massachusetts said that he had put this question to both sides, and the answer was no.

"They won't even accept the time of day," said Morse.

At this point the President made an unusual political statement.

"I want you to know that I don't engage im primaries," he said, "but I'm a Morse man."

Undoubtedly the President had in mind the fact that Sen. Morse is up for reelection and faces possible primary opposition inside the Democratic party by ex-Rep. Bob Duncan, who is strong for the war in Vietnam. Morse is not.

H.L. Hunt Says

WASHINGTON ECONOMIC ADVISERS ARE POOR PROPHETS

The President's Council of Economic Advisers has tremendous influence over the decisions and policies of our federal government. Each January they issue a prediction for the new year, on which many vital economic decisions and policies for that year are based.

For many years the Council has been dominated by and most of the time entirely made up of Keynesian economists, who believe that government not only can but ought to regularly spend beyond its income. That belief certainly seems strange to most of us. But perhaps the best test of the expertise of these economists is the accuracy of their annual predictions. They have proved to be very poor prophets.

In January 1966 Gardner Ackley, successor to Walter Heller as chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, predicted that residential construction "on balance is likely to change but little." As most people are well aware, the bottom dropped out of the housing construction market later in the year. He predicted that residential construction "on improvement in our balance of payments deficit. There has been none. He predicted improvement in the stability of the British pound, but its base has been further weakened.

Finally, he underestimated inflation by 100% and projected a $1.8 billion federal deficit which instead turned out to be $18.8 billion.

With economic prophets like these, we would do better flipping a coin. At least then the predictions would come out right half of the time. Better yet, the President should secure some economic advisers who reject Keynesian nonsense and understand the value of sound money. HLH

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

LABOR GOES TO A PARTY

Johnson's Roving Ambassador Arthur Goldberg, Wins Friend And Influences Critical People (For LBJ) in Pivotal New York

New York: -- The view inside the 42nd floor -- the world's highest ambassadorial residence -- was spectacular. On the walls of this Waldorf Towers suite were miniature etchings gently placed by Mrs. Dorothy Goldberg, a sensitive lady and artist who is also the wife of America's ambassador to the United Nations. There were precious bound volums; intimate photos of the almost forgotten Franklin Delano Roosevelts; and President Johnson's favorite bit of sculpture, a bucking bronco who had thrown his cowboy rider.

Immediately the bronze suggested to a visitor that Lyndon Johnson was a roughrider and that the host, Ambassador Arthur Goldberg, was omnipresent, in his fashion, to prevent Mr. Johnson from ever taking a fall.

It was a small party that evening not too many days ago--for a few close friends, namely, the leaders of Americal labor.

George Meany, proud of once having been a plumber, munched a delicate hors d'oeuvre; Dave Sullivan, proud of leading elevator operators and janitors, talked of his mission to Vietnam; David Dubinsky, proud erstwhile cutter of ladies garments, beamed at the full coming of age of American labor. They were all there, the members of the AFL-CIO Executive Council, quietly making history amid the cold shrimp, fine Scotch and quinche Lorraine.

This was the first time an American ambassador had invited labor's high command in its entirety to such a gathering.

Of course there had to be a toast. Someone rumpled the piano keys and the former labor lawyer from Chicago, proud of once having trundled a junk wagon, spoke quietly, softly, good-humoredly -- and historically.

"For three reasons, I'm glad I have come from the labor movement," Goldberg said with what seemed an almost quality as the men of massive power listened to their former counsel. "To come from labor means to know about foreign affairs. You deal with the world now. And I knew how to negotiate. Some diplomats wondered how in three days I could sit and deal with the most sophisticated of them. They should have been in on some of our negotiations.

"And you get to know people if you are in the labor movement."

And "Arthur" knew people. You could see his ease with the men who once had retained him. No awkwardness. No mawkishness. There was the leader of the sprawling United Steelworkers of America, I.W. Abel, whose cause Goldberg had fought fo so strenously against the large steel corporations. Now "Abe," though at the moment only a few of us knew it, was one of "Arthur's" alternates on the UN mission to the upcoming General Assembly. The President had just appointed "Ave," but the announcement was yet to come.

It was a nice touch and no one doubted that "Abe" would fight the steel companies and the White House next summer just as roughly as though he had not been named. But the appointment won't hurt relationships one bit when, this time in '68, the nation faces a national steel walkout as it now faces a series of rolling strikes.

And then "Arthur," with characteristic smile and gesture, wandered over to the toughest fighter of them all, the machinists' Roy Siemiller.

"Roy, why don't you and I alone go on down to the White House and talk to the President," said the Ambassador, eager to patch things up between his two old friends.

"Roy," who has shut down airlines, railroads and armament plants to wih higher wages for his skilled followers, replied with that Herb Shriner twang:

"Okay, Arthur, if it makes YOU happy."

Siemiller meant it. And the others reflected this affection for their former lawyer. They knew they had not been honored by an official reception high in the Waldorf to talk business. And they made small talk. But President Johnson's personal comfort and political strength are an avocation, not a profession, for "Arthur."

The Ambassador wants nothing more than to return to the Supreme Court eventually, and for the moment to lend his bargaining skill to the President now under so much fire on the global front.

And he will, in his fashion. Many a labor man in this state has swung to Gov. Nelson Rockefeller. Many a liberal has been disaffected by the war. And this is a key make-or-break state. Thus, it will not hurt President Johnson when, at the invitation of Dubinsky and the hatters' Alex Rose, the Ambassador takes time out from the deadly General Assembly hours to speak to a Liberal Party gathering on Sept. 28. The party will renominate Lyndon Johnson. It will neutralize the disaffection.

It will neutralize Nelson Rockefeller, perhaps. It will neutralize Sen. Jacob Javits, who must stand for reelection next year.

If it succeeds it will make history since history is making so much of Lyndon Johnson whom these labor leaders truly helped make.

The view from the 42nd floor was spectaclar, indeed.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Eugene Hale

Miss Joy Ann Craig Says Vows With Ronald E. Hale

DEXTER--Southwest Church of the Nazarene was the setting Sept. 2 for the wedding of Miss Joy Ann Craig and Ronald Eugene Hale, route two, Farmington.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Craig, route two, Dexter. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. William C. Hale, route two, Farmington.

The Rev. Edwin Abla performed the double ring ceremony at 2 p.m.

The church was decorated with a 15 branch candelabra, two potted plams and a kneeling bench.

Mrs. Edwin Abla, organist, accompained soloist Gene Hinze, who sang "Through the Years," "Whether Thou Goest" and "The Wedding Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the former Miss Craig wore a summer white peau de soie gown. The bodice featured a rounded neckline and sleeves that ended above her wrists. Satin cording trimmed the sleeves and neck. A pleat on each side of the front skirt formed a semi-fullness. A train was attached with a bow above the back waistline.

The bride wore a tiara securing a three tiered fingertip veil. She carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations.

Miss Sharon Peacher of Columbia, the bride's cousin, was maid of honor. Another cousin, Miss Shirley Dampf of Florissant, was bridesmaid. Marsha Abla of Dexter was flower girl. Candlelighters were Phyllis Peacher of Columbia, the bride's cousin, and Loretta Craig of Dexter, the bride's sister.

The maid of honor and bridesmaid wore pastel blue brocade gowns. The floor-length skirts were bell shaped. The bodices were fashioned with rounded necklines and short sleeves. The candlelighters wore street length gowns. Attendants carried bouquets of white tipped in blue carnations. Candlelighters wore corsages of blue tipped white carnations.

Eugene Dement of Farmington was best man. Darrell Hale of Farmington, the groom's brother, was groomsman. Ringbearer was Danny Craig, the bride's brother.

The bride's mother wore a dark blue fitted shantung dress, black patent accerories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Mrs. Hale wore a dark blue jersey knit sheath fashioned with short sleeves. She wore black accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

The reception was held in the Brown fellowship center of the church. The bride's table was covered with a white cloth and overlaid with lace. A three tiered cake decorated with white and blue bells and birds appointed the table. The room was decorated with blue and white crepe paper and wedding bells.

Serving at the reception were Mrs. Lynda Bowman. Miss Jacque Harper and Miss Jo Ann Dowdy, all of Dexter.

The couple traveled through Arkansas on their wedding trip. The new Mrs. Hale wore a blue and red plaid two-piece suit and red accessories.

They are now at home on route eight, Columbia. Mrs. Hale attended the University of Missouri and is employed in the state probation and parole office in Columbia. Hale is a senior at the university.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Peacher, Mrs. Josie Craig, all of Columbia; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Dampf, Florissant; David Hildreth, Carthage; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tiberghien, Jefferson City; Mr. and Mrs. Dines Hale, Glen Carbon, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. William Graham, Mrs. A. J. Gordon, all of Framington.

Couple Married 40 Years

ORAN - Mr. and Mrs. James Maddox celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary at an open house in their home on Sunday from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Maddox was born and reared in Oran while Mrs. Maddox, the former Miss Marie Hibner, was reared at Chaffee. They were married by her grandfather, the late Rev. A. H. Broens at East Alton, Ill., Sept. 17, 1927. Their witnesses were her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Paul B. Cleland.

They have three children: a daughter, Mrs. N. A. Hass of San Bernadino, Calif., two sons, James "Buddy" Maddox of Belleville, Ill. and Edward Maddox of Waterloo, Ill. They have six grandchildren.

Maddox is a retired employee of American Telephone and Telegraph Company of St. Louis. They are both members of Trinity Methodist church and are active in its activities. He is a church lay leader, a member of Morley Masonic Lodge no. 184 and both are members of Morley Order of Eastern Star no. 342 and Calvary Shrine no. 8 of Cape Girardeau.

Guests were served cake and punch from the serving table centered with a sweetheart cake with the names "James" and "Marie" on each. Among gifts received were several pieces of ruby red glassware.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Louis Matthews and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Smith, Morley; Lawrence Westcoat, Kewanee; Mr. and Mrs. James Curd, Advance; Mrs. W. H. Cunningham, Mrs. Elsie Adams, Mrs. Esther Ryans, Charles Cunningham and Tom Ancell, Chaffee; Mr. and Mrs. Chester Frobase, Mrs. Vera Miller and Mrs. Harry Swinger, Benton.

Mrs. Paul B. Cleland and son Jim and Robert Bramdstadt of Mascoutah, Ill. surprised her sister and husband with a visit before noon and spent the day.

Barbara Gale McIlroy Bride of Jerry Kay Keene

EAST PRAIRIE--Miss Barbara Gale McIlroy and Jerry Kay Keene were married Sept. 2 in the Christian church.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Sue McIlroy, Ruth street, and the late P. C. McIlroy. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Keene, Sr., Johnston City, Ill.

The Rev. Don Woodstock officiated at the ceremony. Baskets of roses and gladioli on white pedestals decorated the church.

Organist Marilyn Glenn provided the nuptial music.

The former Miss McIlroy wore a fitted sheath of white satin under white lace cage that featured long sleeves. A wedding band headpiece held a bouffant veil of bridal illusion. She carried a white orchid atop a white Bible.

Miss Brenda McTigue of East Prairie, the bride's niece, was maid of honor. She wore a yellow fitted sheath with a cage of yellow chiffon styled identically to the bride's dress. She wore a nosetip veil attached to a cornet.

Bobby McTigue, the bride's nephew, was best man. Monty McTigue, another nephew, was usher.

Debbie Pemberton, the bride's niece, was in charge of the guest book.

A reception was held at the bride's mother's home. The bride's table was centered with glowing tapers in silver holders and a wedding cake topped with a miniature bridal couple. Serving at the reception were Mrs. Carolyn Hooten, the bride's sister, and Mrs. Darceen Malone.

The bride's mother wore a two piece blue and white dress and a corsage of white carnations.

The couple spent the weekend in Cape Girardeau. For travel, the new Mrs. Keene wore a three piece blue and white knie suit.

The couple is living on Star Route, East Prairie. Mrs. Keene is a 1966 graduate of East Prairie high school. She is employed with Mississippi County Savings and Loan Association.

Keene is a 1964 graduate of East Prairie high school and is employed by McTigue and Parker Construction Company.

Carlton Loses But Sets Bird Record

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Three day wait and a driving rainstorm had little dampening effect on some 1,000 fans who turned out early today to greet the National League pennant winning St. Louis Cardinals.

The Cards wrapped up the title Monday in Philadelphia and the players celebrated immediately after the game and the fans back home had to wait to show their approval.

The crowd overflowed the west concourse of the terminal chanting, "We want Cha Cha," until slugging first baseman Orlando Cepeda appeared. A group of six policemen had to convoy Cepeda through the crowd while fans grabbed at him, hugged him and slapped him on the back.

Cardinal Manager Red Schendienst was the first man off the plane and he held an impromptu news conference with reporters in the rain.

The "Red Head" shrugged off all questions about the American League race. He said he didn't care who won as long as somebody wins without a playoff.

Cepeda was unconcerned about a playoff. As he pushed his way through the crowd he said, "I don't think any team can beat us. The rest wouldn't hurt us."

A 3-1 loss Wednesday night to the Phillies may have blunted some of the Cardinals enthusiasm. Steve Carlton struck out 16, but walked three and allowed eight hits in suffering his ninth defeat. He has won 14.

The Phillies Cookie Rojas had a hand in all of the Phillie scoring. The first run came in the third on singles by Bobby Wine, Rojas and Tony Taylor. In the fourth, Gene Oliver doubled and Rojas singled again, driving in what proved to be the winning run. Rojas doubled in the seventh, went to third on a wild pitch and scored on a sacrifice fly.

Ed Spiezo's fourth inning homer was the only effective Cardinal offense as the Phillies Chris Short allowed only three other hits, struck out nine and walked only one.

St. Louis plays Atlanta in Busch Memorial Stadium. Ray Washburn will be on the mound for the Cards and Ron Reed for the Braves.

Rain...Rain...Go Away...Please!

Area prep grid football teams take to the field again tomorrow night and are faced with another rain slick turf. Drenching rain showers covered the area Wednesday with amounts from one inch to four in some places.

Eight games are featured on tonight's tab with conference clashes in six meetings. Conference teams in both the north and south divisions get into action.

All teams, with the exception of Cape Girardeau and Malden, will face conference foes. Central takes on its second out-of-state foe in two weeks, the Mayfield, Ky., Cardinals are the Tigers prey. Malden deets Gideon.

Caruthersville in the southern division and Poplar Bluff in the norther opened up defense of their conference titles last week with rousing victories. The Tigers bumped off their arch-rival Hayti, who held half of last season's southern title and the Mules kicked Kennett into last place in the northern standings.

This week's top southern conference contest shapes up at Dexter, where the divisions top two teams meet in a battle for sole possession. Caruthersville opened its season last week with a 20-0 romp over Hayti and Dexter posted a conference win with a 14-12 triumph at Portageville.

Both Caruthersville and Dexter were in the shadows of Malden in the pre-season polls. The Wave had its trouble at Jackson last week and have fallen into fourth place in conference standings with no record against conference foes but 1-1 overall.

The Waves go into Friday night's game at home against Gideon without the services of all-conference signal caller Scott Norrid, who will return to action against Caruthersville. He is suffering from bruises above the kidneys sustained in last Friday's game at Jackson.

In the only other Southern division contest, Chaffee will be at home entertaining Portageville.

Sikeston and Poplar Bluff got the jump on northern division foes last week with the Mules trimming Kennet, 27 to 6, and the Bulldogs nudging Perryville's Pirates, 20 to 14.

The northern conference game of the week will find Sikeston's 2-0 Bulldogs clashing with arch-rival Charleston 2-0 on the Blue Jays home field.

Coach Herbert Marshall's Jays have yet to be scored upon this season in its first two outings and have scored 69 points and the aerial antics of Charlie Babb seem to be the Jays strong point.

The Mules will seek their 17th straight win at Perryville tomorrow night.

Cape Central will be featured in the top game outside conference action as the Tigers meet Kentucky's seventh ranked team.

East Prairie will seek its first season victory as it plays host to Hayti in a southern conference meeting.

The Schedule:

Poplar Bluff at Perryville*
Sikeston at Charleston*
Jackson at Kennett*
Cape Central at Mayfield, Ky.
Hayti at East Prairie*
Caruthersville at Dexter*
Portageville at Chaffee*
Gideon at Malden

Goose Hunting Regulation

JEFFERSON CITY - An important feature for the goose hunter in Missouri is that geese may not be transported except as the personal baggage of the hunter who killed them. This is a new regulation.

Therefore, even though the hunter who killed the geese may legally give them to a friend--up to the friend's possession limit, of course---the friend may not take them home. The hunter who killed the geese is the only person authorized to transport them. And he may not send them by mail, or express, or by any other method. He must take them himself.

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Bobby Fisher, the American chess champion from New York, said today he will play in the interzonal tournament for the world championship which begins Oct. 16 in Tunis.

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP) — Del Insko, harness racing driver from South Beloit, Ill., scored with Constant Byrd in the ninth race at Roosevelt Raceway Tuesday night for his 200th victory of the season.

CHICAGO (AP) — Craig Perret, a 16-year-old apprentice jockey from New Orleans, nrode five winners at the Hawthorne race track Wednesday.

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yacht Club received Wednesday a French challenge for a series of races in 1970 for the America's Cup.

SEMO Area Boasts Six Undefeated Teams

Only six teams remain undefeated in this week's Southeast Missouri High School standings, four in the northern conference and two in the southern. Undefeated football teams take their unblemished records into tomorrow night's third week of action.

Poplar Bluff and Sikeston are 1-0 in conference play while the other two northern division undefeated teams have yet to play a conference game.

The defending northern champs, Poplar Bluff, has racked up 73 points in its two early season victories while yielding six markers. Sikeston has tallied 48 points while giving up 14.

Charleston, one of two unscored upon teams in Southeast Missouri is second in total scoring with 69 points. Caruthersville is the other unscored upon team in the district, having played one game and tallying 20 points. Charleston has conquered two challengers so far this season.

Cape Girardeau Central has allowed their opponents only seven points and holds a 2-0 mark.

Dexter is leading the southern conference with a 2-0 overall won-loss record and a 1-0 slate in conference action.

Kennett, Jackson and East Prairie are the only conference teams yet to win a game. All three are 0-2 with Kennett and East Prairie suffering one loss each in conference play.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Boxing promoter George Parnassus said Tuesday night that Ernie Terrell will fight Manuel Ramos here Oct. 14 as part of the card on which Vicente Saldivar will defend his world featherweight title against Howard Winstone.

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Lions reactivated end Gail Cogdill, leading pass receiver in Lions' history, and said Wednesday he would be available for Sunday's National Football League game with the Cleveland Browns.

The 1968 Ford offers unexcelled luxury in its field with the LTD two-door hardtop (above). The strikingly different XL GT fastback (below) creates a sporty new dimension for Ford. Both models feature a full-width, air-scoop-type grille with headlights concealed behind retractable doors when not in use.

1968 FORD

The 1968 Ford, substantially altered in appearance, offers something for every car buyer. The lineup includes three more models than in 1967, a host of new mechanical and safety features, and two new engine options.

With the 1968 Ford, "we feel we are better equipped than ever to go after a substantial share of both low and medium price markets," said M. S. (Matt) McLaughlin, Ford Motor Company vice president and Ford Division general manager.

"Our LTD and XL series match the medium-price cars in luxury and comfort, while our Galaxie 500 and Custom 500 models continue to offer the low-price car buyer the type of transportation he seeks."

The addition of a Galaxie 500 two-door hardtop with a formal roof line and two Custom 500 Ranch Wagons brings the total of 1968 Ford models to 21. One of the wagons is a six-passenger model; the other, a 10-passenger with dual facing rear seats.

New sheet metal below the window line gives the new Ford a longer, lower profile. Three separate roof treatments distinguish the hardtop models, which include a new fastback version of the XL and Galaxie 500. The new die-cast grille in the LTD, XL and Country Squire models has horizontal headlights with retractable doors.

Ford Motor Company's Improved Combustion System is standard on all models equipped with the Cruise-O-Matic transmission. Ford's Thermactor Emission Control System is standard on all models equipped with a manual transmission. Both systems are designed to reduce the emission of hydrocarbons and carbon monixide in the engine exhaust.

A 302-cubic-inch V-8 engine replaces the 289 as the basic V-8 engine in the Ford line. The high performance powerplant is a hydraulic valve version of Ford's famous 427-cubic-inch engine, rated at 390 horsepower, which is available only with a Cruise-O-Matic transmission.

Safety features on all 1968 Fords include a new energy-absorbing steering column that compresses under heavy impacts; a redesigned instrument panel offering improved injury protection; a dual, hydraulic brake system, and squeeze-type inside door handles.

A number of new options are available for Ford buyers in 1968, including an AM-FM Stereo Radio that produces true stereophonic sound through two front-door-mounted speakers. An automatic loadleveler and a rear-window defogger have appeal for the driver who seeks maximum comfort and convenience.

Available on all Ford models are Ford's new disc-rear drum, power-assisted brakes which provide improved cooling characteristics and better braking action.

All Ford models will be on display in dealer showrooms September 22.

STYLING

A new grille, new sheet metal below the window line and redesigned roof areas on all hardtop models give the 1968 Ford an impressive new look for 1968.

The forward-thrusting front fenders have sculptured windsplits along the sides that follow the curved contour of the body profile. A slight dip in the door area provides overall styling continuity.

Each series has ornamentation and distinctive identifcation features. Custom 500 models have a thin spear molding running the full length of the body side. The Galaxie 500 has a bright rocker panel molding joining the bright frames around the wheel openings.

XL and LTD models have wide rocker panel moldings with fender and quarter panel extensions joined by wheel lip moldings. Vinyl tape stripes above the rocker panel distinguish the XL models. LTD models have contrasting paint pinstripes extending the full-length of the body.

Imparting a new look to the hardtops are the rooflines. The fastback has more sweep to its rear window and new ridges at the window's sides for a sporty look. Both the formal two-door and the four-door hardtop models have wider rear roof pillars and less slant to the rear window. Both versions offer a vinyl roof option.

At the front, the new grille sweeps forward at the sides to join the thrusting fenders and create a scoop effect. A deep-sectioned, one-piece bumper enhances the look of luxury. XL, LTD and Country Squiare models featured a special die-cast grille. Retractable headlamp doors extend the grille pattern to the full width of the car. A vacuum motor activiated by the light switch opens the doors automatically.

Interiors of all Ford models have been restyled. The XL has new, wider foam-padded bucket seats with a standard center console. LTD models have a new, luxury Brogham, all-cloth trim option. Wall-to-wall nylon carpeting is standard on LTD models. Other models have nylon-rayon carpeting.

A deeply recessed instrument panel puts all controls and instrumentation directly in front of the driver. The entire panel is covered with force-distributing padding devoid of sharp edges. The instrument panel padding, windshield wiper arms and blades, and many other items in the driver's field of vision have low gloss surfaces.

POWER TEAMS

Two new V-8 engines join the line-up of powerplants available in the 1968 Ford-a 302-cubic-inch engine that is standard in the LTD and Squire models, and a high performance, hydraulic valve lifter 427-cubic-inch engine.

Optional on other Ford models, the 302 in the newest branch on the 289 family tree. Although the bore of the cylinders remains the same, the increased displacement results from longer cylinders which accommodate an increased stroke.

Equipped with a two-barrel carburetor, the 302 produces 210 horsepower at 4,600 rpm. The four-barrel version produces 230 horsepower at 4,800 rpm. The 427 engine offered in 1968 differs from earlier versions in that it has hydraulic rather than mechanical valve lifters for quieter operation and reduced maintenance requirements.

The 240-cubic-inch engine remains standard in all six-cylinder Fords except the LTD and Squire models. Available again in 1968 are two- and four-barrel versions of the 390-cubic-inch V-8 and a four-barrel 428-cubic-inch V-8.

The fully synchronized, three-speed manual transmission is standard on all models. The popular Select Shift Cruise-O-Matic transmission is available as an option on all models. A four-speed manual transmission is available with the four-barrel 390 and 428 engines.

SAFETY FEATURES

All 1968 Fords are equipped with safety features ranging from a redesignes steering wheel and column to squeeze-type interior door handles.

The two-spoke wheel and fully padded hub deform under impact conditions while the force builds up to overcome the initial inertial load of the new collapsible column. The lower end of the column has an outer bellows-like section of metal covered with a specially treated plastic. The shifting and steering shafts consist of two sections each, one slightly smaller in diameter. The two sections are held together by a plastic material and telescope one into the other. In impact situations, the outer bellows and telescoping shafts permit the columns to compress as much as eight inches.

The interiors of all Ford Division products have been redesigned for 1968. A squeeze-type door handle is recessed within the arm rest for added protection against accidental opening and injury through side impacts.

Coat hooks are of a new, broader, softer construction. All exposed knobs are more rounded and window controls are flatter. Even ash tray placement has been safety designed.

The instrument panel area on all models has been designed for improved impact protection. Controls and instruments are safety designed. The panel itself is designed to absorb impact energy. Force-distributing foam on the top and on the top facing edge is covered with low-gloss vinyl to minimize reflection.

Retained from the safety features introduced in 1967 are such items as the dual hydraulic brake system, emergency flashers, lane changing signal, padded windshield pillars and two-speed windshield wipers and windshield washers. Following is a complete list of safety features on all 1968 Ford Division products:

1968 FORD MOTOR COMPANY LIFEGUARD DESIGN SAFETY FEATURES

OTHER FEATURES

Ford's optional AM-FM stereo radio produces true stereophonic sound through two front-door mounted speakers. The fully transistorized radio has five pushbuttons that may be pre-set for a selection of 10 stations -- five AM and five FM. A stereophonic tape system is available with pushbutton AM radio.

New for 1968 is the automatic load leveler system that maintains a level car attitude regardless of load. As the load is increased the system automatically increases air pressure in heavy duty rubber air cylinders fitted inside the rear coil springs.

Ford's optional rear window defogger is designed to remove annoying condensation by directing a stream of air across the inside surface of the glass.

An optional tilt steering allows the driver to move the wheel to any of seven driving positions forward on the turn signal lever. Available again in 1968 are such Ford features as the two-way tailgate for station wagons, the optional fingertip speed control system and six-way power seats.

The city slicker, arrested on a charge of speeding, vehemently denied his guilt, while the rural justice of the peace absently thumbed through a large volume on his desk.

"Guilty!" the official suddenly interrupted, slamming the book closed. "An $18.90 fine!"

While the accused was paying his fine he got a good look at the book the judge had been consulting. It was a mail-order catalog!

"So that's the way you decide your fines!" he angrily exclaimed. "From a mail-order catalog!"

"Yep," confirmed the court clerk, "and you're mighty lucky he had it open at wheelbarrows. Yesterday he was looking at automobiles!"

Annual Clash Saturday; Ole Miss At Memphis

MEMPHIS -- Memphis State and Ole Miss uncork the 1967 football season Saturday night at Memorial Stadium. A sellout crowd of 50,160 -- the fifth straight capacity audience to witness this match -- will gather for the 7:30 p.m. kickoff.

Both clubs appear primed and ready for the 22nd meeting of this series. The Tigers and Rebels came off the 1966 season with splendid records and both have a arge number of returning starters.

Memphis State finished 7-2 a year ago and one of its losses was to the Rebs, 13-0. Ole Miss was 8-2 over the regular season.

Both teams are so loaded with veterans that only a handful of rookied have been able to crack the lineups. Each will start nine seniors on its offensive unit.

The quarterbacks Terry Padgett of Memphis State and Bruce Newell of Ole Miss -- are both seniors and tested veterans. Newell spurred the Rebs to a brilliant finish of six straight victories in '66.

Padgett, a former fullback and linebacker, had his baptism at quarterback in this game a year ago. He became an excellent trigerman and Tiger fans are looking for the stocky 200-pounder to have a big year in 1967.

Rookies have manager to crack the defensive units of both clubs-- Ole Miss has three sophomores and Memphis State one -- but each is expected to have another rugged defense. The Rebs have gone to a six-man line that contains such able veterans as end Jerry Richardson, tackle Jim Uebanek and guard Dan Sartin.

With the exception of left end and middle guard the Memphis State defense returns intact and will be led by tackle Francis Winkler, end Alex Dees, linebacker Joe Rushing and monster Bill McRight.

The Tiger's offensive backfield returns intact. With Padgett are tailback Tom Wallace, wingback Dale Brady and fullback Herb Covington. Fullback Bobby Wade and tailback Steve Hindman carry the hopes of the Ole Miss ground game.

MRS ROBERT BUCHANAN of Dexter selects a recipe from a cookbook.

Mrs. Robert Buchanan Plans To Become Commercial Artist

Editor's Nots: This is the 55th in a series of articles about the home life of Sikeston area families.

By RUTH DILLENDER

DEXTER-- Mrs. Pat Buchanan, 812 West Oak, plans to be a commercial artist when she completes a correspondence course in art. She is studying all phases of art.

Mrs. Buchanan and her husband, Robert, have two children, a son, Chris, eight; a third grade student at Central elementary school, and a daughter, Cheri, seven, a second grade student at Central.

Buchanan is a truck driver for Will Smith. The couple has lived in Dexter six years.

Mrs. Buchanan sews for herself and her daughter. She likes to cook, a talent she says she learned through experience and from her husband.

The family attends Southwest Church of the Nazarene. Mrs. Buchanan is secretary of the Nazarene Young People's Society, publicity chairman of the Missionary Society, social chairman of the Young Adults' Faithful Followers Sunday School class 6 and a member of the prayer and fasting league of the church. Mr. and Mrs. Buchanan fish and hunt together. A treasure in the home is a cedar chest that Buchanan gave to his wife.

Recipes that Mrs. Buchanan suggests are:

STRAWBERRY CAKE

Mix:
1/3 cup Wesson oil
1 box white cake mix
1 box strawberry Jello
4 eggs, well beaten
1/2 cup cold water
3/4 cup crushed strawberries

Bake according to directions on cake box.

Icing:
Box confectioner's sugar
1/4 cup margarine, melted
1/2 cup crushed strawberries

TUNA CASSEROLE

1 1/3 cups Minute Rice
1 1/3 cup water
1 can cream of mushroom soup
1 small can peas
1 can tuna
About 2 tablespoons diced onions
Salt and pepper to taste

Place onions in soup with one can of water in sauce pan and heat. Butter casserole dish and put about half of rice to cover bottom. Then half of tuna, half of peas, and half of soup in layers. Repeats and cover top with strips of cheese. Bake 25 minutes at 375 degrees.

YEAST BREAD

6 cups sifted all-purpose flour
3 tablespoons sugar
2 teaspoons salt
1/3 cup shortening
1 cup scalded milk
1 1/4 cups lukewarm water
1 package active dry yeast

Variation: Whole wheat bread--substitute 1 1/2 cups granular whole wheat cereal for same amount of flour and molasses and let stand for five minutes before adding to milk and yeast mixture.

Scald milk; add shortening, salt and sugar. Stir Well. Cool to lukewarm.

Place water in three-quart bowl and sprinkle yeast on water. Stir until dissolved.

Add milk to water. Add half the flour and blend. Add remainder of flour to make a soft dough.

Begin to knead dough in the bowl; then turn onto a well floured board and knead until dough is elastic.

Wash, dry and grease bowl. Place dough in bowl and covered with a clean damp cloth. Place in a warm place. Allow dough to rise until it has doubled its bulk, about 1 1/2 hours.

When dough will hold the impression of a finger, remove from bowl and divide into two equal pieces. To shape loaves, flatten each piece of dough by slapping and pressing with hands. Stretch dough to an 18 by 10 inch rectangle.

Fold one side to center, pressing out air pockets. Fold second side to overlap. Then fold over both ends of dough about one third of length and overlap at center. Press edges together.

Place each shaped loaf in 5 by 9-inch greased bread pan, seam side down.

Cover with a clean damp towel and allow to rise until double in bulk and the center is above the pan, about 1 1/2 hours.

Bake at 400 degrees for 50 minutes. Remove from pans and place on a rack to cool.

PRUNE CAKE

2 1/4 cups sifted flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon allspice
1/2 cup butter
2 eggs, well beaten
1 cup sour milk
1 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon cloves
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 1/2 cups sugar
1 cup cooked prunes, pureed

Sift flour; measure. Sift again with baking soda and spices. Cream butter and gradually add sugar, beating until creamy.

Blend in eggs and then prunes. Mix well. Add flour alternately with milk, adding a small amount at a time and beating until smooth after each addition. Pour into greased 10-inch square pan and bake at 350 degrees 40 to 45 minutes.

About Our Schools

By Lynn Twitty

By Lynn Twitty

While the teaching of handwriting is probably not as important, in this era of typewriters, tape recorders and other devices which to a large extent have replaced handwritten messages, it is still a skill of importance and we attempt to teach it as well as we can.

It has been our observation that most of the youngsters learn to write clearly, legibly, even attractively in the first, second, third and fourth grades. But something seems to happen as they progress in school and it seems that in the upper grades they don't write even as well as they do in the lower grades. There may be reasons for this, the necessity of taking quick notes in class, writing more with the idea of the content of the message, rather than its form. Anyway, most of the adults whom I know, including myself, don't write as legibly as do the elementary school youngsters.

One of the aids which we use to teach writing, is a standardized writing paper which is provided at school for use in writing class. We also encourage that parents provide the same paper for all of their school work and for home use as well. Each of our elementary school P.T.A.'s, has adopted the sale of this standardized paper as a project. It is available at comparatively low cost, in fact, no more expensive than other writing paper or pads.

A panel of educational advisors, appointed by the President, to study education above the public school level has recommended the creation of an education opportunity bank to permit students to finance their college education. According to the recommendation they could borrow the full cost against a pledge to repay the loan out of their earnings over a period from 30 to 40 years. The plan would establish the opportunity bank as an agency of the federal government. The bank would borrow money at going governmental rates and in turn would lend it to administrating the plan. It is estimated that the bank would become self-sustaining if it charged students one per cent of gross income over 30 years for every $3,000 borrowed, example: a student borrows $2,000 a year for four years for a total of $8,000. If he earns $10,000 in a subsequent year, he would repay $266 along with his income tax bill for that year.

If this recommendation becomes proposed legislation, it will likely encounter much opposition especially from that vocal segment of our Congress who believe in education only those who come from families, affluent enough to pay their own way.

Unfortunately as college costs go up, (and if you have a son or daughter in college, you believe it) fewer and fewer of our capable, but poor youngsters will have the opportunity for an education above the high school. This is a loss for the individual and for the nation.

There are in fact, those who propose educating the capable student at full public expense on the very reasonable assumption that they will not only add to the strength of our country, but will also pay much more than the cost of their education in the form of taxes on their increased incomes.

An experience that indicates that public money spent for education is a good investment, was established under the GI Bill following World War II. Records indicate that the money allocated to these veterans for college education has been much more than repaid in the form of income taxes from those who receive the benefits.

Our observation is that a large majority of our young people are well-behaved and law-abiding. Unfortunately it is a fact that the number who misbehave, who get into trouble, who break the law, who have no regard for the property of others, is increasing. This is a matter of intense concern for those of us involved in schools and education. We try to teach the individual responsibility, regard for others, respect for the law, the difference between right and wrong, etc., as well as we can in school. We give it more attention than we did when the problem was not so pressing. However, we can not, in the short time we have a child in school, take over the responsibility of the parent. There is no substitute for the proper concern for right and wrong, and for decent conduct as taught in the home. Or at least as it should be.

Schools are organized to teach certain things, to instill knowledge, to develop skills which can not be best done in the home, and which in most cases would be impossible. We can give some attention to conduct, but this area must be the total responsibility of parents.

Misconduct, disregard for authority, violation of reasonable rules, disrupt the educational process. If we are to accomplish our educational goals, we cannot tolerate misbehavior, especially when repeated violations occur. In fact, we do not intend to.

A study conducted at the University of Connecticut in physical education indicates that students taking isometric exercise achieve physical fitness faster than those involved in a vigorous athletic program.

Isometrics is the exercise system that puts human muscles in a short but intense effort against immovable objects such as bars, walls, opposing muscles, etc.

The advantage of isometrics is that little equipment, if any is required and the exercises can be done in the privacy of the home as well as the gymnasium.

In the study conducted, the isometric group achieved three times the improvement of the athletic group in agility, power, strength and endurance but was matched in speed by the control group.

Although we do not use isometrics, generally in the physical education program here, the system has been used for several years to condition members of the athletic teams. We may also incorporate isometrics, on a limited basis, in the general physical education program.

Woman Gets Suspended Sentence for Leaving - Baby in Incinerator

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (AP)— Mrs. Mildred Helm, 41, of Weatherby, Mo., has been given a 90-day suspended jail sentence on a charge of endangering the life and health of her child, who was found severely burned in an incinerator at Fort Collins July 5.

The sentence was imposed and suspended by Judge William F. Smoke of Larimer Court. Mrs. Helm changed her plea from innocent to guilty. The suspension was granted on condition she stay out of trouble for a year.

Sheriff's officers said the woman told them she placed the baby in the incinerator after giving birth unattended because she thought it was dead.

Poplar Bluff Votes Curfew

POPLAR BLUFF - The City Council has established a teenage curfew from midnight to 5 a.m.

The huge siren atop city hall, which has been blown routinely only at 10 p.m. since about 1937, will now be blown at noon each day. The traditional kid whistles familiar to all Poplar Bluffians orginally was ordered blown as a curfew, but the antiquated curfew has not been enforced for many years.

In the early years the siren was blown at 10 p.m. and also at noon, but the noon signal soon was dropped.

During discussion on the new curfew, an alderman suggested blowing the siren at 11:30 p.m. "to give the kids a 30-minute warning." But the council finally decided that the loud warning device that late at night would disturb the sleep of citizens as well as guests of downtown hotels.

So Second Ward Alderman Ezra Cox suggested blowing the whistle at noon, "like they used to do when I was a kid," and the council thought it was a good idea. No one seems to know why the siren must be blown regularly each day.

Men will make all sorts of allowances for a pretty woman, and women for an unmarried man. Mignon McLaughlin

My husband and several other men were traveling on a road covered with deep new - fallen snow. They finally came to a halt on a long, steep hill and began to struggle with their tire chains.

Near the top of the grade, another vehicle had also bogged down. The driver, a woman, was rolling up huge snowballs. "Probably making a snowman," one man observed critically, "while waiting for some gentleman to come to her rescue."

However, before they got their own wheels in motion again, the woman opened the trunk of her car, hoisted in the heavy balls of snow and, with a minimum of spinning, drove on over the crest of the hill. The added weight gave her just the traction she needed! Beatrice Maki

Daniel A. Webb Plant Managership

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- Atlas Plastics Company announces the promotion of Daniel A. Webb from sales representative in the Cape Girardeau plant to general manager of its plant at Salton City, Calif., and sales manager for the western states.

Webb has been with Atlas Plastics two years. He and his wife, Judith, and their four-year-old son, Michael, live at 2314 Kingsway Drive. Webb drove to California to take over operations of the plant. He will return to Cape Girardeau about Oct. 10 to complete arrangements for moving his family.

Webb is the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Webb of East Prairie and graduated from East Prairie high school in 1959. He received his bachelor of science degree from Southeast Missouri State College in Cape Girardeau in 1963.

C of C to Entertain Two Governors

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Gov. Warren E. Hearnes of Missouri will welcome and introduce Gov. Philip H. Hoff of Vermont at the annual meeting of the Missouri State Chamber of Commerce in St. Louis Oct. 6.

Hoff, first Democratic governor of Vermont in 109 years, is chairman of the New England Governors' Conference. He will make the luncheon address before the Missouri chamber.

Bill Capeheart

Capeheart Takes Managership

Bill Capehart has been named a product merchandising manager for A & W Root Beer Co. He will serve A & W drive-in restaurants in the company's central merchandising division, which covers 13 states.

Prior to joining A & W, Capehart was a sales representative for Sealtest Dairy, a division of the National Dairy Corp. Before that, he was associated with Kraft Foods, the Sealtest Co., and the Kroger grocery chain, all in the St. Louis area.

A native of St. Louis, Capehart attended Roosevelt High School there. After serving with the army airborne, he enrolled at Washington University in St. Louis, where he was graduated in 1960 with a bachelor of science degree in business administration.

He and his wife, Joyce, and their three children: Kurt, 14; Linda, 11; and Ellen, 4, live at 106 Dudley St.

Commission Urged For Sizing up Viet Government Merits

WASHINGTON (AP) — blue-ribbon U.S. commission should be set up to help determine whether the performance of the newly elected South Vietnamese government merits continuation of the American military effort there, Sen. Jacob K. Javits said today.

The future of the U.S. commitment in Vietnam, the New York Republican said, will be determined in large part by the ability of the new government to gain popular support, institute reforms and take over many activities now performed by Americans.

Javits said the commission's reports could bridge "the alleged credibility gap which contributes so much to the divisiveness, bitterness and confusions surrounding the Vietnam issue."

His proposal was in the form of a joint resolution calling for creation of a 21-member commission.

The President would name 11 members and designate the chairman. The vice president would name five senators and the House speaker, five representatives.

PTA Meets At Bell City

BELL CITY -- The Parent-Teachers Association had its first regular meeting of the school year Tuesday night.

Mrs. John B. Spencer Jr., president, presided.

Supt. Forrest Jackson introduced John E. Richards, elementary pricipal, and Gordor Atchison, high school principal. The principals introduced the teachers.

Larry Strobel spoke on the Stoddard county health program.

Other officers are Mrs. Larry Strobel, vice president; Mrs. Paul H. Barks, secretary, and Cleatus Lemmons, treasurer.

A reception for new teachers followed the meeting, with Mrs. Ferel Austin, Mrs. John F. Johnson and Mrs. Herman Vetter in charge.

The refreshment table was decorated in fall colors, with an orange floral centerpiece. Orange - colored punch and cake were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Worth are parents of a son born Sept. 15 at Missouri Delta Community hospital in Sikeston. The infant weighed eight pounds and three ounces. Mrs. Worth is the fromer Sue Phillips, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Phillips. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Worth.

Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Hesselrode and children, Terry, Lance, Mark and Tonya, spent the weekend in the South. They also visited their son, Jerry, a student at Oklahoma Christian College, Oklahoma City, and her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Moxley, who have returned home from Thailand.

Mr. and Mrs. Winford Green and family of Chicago, Ill., were guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Green. Their son, Bob, spent a 10-day leave from the army with his grandparents before leaving for a year's tour of duty in Turkey.

Maurice Klemmee, Bessie, Okla., returned home Saturday after visiting relatives. He is a former resident of Bell City, leaving here about 50 years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Limbaugh, Mrs. Ethel Limbaugh and Shelby Long attended the funeral of Webster Limbaugh of St. Louis Sunday at Lutesville. Mrs. Ethel Limbaugh visited her uncle and aunt, Dr. and Mrs. D. L. L. Seabaugh of Jackson, who celebrated their 62nd wedding anniversary.

The high school band played at the Stoddard county fall meeting of the teachers association at Dexter Friday. Kenneth Riley is band director.

David Dalton, who has been stationed at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind., left Wednesday for Washington, D. C., where he will be in the administration department at Walter Reed hospital. He spent five days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Blair Dalton.

Benjamin Richmond of Delta, formerly of Bell City and Advance, was honored with a surprise birthday party Sept. 10 at the home of his foster daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Roberts of Delta, with whom he lives. Richmond is 90 years old.

Mrs. Roberts is the former Lillie Hefner.

The home was decorated with fresh flowers and the serving table was lace-covered, with a birthday cake and floral arrangement forming the centerpiece.

Coffee and punch were served from silver and crystal and cake from china.

Mrs. Roberts was assisted by her daughters, Mrs. Janis Ann Devors of Delta and Glenda Faye Copman of Cape Girardeau. Sixty-nine persons attended.

Richmond was married to the former Clara Stockdale, who died several years ago. They had three children, Mrs. Oma Goodin, Milwaukee, Wis.; Floyd Richmond, Homewood, Ill., and Mrs. R. M. Painton, Painton. All children attended the party.

Richmond listens to all St. Louis Cardinal baseball games on the radio and is able to get around with the use of a cane.

QUICK QUIZ

Q—What city lies partly in Europe and partly in Asia?
A—Istanbul, Turkey.

Q—What is Chinese grass cloth made from?
A—A vegetable fiber, ramie, which is grown chiefly in China and Japan. One of the toughest of vegetable fibers, it is well-adapted to many industrial uses, can be mixed with silk or wool in woven goods or can be made to resemble a low-grade linen.

Q—Is there really a town called "Santa Claus" in the United States?
A—Yes, in Spencer County, Ind. Every Christmas, millions of cards and packages are mailed from its post office for the sake of the postmark.

Q—When is a plant classed as an annual?
A—The term is applied to a plant which reaches maturity and completes its life cycle during the first season of growth. After producing flowers and ripening seeds, the plant dies.

Q—How far from Siberia is the city of Nome, Alaska?
A—165 miles away.

Q—What was the first military use of the flag of the United Nations?
A—Adopted in 1947, the flag was first flown by armed forces at war in July 1950, when the Security Council authorized its use by Gen. Douglas MacArthur in Korea.

Q—Is the giraffe native to Africa?
A—Yes. The first giraffe to reach Europe was imported by Julius Caesar, who exhibited it in Rome in 46 B. C.

Q—How are congressional pages appointed?
A—On a patronage basis by members of Congress and by the marshal of the Supreme Court with consent of the chief justice. There are 26 pages in the Senate, 50 in the House, and four in the Supreme Court—80 in all.

Q—In what country did comic valentines originate?
A—They probably began in America and were sometimes called "penny dreadfuls."

Q—What weather element was the first to be measured?
A—The amount of rainfall. The Greeks kept some rainfall records as far back as the fifth century B.C.

Q—Why are the Moslems in the Philippines called Moros?
A—The Moslems, who were named Moros by the Spaniards after the Moors of Spain, live only in the southern Philippines. The Moros were converted to Islam by Moslem missionaries from India in the 15th and 16th centuries.

Q—Where is the largest collection of dinosaur remains in the world?
A—Dinosaur Park, Alberta, Canada.

Q—What changes did President Truman make in the U.S. coat of arms?
A—The eagle now not only faces to its right—the direction of honor—but also toward the olive branches of peace, which it holds in its right talon. Formerly the eagle faced toward the arrows in its left talon, symbolic of war.

Q—Which president was given the pseudonym of "His Fraudulency"?
A—Rutherford B. Hayes.

Q—What is a catchpole?
A—A constable, bailiff, or other petty law officer who serves warrants and makes arrests.

Q—In reference to the stock market, what is the the meaning of the expression, "trading on a shoe string"?
A—When a person trades in stocks or commodities on margin, with a very limited capital, he is said to be "trading on a shoe string."

FIRST ROCKET to project a man, Russia's Yuri Gagarin, into space was put on view by the Soviet Union at the Russian Exhibition of Economic Achievement in Moscow. The actual space capsule in which Gagarin rode for one orbit around the earth is in the first stage at top.

Q&A on cigarette smoking and heart disease

Q Do young smokers necessarily get "hooked" by the cigarette habit?

A NO. Young people just starting to smoke are not like older people who have smoked for 15 or 20 years. The habit is certainly not as strong for them. When teen-agers decide that they want to quit and are determined to do it, the chances are excellent that they will succeed.

Missouri Sign Bill Cited to Other States

KANSAS CITY (AP)— A bill regulating outdoor advertising passed by the last Missouri Legislature is so good the federal government is citing it to other states, says State Sen. Richard M. Webster, R-Carthage.

Webster spoke her to the Greater Kansas City Sign Industry Association.

He said the measure "will comply with the federal law, clean rubbish off the highways and allow for the orderly growth of a great American industry."

The lawmaker urged the sign industry to join with others in removing "abandoned signs advertising forgotten products and non-existent businesses.

The Daily Sikeston Standard
Sikeston, Missouri

Dear Mr. Blanton:

In behalf of the Matthews Community Club, Volunteer Firemen, and citizens of the community I want to express to you our appreciation for the fine publicity given in the Daily Sikeston Standard to our Fourth Annual Fall Festival.

It was generous of you to send a photographer to make the pictures and to give them and the news articles front page coverage. We sincerely appreciate it.

Very truly yours,

Ann Landers

Lack of Privacy Bugs Girl

Dear Ann Landers: My boyfriend and I are both 17. We got into a jam last May because he kissed me good-bye on the school premises. (It was three o'clock in the afternoon.) The lecture went something like this: "There is a time and place for everything."

A few weeks later we parked along a well-lit road about 10:00 p.m. to talk about our future. A squad car came along and the police asked us what we were doing. We said we were talking about our future. The policeman ordered us to "get moving."

Last night we went to a public park and spread a blanket out under a tree so we could talk about life. About 20 little kids who were on a camping trip began to pester us. They circled around yelling, "Lovers, lovers, kiss, kiss, kiss!" After 15 minutes we left.

If there is a time and place for everything, please tell us where is the place for teenagers to have a nice, quiet conversation. --- INVADED PRIVACY

Dear In: Do you have a home? A living room, a parlor, or a front porch are all good places to talk about life. And if you are SITTING on a park bench, your chances for privacy are better than if you are lying down. There are also coffee houses, sandwich shops and snack drive-ins. The list is endless. Be my guest.

Dear Ann Landers: Most of the steaming hot weather is over but there are still a few scorchers ahead. So please print this letter.

Too many people think they are being kind to their dogs when they take them on shopping trips to town. Most stores do not allow dogs, so the poor animals are locked up in unbearably hot automobiles for two and three hours at a time.

The average car can build up heat to 140 degrees in a half-hour. A dog cools off by radiation, without any evaporation. In a hot car there is no place for the dog's heat to go. He could die.

People do not realize they are being cruel to their pets when they keep them cooped up this way. If any of your readers come across pets who are trapped in overheated cars, please call the Humane Society at once.--- ONE WHO LOVES DOGS

Dear One: I have seen pets crying and jumping about frantically in parked cars but it never occurred to me that they might be suffocating from the heat. I thought they were merely unhappy at being left alone. Thenk you for making me wiser.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I like our future daughter-in-law very much. We have always treated her like one of the family. Donna has had dinner over here dozens of times. We invited her to our vacation cottage last summer and again this spring.

Yesterday a friend said to me, "I hear your son is marrying Donna. I do hope everything works out all right." I asked her what she meant. She answered, "Donna told my daughter she is very much in love, but she can't warm up to her future mother-in-law.

I am so shocked and hurt I don't know what to do. I had planned a pre-nuptial party for Donna but now I don't have the heart to go through with it. In fact, I don't even feel like going to the wedding. Please advise me. --- CRUSHED

Dear C.: I don't know what kind of friends you have, but if this woman is an example, I suggest that you start trading up.

A person who would make such a cutting remark is visious. She could also be a liar -- or guilty of gross exaggeration. One thing is certain, she is no friend. Write off the comment and carry on as if you never heard it.

When romantic glances turn to warm embraces is it love or chemistry? Send for the booklet "Love Or Sex And How To Tell The Difference," by Ann Landers. Enclose a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and 35¢ in coin with your request.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

We have secured the lease of Talley's Place, one half mile north of Sikeston on 61, where we will continue to operate the service station and restaurant. The Potashnicks.

A card from J. M. Pitman says he has a splendid position with a cleaning and tailoring establishment in St. Louis. His address is 919 Hamilton street.

A representative of The Standard visited the farm of Frank Van Horne Monday afternoon and had the pleasure of watching the force of about 15 women at work canning tomatoes. Mr. Van Horne had about 20 acres in tomatoes and a good many were ready for market when the canning factory burned, but by getting busy just as soon as it was learned that the factory would not be rebuilt rebuilt he has saved about half of his crop.

If You Were the Judge

Pawnbroker Responsible For Ring in Open Safe

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

When it began to rain on Finnigan's luck, Finnigan was left with no choice but to hock a large diamond ring to stop the downpour. As fate would have it, however, the torrents continued to fall.

Shortly after Finnigan left his ring with the pawnbroker, a hold-up man sauntered into the shop and, at gun point, removed the contents of the pawnbroker's open safe, including Finnigan's ring.

The result? When Finnigan's luck improved and he returned to reclaim his ring, the pawnbroker threw up his hands again but, this time, in despair.

"I'm sorry," he said, "but having your ring stolen from me was a risk you assumed when you hocked it."

"That's your story," was Finnigan's answer. "All I know is that I gave it to you and you've got to give it back."

When the pawnbroker refused to recognize Finnigan's redeeming qualities, Finnigan sued him for the value of the ring.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you make the pawnbroker pay up?

This is how the judge ruled: Yes! The judge held that a pawnbroker is excused from redelivering goods if he exercises care for its safekeeping. But in this case, concluded the Judge, there was a question whether the pawnbroker had exercised care for the safety of Finnigan's ring by leaving it in an open safe.

Elvis Decks Former Employe With Fists

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Elvis Presley used his fists to flatten a former employe during an argument, according to the Shelby County Sheriff's office.

A sheriff's office report indicated the 31-year-old millionaire entertainer decked Troy Ivy, 38, with one blow. Ivy denied he had gone down but said Presley hit him twice.

No arrests were made.

The report said the incident ccurred Sunday at the front ate of Presley's estate Graceland, in suburban Whitehaven. Ivy was identified as a former yardman for Presley's father.

James M. Hughes, educator, Evansville, Ind.: "A plain bar of iron is worth $5. This same bar of iron when made into horseshoes is worth $10.50. If made into needles it is worth $4,285. If turned into balance wheels for watches it becomes worth $250,000. This is true of another kind of material--you. Your value is determined by what you make of yourself."

Today In U. S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, Sept. 21, the 264th day of 1967. There are 101 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1949, West Germany came into formal existence when the Allied high commission transferred to it the administration of American, British and French zones of occupation.

On this date:

In 1776, the first naval battle of the American Revolution was fought at Lake Champlain.

In 1792, the French assembly voted to abolish the monarchy.

In 1893, Frank Furyea, a toolmaker, operated the first successful gasoline automobile in Springfield, Mass.

In 1938, Czechoslovakia announced it had agreed to cede the Sudeten German area of that country to Nazi Germany.

In 1939, Russia and Germany agreed on the demarcation of Poland.

In 1945, President Harry Truman officially approved "World War Two" as the title of the war which had just ended.

Ten years ago — A West German sailing vessel sank off the Azores with a loss of 80 lives.

Five years ago — Algerians went to the polls to vote for their first national assembly.

One year ago — U.S. jet pilots downed two Communist MIGs over North Vietnam and damaged three others in the biggest day of air combat of the war so far.

Two Charlestonians Missing in Plane

Search for A.L. Story, Mrs. George Shelby; Wreckage of Craft Found in Shannon County

A section of a wing was found about 20 miles northeast of Winona in Howell county this morning as the Civil Air Patrol and state highway police pressed a search for a prominent Southeast Missouri cotton producer and landowner.

A. L. "Abbie" Story, 50, and his sister-in-law, Mrs. George Shelby, 38, both of Charleston, were missing in a flight from Columbia Wednesday afternoon. They were returning to Charleston after attending a state agricultural, conservation and stabilizationcommittee meeting in Columbia.

The wreckage found by a highway patrolman was not immediately identified.

Winona is about 130 miles west of Sikeston.

The debris was found in a heavily forested area. The highway patrol said the rugged terrain is covered with oak and pine trees and thick brush.

A thunderstorm struck this area yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Shelby is a twin sister of Janice Story, wife of A. L. Story.

The plane was white and copper color with black numerals. The number 8630Y was painted on the side.

Story and his sister-in-law had attended the meeting in Columbia Tuesday and Wednesday. They left Columbia at 2:30 p.m.

A 50-mile search was underway for a twin engine Piper Comanche plane by the CAP, which was piloted by Story. The plane was believed down in the central Missouri Ozarks.

The last word received from the pilot was when he was flying over Vichy in Maries county at 3:05 p.m. yesterday. The Sikeston area experienced rain squalls yesterday afternoon and last night.

Planes from the Malden Civil Air Patrol, assisted by members of the Poplar Bluff, Sikeston and Cape Girardeau units, left early today in search of the area.

At 10:30 a.m. today the wing section, without markings, was found on Peck's ranch in Shannon county.

Shortly after noon today a second portion of a plane was found near the first portion. Neither portion was immediately identified. A ground party of foresters began a thorough search of the area.

A. L. Story

Story formerly was president of the National Cotton Council and was a candidate for appointment as secretary of agriculture during the Kennedy administration.

Story is president of the First Security State Bank of Charleston and a member of the state ASC committee. He is a past president of the American Cotton Producers Association, and on the board of the First Methodist church in Charleston.

The Story plane was based at the Sikeston airport, which was yesterday's flight destination.

Karen Sue Baugus

Sandra Jane Eaton

Vickie Lynn Welch

Three Candidates for Miss Sikeston of 1967

Karen Sue Baugus, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Baugus, 308 Broadway, Sandra Jane Eaton, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Eaton, 835 Greer, and Vickie Lynn Welch, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Welch, 307 Marion, are candidates for Miss Sikeston, 1967.

Miss Sikeston will be crowned Sept. 29 during the 23rd annual American Legion Cotton Carnival Monday through Sept. 30. The contest will begin at 10 p.m. The winner will be crowned by Lt. Gov. Thomas Eagleton.

Miss Baugus is a high school senior and plans to teach mentally retarded children. She is five feet, six and a half inches tall, weighs 135 pounds, has brown hair and green eyes.

Miss Eaton, a high school senior, plans to attend Memphis State University. She is five feet, one inch tall, weighs 105 pounds, has brown hair and green eyes.

Miss Welch, also a senior, plans to attend the University of Missouri at Columbia and become a physical education teacher. She is five feet, two inches tall, weighs 103 pounds, has blonde hair and blue eyes.

Beulah's Force Waning

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)— Waning Hurricane Beulah surged farther inland today, leaving hundreds of square miles of death, destruction and growing floods in her wake.

The monster storm's main track stretched 160 miles into Texas from Brownsville, the coastal point where she first raged ashore Wednesday.

Curving on a more westerly course as she advanced, Beulah finally dropped below minimum hurricane force— 75 miles per hour— early today.

Floods boiled up along rivers and creeks faster than harried disaster relief officials could keep track of them.

The small city of Alice, 40 miles west of Corpus Christi, was deluged by 7.28 inches of rain. Victoria, about 100 miles north of Corpus Christi, recorded 8.30 inches. Other towns and cities in the storm area recorded rains in two-digit figures, topped by 13.80 inches at Tuleta, 70 miles northeast of here.

A 13-day-old storm that began in the Atlantic, Beulah claimed 30 lives— six in Texas. Eighteen died in the Caribbean and the rest perished in Mexico's southern regions.

Flooding plagued the southern half of Texas and threatened to be a major problem for days. The rains showed no signs of abating as Gulf of Mexico tides swept headlong up river beds and collided with flood waters from Beulah's rains.

In an unprecedented move the State Department announced through Texas officials at Austin that the United States and Mexico had declared a disaster area along the border Rio Grande.

"The U.S. Immigration service is to open the international border and it is to remain open until further notice," a Texas spokesman said.

Brownsville's sister city of Matamoros, Mexico, sustained heavy damage from Beulah, as did Reynosa, Mexico, just across the river from Edinburg, Tex.

The Coast Guard was dispatching three amphibious airplanes from Corpus Christi today to survey damage in the storm's main track.

Tornadoes dealt damage in the millions of dollars. A final accounting of the storm's monetary harm was days— or possibly weeks— away.

Electrical power was shut off to about one-fourth of the Texas land mass. Brownsville was the hardest hit city in the state. Beulah screeched ashore there with 160 m.p.h. winds and rains too heavy to measure.

Hurricane force winds continued at Alice, a city of 23,000 some 40 miles west of Corpus Christi. Downtown businesses were flooded as were most homes. The residents had fled inland or to shelters.

Lack of water was a problem elsewhere. The municipal filtering plant at Corpus was fouled by Gulf backup. The situation was the same along the coast, where some cities reported up to 85 per cent destruction.

Restoration of electrical power was days away, utility company spokesmen said.

Beulah kept her hurricane status for hours longer than expected. Once over land, most hurricanes quickly lose force.

She was centered 60 miles west of Corpus Christi at 5 a.m., when hurricane warnings finally were lowered.

Tornadoes writhed off in record numbers from Beulah, herself the third largest hurricane in recorded history. She was responsible for 30 confirmed twisters. There were unofficial reports of more than 50 sightings. One tornado hit tiny Burnet, Tex., some 250 miles to the north of Beulah's track.

33 Join Scott County Young Democrats Club at Benton

By Jerry Obermark

BENTON -- Thirty three new members were signed at the Scott County Young Democrats Club meeting Wednesday night in the community building.

The meeting consisted of a social gathering and business session. Tom Gilmore, Sikeston, president, said that the club plans to have meetings every six weeks. Bill Lewis Jr. and Jim S. Green, both of Sikeston, will plan the schedule.

Before State Sen. Albert M. Spradling Jr., Cape Girardeau, was introduced two announced candidates for the Democratic nomination for representative of the 10th District were asked to speak.

Cape Girardeau County Prosecuting Attorney Bill Burlison pointed out that Scott county cast more votes in the 1966 primary than any other county in the 10th district with 5,691. This was 1,200 more votes cast than the second highest turnout in Dunklin county, he added.

Limited to three minutes Burlison stated two problems in the district.

"A tragic problem that exists in our farm program is pointed up by the fact that farmers are getting a much lower per cent of the agriculture consumer dollar, while the labor that distributes the farmer's products is getting a higher percentage of that dollar," Burlison said.

"Another serious problem faced by the district is the fact that it is losing political interest," he said. "In recent years, the district has lost eight per cent of its population, while the state's population as a whole has increased."

Jim Wallace, locomotive engineer from Scott City, solicited support and pledged to lobby for those unable to lobby for themselves if elected. He pledged to work in close harmony with residents and to represent the area in a forthright manner.

Gilmore thanked candidates for their comments and pledged that the club will serve as a vehicle for active participation in politics. He urged the 100 persons attending to stay involved, and participate.

Spradling urged club members appeal to young voters. More than 50 per cent of the eligible voters in the United States will be under 28 years old in 1968, he said. This group can carry whomever and whatever party they choose, he said.

Voter turnout in Missouri was poor in 1966, with only about 40 per cent of the eligible voters going to the polls for the primary and less than 50 per cent voting in the general election, he said.

Spradling urged the group to recruit more young persons and kindle interest and participation in politics.

Persons over 65 years old constitute a powerful political minority group, since 88 per cent of them vote. This group has controlled elections in the state for many years, Spradling said.

The race for the U. S. senate seat of Sen. Edward V. Long in the 1968, primary will probably be one of the roughest ever seen in the state, Spradling predicted. And the office of lieutenant governor is likely to have several candidates vying for the democratic nomination.

He urged the group to be independent thinkers as Democrats and unite in a party effort following the primary.

Expounding on Gov. Warren E. Hearnes' record, Spradling said, he had been one of Hearnes chief opponents when he took office, but is now convinced that Hearnes is one of the best governors the state has ever had.

Hearnes has addressed his programs to the problems of the people rather than special interest legislation, he said.

Good strides have been made during Hearnes' term in the fields of primary and secondary education, mental health and toll roads, Spradling said.

"We have a man in the governor's seat now who recognizes the problems of the states who is fighting for the state and for Southeast Missouri," he said.

Diet Pill Warning Issued

PORTLAND, Ore, AP -- "If you're alive now, stop taking the pills," Oregon's medical examiner warned women Wednesday.

He referred to women who think they might be taking a combination of diet pills that are believed responsible for the deaths of eight Oregon women during the past four years.

Dr. Russell Henry, bombarded by phone calls after he announced findings of a two-year study, called a news conference to describe the pills and to reassure those who take diet pills.

"Don't panic," he said. "We are not talking about diet pills in general."

Henry said the pills he has investigated contain a combination of amphetamines, premobarbitual, thyroid, digitalis, laxative and diuretic. He said some women take 10 to 12 a day.

He said the pills are multicolored and are easily obtainable in some states.

The pills are not illegal when prescribed by a doctor but are listed under Oregon's Dangerous Drugs Act, he said.

Asked to name the manufacturers, Henry named Delco Chemical Co. Inc., Mount Vernon, N.Y.; Lampar Co., Dallas, Tex.; and Western Research Labortories, Denver, Colo.

He said other firms also manufacture and distribute the pills.

Henry said women who think they might be taking the combination of pills should consult their doctors.

He said the pills deplete the body's supply of potassium and make the heart susceptible to metabolic stimulants.

Symptons, Henry said, are muscel weakness, shortness of breath, nervousness and heart palpitation.

Chamber to Discuss Drive

The Sikeston Chamber of Commerce board of directors met at noon today at the Mid Towner Restaurant to discuss the upcoming membership drive to be held Oct. 3, Richard Pinkerton, manager, said.

Political Topics Creep Into Lady Bird's Tour Stops

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP)— Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson headed into three more Midwest states today on a "Crossroads U.S.A." tour that bore at least the blush of a political campaign trip.

It wasn't billed as political, and there wasn't any hard campaigning on the first day of the trip in South Dakota and Minnesota Wednesday.

But there were gentle reminders at nearly every stop that the federal government headed by Mrs. Johnson's husband is involved in the propsperity, beautification and welfare of the Midwest.

The first stop at Montevideo, Minn., for instance was at Brookside Manor, a senior citizens' home built with an $800,000 federal loan.

Minutes later, Mrs. Johnson and Robert Weaver, secretary of housing and urban development, dedicated the Montevideo downtown urban renewal area -- also built partly with federal funds.

The Nicollet mall in Minneapolis, a downtown shopper-oriented project, was another stop — and it was built partly with federal funds.

On a bus trip through the South Dakota-Minnesota border area, Mrs. Johnson and her party gazed at herds of fattening cattle and fields of ripening corn.

Today's schedule included an early-morning flight to Quincy, Ill., where the party was to board a Mississippi River boat for a two-hour trip to Hannibal, Mo.

Goldberg Asks Hanoi to Guarantee Talks Would Follow Bombing Halt

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg today asked North Vietnam for a definite and specific statement as to whether a halt of U.S. bombing would lead to meaningful negotiations without advantage to either side.

In a major policy speech before the 122-nation U.N. General Assembly, the chief U.S. delegate reaffirmed that the United States favors peace talks and is willing to negotiate at Geneva or elsewhere.

He appealed to all U.N. members collectively and individually to aid in the search for peace. He also reaffirmed the U.S. belief that the United Nations has responsibilities under its charter to take a hand in the Vietnam problem.

Goldberg noted that Hanoi has indicated a cessation of the bombing "could" lead to negotiations but he said that Hanoi has not made a definite commitment nor has any of its allies "conveyed to us any authoritative message from Hanoi that there would in fact be negotiations if the bombing were stopped."

"We have sought such a message directly from Hanoi without success," he said. "On its part, the United States would be glad to consider and discuss any proposal that would lead promptly to productive discussions that might bring peace to the area."

He then asked:

"Does North Vietnam conceive that the cessation of bombing would or should lead to any other results than meaningful negotiations or discussions under circumstances which would not disadvantage either side?"

Goldberg dealt with a wide range of world problems, including the Middle East, but his main stress was on Vietnam.

He asked North Vietnam's allies, presumably including the Soviet Union, "what would they do or refrain from doing, and how would they then use their influence and power" to bring peace if the United States halted the bombing of North Vietnam.

"Constructive answers to these questions would aid in the search for peace," he said.

Goldberg repeated that the United States does not seek a military solution to the Vietnam problem, but he noted that neither North Vietnam nor its adherents have yet agreed to the objective of a political settlement through negotiations.

He expressed hope that Hanoi would agree, but he declared:

"In any event there will be no slackening of our resolve to help South Vietnam defend its right to determine its own future by peaceful means and free from external force."

Turning to the Middle East, Goldberg appealed for flexibility on the part of all on the method of bringing peace to the area. No appropriate method, including good offices or mediation, should be excluded, he declared.

"In realism," he said, "it is perhaps not to be expected that reconciliation and magnaminity will appear overnight; but surely enmity must at least give way to tolerance and to the will to live together in peace. Once that will is manifest, the terms of settlement can be evolved."

He repeated the principles laid down by President Johnson last June calling for a withdrawal of Israeli troops, recognition of all that each nation has a right to live in peace, freedom of passage through international waterways, justice for refugees and determination of the status with all concerned.

Goldberg said the preoccupation of the United States with the treaty on nonproliferation has not diminished U.S. interest in other problems in the arms control field— notably efforts to negotiate an agreement on anti-missile missiles.

Chiles Charged With Forgery

ILLMO -- Johnny Chiles, 26, of Illmo was arrested Wednesday afternoon and charged with forgery, Sheriff John Dennis said today.

Chiles is charged with forging a $12.50 check at the 66 service station in Scott county Sept. 1.

The check, drawn on the Bank of Sikeston, was made out to Johnny Chiles and signed "Curtis Chiles," whose address was given by Johnny Chiles as Sikeston, Dennis said.

Chiles has several more checks out which will be investigated, Dennis said.

The suspect is being held in county jail.

Theft Suspect Arrested

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- Sheriff John Dennis of Scott county and Cape Girardeau county sheriff officers arrested Harold Crowden, 18, of Rockview as a suspect in the theft of tools and welding equipment from the Frank Miller farm, located near the Cape Girardeau airport.

On Labor Day $300 worth of tools were taken from the farm. On Tuesday acetylene equipment was taken, Dennis said.

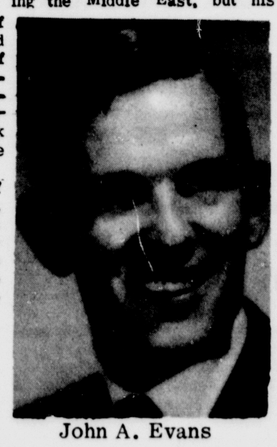
Crowden was turned over to Cape Girardeau county authorities and is being held in the county jail at Jackson.

Hockaday Says Court Decisions Confusing Many Law Officers

KANSAS CITY (AP) -- Recent decisions by the U. S. Supreme Court protecting the rights of accused persons have left many law officers confused, says the head of the Missouri Highway Patrol.

Col. E. I. Hockaday told the Missouri Police Chiefs Association Wednesday that officers need a set of guidelines interepreting court rulings, so they know what they can and cannot do.

The patrol superintendent also advocated a gun control law, mandatory training programs for law officers and abolishment of bail bonds.



John A. Evans

City Appoints Two Officers

The appointment of a police patrolman and a humane officer was announced today by City Manager W. Raymert Miller.

John A. Evans, 24, Bertrand, manager of the Rex Theater in Sikeston, will be a patrolman. His appointment is effective Saturday.

Robert Williams, 28, 1602 Matthews, a painter, was appointed as humane officer.

Bottle Injures Carrier's Eye

Sikeston police have identified a youth who threw a soda bottle from a school bus Tuesday evening in the 700 block of Greer and struck Bobby Bye, a carrier for the Daily Standard, above the left eye.

Bobby is the son Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bye, 216 Goode. He was taken to the hospital Tuesday evening and referred for treatment in a doctor's office. He attended school Wednesday, but stayed home today, because the eye has swollen and is watering, Mrs. Bye said.

The information obtained by police was given to school authorities.

In other activity, Vernon Morris, 411 North Ingram, reported to police Wednesday that a rock was thrown through a window in his house.

Mrs. Theon Compas, 305 Kay Dr., reported to police Wednesday evening that a wheel was taken from a riding power mower parked on the carport.

British Seamen Quit After Seeing Grain Bagged for Viet North

LONDON (AP) — Eight British merchant seamen who quit a British ship which had carried Australian grain to Red China said Wednesday night they saw the grain going "straight into bags stamped North Vietnam."

"It was in Tsingtau," said seaman Alan McIntyre, 34, adding: "The Australians have troops in South Vietnam fighting. It's disgusting."

Two Charged With Burglary

BENTON--Two Oran men have been charged with four breakins in Scott county this week, Sheriff John Dennis said today.

Charged with burglary and stealing are Danny Lee Hibbs, 18, and Larry Junior Rose, 24. They are being held in county jail.

They are charged with:

A breakin at the Morley VFW Tuesday night, where two bottles of whiskey were taken.

A breakin at Graviett's tavern at Vanduser Tuesday night, where about $60 and two cases of beer were taken.

A breakin at Al's tavern in Chaffee Wednesday night, where about $100 and two six-packs of beer were taken.

A breakin at Stuckey's service station at Benton Wednesday night, where about $50, tire tools and a flashlight were taken.

The two were picked up by Dennis in Benton about 8 a.m. today. The service station was broken into about 5 a.m., Sam Stuckey, the owner, said.

Dennis said all the stolen goods have been recovered.

GI Bill Program Brings in 9,200

ST. LOUIS (AP) -- In the first 13 months of the program, more than 9,200 Missouri servicemen and veterans have entered training under the Post-Korean G. I. Bill, the Veterans Administration announced today.

There are 9,234 trainess enrolled in the program, the St. Louis VA regional office reported, including 6,964 veterans and 146 servicemen who entered at the college level or above. The figure includes 2,088 veterans and 36 servicemen who enrolled in vocational training or other courses below the college level.

The bill became effective June 1, 1966.

The number of Missouri trainees is expected to be increased under the recently-passed Veterans Pension and Readjustment Assistance Act of 1967, the VA said. The act becomes effective on Oct. 1 and includes the same types of training for those who are veterans of the Vietnam conflict.

Pope's Doctors Say Operation Not Urgent

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI's three doctors said today their examinations showed no immediate need for an operation to correct the prostate condition which led to his illness.

Informed sources had said, however, that although the operation was not urgent, it would be necessary eventually.

The 69-year-old Pope fell ill Sept. 4 but has recovered enough that the sources said he may even be able to preside at the opening of the worldwide bishops' synod meeting Sept. 29.

The doctors said the Pontiff's recovery was continuing relatively rapidly, and that the treatment he has been receiving seemed sufficient to bring about his almost complete recovery from the inflammation of the urinary system which he has suffered.

Miller Attends League Meeting

City Manager W. Raymert Miller is in Kansas City today attending the 33rd annual conference of the Missouri Municipal League.

The program includes a series of discussions on city problems and workshops. Governor Warren E. Hearnes will address the group today.

A panel discussion will be conducted today on "Paying the Cost of local Government."

The conference opened Wednesday and will conclude after sessions tomorrow.

Queen Mary Ends First Leg of Final Journey

NEW YORK (AP)— The aging Queen Mary--fast enough to outrun Hitler's U-boats as a troopship a generation ago but unable to keep pace with jet age travel — arrived under gray and somber skies today on the first leg of her 500th and last trans Atlantic round trip.

She carried 1,500 passengers— many of them Americans who flew to England for the sentimental journey.

Friday the 31-year-old one-time sea queen sails home to Southampton where thousands sang the British national anthem, waved and wept as she departed last Saturday on her last trip to New York.

And next month comes a 35-day final passenger cruise around Cape Horn to Long Beach, Calif., which has bought the Queen Mary for $3.5 million to use as a floating hotel and museum.

China Ridicules U.S. Antimissile Plans

TOKYO (AP) — Saying that the United States has panicked, Red China today ridiculed American plans to build a $5 billion antimissile defense against a possible nuclear attack by the Chinese in the 1970s.

"In the past when China had no nuclear weapons, it did not submit to the United States or the Soviet nuclear big stick," said the official New China News Agency. "Much less will the Chinese people be cowed by an intimidation or blackmail now that they have their own nuclear weapons."

St. Louis Man Dies in Collision

James Arthur Thompson, 57, St. Louis, died today at 10:45 a.m. from injuries received in a highway accident at 8:30 a.m. today on highway 67, 15 miles south of Fredericktown.

His body is at the Wilson Funeral Home in Fredericktown.

He was traveling north in a 1962 Ford, when a 1962 Chevrolet, driven south by Rube Moffit, 59, Poplar Bluff, struck the Thompson car headon.

Moffit was taken to the Madison County Memorial hospital, Fredericktown, suffering from a bruised chest.

Four others were injured in vehicle collisions Wednesday according to the highway patrol.

Mrs. Cleo S. Bailey, 71, Perkins, was injured at 1:45 p.m. on route E, two and one half miles east of Benton.

A 1949 John Deere tractor driven by James LeGrand, 21, Benton, pulling a wagon, attempted to make a left turn, when a 1964 Valiant, driven by W. S. Bailey, 71, husband of Cleo S. Bailey, struck the tractor in the left side in an attempt to pass.

Mrs. Bailey, a passenger in the Valiant, was taken to the Southeast Missouri hospital in Cape Girardeau, where she was treated for head and shoulder injuries.

Nada Anderson, 58, Morley, driving a 1961 Ford, received leg cuts and head bruises at 5:15 p.m. on a gravel road in Morley.

Her car was struck by a 1961 Chevrolet, driven by Larry Boley, 18, Bell City. Brush obscured the view at a street intersection.

Mrs. Anderson was treated at the Missouri Delta Community hospital.

Leonard Hokey, 57, route two, Essex, driving a 1957 Buick, was treated for cuts on his cheek after a two-car collision at 1:15 p.m. on route V, five miles west of Sikeston.

A 1957 Ford, driven by Earl Landers, 20, Morehouse, slid through a stop sign on slick pavement and into the side of the Buick.

Landers was given a summons for careless and reckless driving, and failure to yield the right-of-way.

At 2:10 p.m. on business route 60, one half mile west of Sikeston, a 1966 Ford, driven by Lena Landers, 49, Canalou, pulled from a drive and was struck by a 1957 Ford pickup truck, driven by Charles R. Lambert, 60, Sikeston.

Mrs. Landers received cuts on her head and was treated at the Missouri Delta Community hospital.

A summons was given Lambert for careless and reckless driving.

Two Charlestonians Missing in Plane

Search for A.L. Story, Mrs. George Shelby; Wreckage of Craft Found in Shannon County

A section of a wing was found about 20 miles northeast of Winona in Howell county this morning as the Civil Air Patrol and state highway police pressed a search for a prominent Southeast Missouri cotton producer and landowner.

A. L. "Abbie" Story, 50, and his sister-in-law, Mrs. George Shelby, 38, both of Charleston, were missing in a flight from Columbia Wednesday afternoon. They were returning to Charleston after attending a state agricultural, conservation and stabilizationcommittee meeting in Columbia.

The wreckage found by a highway patrolman was not immediately identified.

Winona is about 130 miles west of Sikeston.

The debris was found in a heavily forested area. The highway patrol said the rugged terrain is covered with oak and pine trees and thick brush.

A thunderstorm struck this area yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Shelby is a twin sister of Janice Story, wife of A. L. Story.

The plane was white and copper color with black numerals. The number 8630Y was painted on the side.

Story and his sister-in-law had attended the meeting in Columbia Tuesday and Wednesday. They left Columbia at 2:30 p.m.

A 50-mile search was underway for a twin engine Piper Comanche plane by the CAP, which was piloted by Story. The plane was believed down in the central Missouri Ozarks.

The last word received from the pilot was when he was flying over Vichy in Maries county at 3:05 p.m. yesterday. The Sikeston area experienced rain squalls yesterday afternoon and last night.

Planes from the Malden Civil Air Patrol, assisted by members of the Poplar Bluff, Sikeston and Cape Girardeau units, left early today in search of the area.

At 10:30 a.m. today the wing section, without markings, was found on Peck's ranch in Shannon county.

Shortly after noon today a second portion of a plane was found near the first portion. Neither portion was immediately identified. A ground party of foresters began a thorough search of the area.

Story formerly was president of the National Cotton Council and was a candidate for appointment as secretary of agriculture during the Kennedy administration.

Story is president of the First Security State Bank of Charleston and a member of the state ASC committee. He is a past president of the American Cotton Producers Association, and on the board of the First Methodist church in Charleston.

The Story plane was based at the Sikeston airport, which was yesterday's flight destination.

Beulah's Force Waning

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—Waning Hurricane Beulah surged farther inland today, leaving hundreds of square miles of death, destruction and growing floods in her wake.

The monster storm's main track stretched 160 miles into Texas from Brownsville, the coastal point where she first raged ashore Wednesday.

Curving on a more westerly course as she advanced, Beulah finally dropped below minimum hurricane force—75 miles per hour—early today.

Floods boiled up along rivers and creeks faster than harried disaster relief officials could keep track of them.

The small city of Alice, 40 miles west of Corpus Christi, was deluged by 7.28 inches of rain. Victoria, about 100 miles north of Corpus Christi, recorded 8.30 inches. Other towns and cities in the storm area recorded rains in two-digit figures, topped by 13.80 inches at Tuleta, 70 miles northeast of here.

A 13-day-old storm that began in the Atlantic, Beulah claimed 30 lives—six in Texas. Eighteen died in the Caribbean and the rest perished in Mexico's southern regions.

Flooding plagued the southern half of Texas and threatened to be a major problem for days. The rains showed no signs of abating as Gulf of Mexico tides swept headlong up river beds and collided with flood waters from Beulah's rains.

In an unprecedented move the State Department announced through Texas officials at Austin that the United States and Mexico had declared a disaster area along the border Rio Grande.

"The U.S. Immigration service is to open the international border and it is to remain open until further notice," a Texas spokesman said.

Brownsville's sister city of Matamoros, Mexico, sustained heavy damage from Beulah, as did Reynosa, Mexico, just across the river from Edinburg, Tex.

The Coast Guard was dispatching three amphibious airplanes from Corpus Christi today to survey damage in the storm's main track.

Tornadoes dealt damage in the millions of dollars. A final accounting of the storm's monetary harm was days—or possibly weeks—away.

Electrical power was shut off to about one-fourth of the Texas land mass. Brownsville was the hardest hit city in the state. Beulah screeched ashore there with 160 m.p.h. winds and rains too heavy to measure.

Hurricane force winds continued at Alice, a city of 23,000 some 40 miles west of Corpus Christi. Downtown businesses were flooded as were most homes. The residents had fled inland or to shelters.

Lack of water was a problem elsewhere. The municipal filtering plant at Corpus was fouled by Gulf backup. The situation was the same along the coast, where some cities reported up to 85 per cent destruction.

Restoration of electrical power was days away, utility company spokesmen said.

Beulah kept her hurricane status for hours longer than expected. Once over land, most hurricanes quickly lose force.

She was centered 60 miles westof Corpus Christi at 5 a.m., when hurricane warnings finally were lowered.

Tornadoes writhed off in record numbers from Beulah, herself the third largest hurricane in recorded history. She was responsible for 30 confirmed twisters. There were unofficial reports of more than 50 sightings. One tornado hit tiny Burnet, Tex., some 250 miles to the north of Beulah's track.

Three Candidates for Miss Sikeston of 1967

Karen Sue Baugus, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Baugus, 308 Broadway, Sandra Jane Eaton, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Eaton, 835 Greer, and Vickie Lynn Welch, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Welch, 307 Marion, are candidates for Miss Sikeston, 1967.

Miss Sikeston will be crowned Sept. 29 during the 23rd annual American Legion Cotton Carnival Monday through Sept. 30. The contest will begin at 10 p.m. The winner will be crowned by Lt. Gov. Thomas Eagleton.

Miss Baugus is a high school senior and plans to teach mentally retarded children. She is five feet, six and a half inches tall, weighs 135 pounds, has brown hair and green eyes.

Miss Eaton, a high school senior, plans to attend Memphis State University. She is five feet, one inch tall, weighs 105 pounds, has brown hair and green eyes.

Miss Welch, also a senior, plans to attend the University of Missouri at Columbia and become a physical education teacher. She is five feet, two inches tall, weighs 103 pounds, has blonde hair and blue eyes.

33 Join Scott County Young Democrats Club at Benton

By Jerry Obermark

BENTON -- Thirty three new members were signed at the Scott County Young Democrats Club meeting Wednesday night in the community building.

The meeting consisted of a social gathering and business session. Tom Gilmore, Sikeston, president, said that the club plans to have meetings every six weeks. Bill Lewis Jr. and Jim S. Green, both of Sikeston, will plan the schedule.

Before State Sen. Albert M. Spradling Jr., Cape Girardeau, was introduced two announced candidates for the Democratic nomination for representative of the 10th District were asked to speak.

Cape Girardeau County Prosecuting Attorney Bill Burlison pointed out that Scott county cast more votes in the 1966 primary than any other county in the 10th district with 5,691. This was 1,200 more votes cast than the second highest turnout in Dunklin county, he added.

Limited to three minutes Burlison stated two problems in the district.

"A tragic problem that exists in our farm program is pointed up by the fact that farmers are getting a much lower per cent of the agriculture consumer dollar, while the labor that distributes the farmer's products is getting a higher percentage of that dollar," Burlison said.

"Another serious problem faced by the district is the fact that it is losing political interest," he said. "In recent years, the district has lost eight per cent of its population, while the state's population as a whole has increased."

Jim Wallace, locomotive engineer from Scott City, solicited support and pledged to lobby for those unable to lobby for themselves if elected. He pledged to work in close harmony with residents and to represent the area in a forthright manner.

Gilmore thanked candidates for their comments and pledged that the club will serve as a vehicle for active participation in politics. He urged the 100 persons attending to stay involved, and participate.

Spradling urged club members appeal to young voters. More than 50 per cent of the eligible voters in the United States will be under 28 years old in 1968, he said. This group can carry whomever and whatever party they choose, he said.

Voter turnout in Missouri was poor in 1966, with only about 40 per cent of the eligible voters going to the polls for the primary and less than 50 per cent voting in the general election, he said.

Spradling urged the group to recruit more young persons and kindle interest and participation in politics.

Persons over 65 years old constitute a powerful political minority group, since 88 per cent of them vote. This group has controlled elections in the state for many years, Spradling said.

The race for the U. S. senate seat of Sen. Edward V. Long in the 1968, primary will probably be one of the roughest ever seen in the state, Spradling predicted. And the office of lieutenant governor is likely to have several candidates vying for the democratic nomination.

He urged the group to be independent thinkers as Democrats and unite in a party effort following the primary.

Expounding on Gov. Warren E. Hearnes' record, Spradling said, he had been one of Hearnes chief opponents when he took office, but is now convinced that Hearnes is one of the best governors the state has ever had.

Hearnes has addressed his programs to the problems of the people rather than special interest legislation, he said.

Good strides have been made during Hearnes' term in the fields of primary and secondary education, mental health and toll roads, Spradling said.

"We have a man in the governor's seat now who recognizes the problems of the states who is fighting for the state and for Southeast Missouri," he said.

Diet Pill Warning Issued

PORTLAND, Ore, AP -- "If you're alive now, stop taking the pills," Oregon's medical examiner warned women Wednesday.

He referred to women who think they might be taking a combination of diet pills that are believed responsible for the deaths of eight Oregon women during the past four years.

Dr. Russell Henry, bombarded by phone calls after he announced findings of a two-year study, called a news conference to describe the pills and to reassure those who take diet pills.

"Don't panic," he said. "We are not talking about diet pills in general."

Henry said the pills he has investigated contain a combination of amphetamines, premobarbitual, thyroid, digitalis, laxative and diuretic. He said some women take 10 to 12 a day.

He said the pills are multicolored and are easily obtainable in some states.

The pills are not illegal when prescribed by a doctor but are listed under Oregon's Dangerous Drugs Act, he said.

Asked to name the manufacturers, Henry named Delco Chemical Co. Inc., Mount Vernon, N.Y.; Lampar Co., Dallas, Tex.; and Western Research Labortories, Denver, Colo.

He said other firms also manufacture and distribute the pills.

Henry said women who think they might be taking the combination of pills should consult their doctors.

He said the pills deplete the body's supply of potassium and make the heart susceptible to metabolic stimulants.

Symptons, Henry said, are muscel weakness, shortness of breath, nervousness and heart palpitation.

Chiles Charged With Forgery

ILLMO -- Johnny Chiles, 26, of Illmo was arrested Wednesday afternoon and charged with forgery, Sheriff John Dennis said today.

Chiles is charged with forging a $12.50 check at the 66 service station in Scott county Sept. 1.

The check, drawn on the Bank of Sikeston, was made out to Johnny Chiles and signed "Curtis Chiles," whose address was given by Johnny Chiles as Sikeston, Dennis said.

Chiles has several more checks out which will be investigated, Dennis said.

The suspect is being held in county jail.

Theft Suspect Arrested

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- Sheriff John Dennis of Scott county and Cape Girardeau county sheriff officers arrested Harold Crowden, 18, of Rockview as a suspect in the theft of tools and welding equipment from the Frank Miller farm, located near the Cape Girardeau airport.

On Labor Day $300 worth of tools were taken from the farm. On Tuesday acetylene equipment was taken, Dennis said.

Crowden was turned over to Cape Girardeau county authorities and is being held in the county jail at Jackson.

Hockaday Says Court Decisions Confusing Many Law Officers

KANSAS CITY (AP) -- Recent decisions by the U. S. Supreme Court protecting the rights of accused persons have left many law officers confused, says the head of the Missouri Highway Patrol.

Col. E. I. Hockaday told the Missouri Police Chiefs Association Wednesday that officers need a set of guidelines interepreting court rulings, so they know what they can and cannot do.

The patrol superintendent also advocated a gun control law, mandatory training programs for law officers and abolishment of bail bonds.

Goldberg Asks Hanoi to Guarantee Talks Would Follow Bombing Halt

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg today asked North Vietnam for a definite and specific statement as to whether a halt of U.S. bombing would lead to meaningful negotiations without advantage to either side.

In a major policy speech before the 122-nation U.N. General Assembly, the chief U.S. delegate reaffirmed that the United States favors peace talks and is willing to negotiate at Geneva or elsewhere.

He appealed to all U.N. members collectively and individually to aid in the search for peace. He also reaffirmed the U.S. belief that the United Nations has responsibilities under its charter to take a hand in the Vietnam problem.

Goldberg noted that Hanoi has indicated a cessation of the bombing "could" lead to negotiations but he said that Hanoi has not made a definite commitment nor has any of its allies "conveyed to us any authoritative message from Hanoi that there would in fact be negotiations if the bombing were stopped."

"We have sought such a message directly from Hanoi without success," he said. "On its part, the United States would be glad to consider and discuss any proposal that would lead promptly to productive discussions that might bring peace to the area."

He then asked:

"Does North Vietnam conceive that the cessation of bombing would or should lead to any other results than meaningful negotiations or discussions under circumstances which would not disadvantage either side?"

Goldberg dealt with a wide range of world problems, including the Middle East, but his main stress was on Vietnam.

He asked North Vietnam's allies, presumably including the Soviet Union, "what would they do or refrain from doing, and how would they then use their influence and power" to bring peace if the United States halted the bombing of North Vietnam.

"Constructive answers to these questions would aid in the search for peace," he said.

Goldberg repeated that the United States does not seek a military solution to the Vietnam problem, but he noted that neither North Vietnam nor its adherents have yet agreed to the objective of a political settlement through negotiations.

He expressed hope that Hanoi would agree, but he declared:

"In any event there will be no slackening of our resolve to help South Vietnam defend its right to determine its own future by peaceful means and free from external force."

Turning to the Middle East, Goldberg appealed for flexibility on the part of all on the method of bringing peace to the area. No appropriate method, including good offices or mediation, should be excluded, he declared.

"In realism," he said, "it is perhaps not to be expected that reconciliation and magnaminity will appear overnight; but surely enmity must at least give way to tolerance and to the will to live toegether in peace. Once that will is manifest, the terms of settlement can be evolved."

He repeated the principles laid down by President Johnson last June calling for a withdrawal of Israeli troops, recognition of all that each nation has a right to live in peace, freedom of passage through international waterways, justice for refugees and determination of the status with all concerned.

Goldberg said the preoccupation of the United States with the treaty on nonproliferation has not diminished U.S. interest in other problems in the arms control field—notably efforts to negotiate an agreement on anti-missile missiles.

Two Charged With Burglary

BENTON--Two Oran men have been charged with four breakins in Scott county this week, Sheriff John Dennis said today.

Charged with burglary and stealing are Danny Lee Hibbs, 18, and Larry Junior Rose, 24. They are being held in county jail.

They are charged with:

A breakin at the Morley VFW Tuesday night, where two bottles of whiskey were taken.

A breakin at Graviett's tavern at Vanduser Tuesday night, where about $60 and two cases of beer were taken.

A breakin at Al's tavern in Chaffee Wednesday night, where about $100 and two six-packs of beer were taken.

A breakin at Stuckey's service station at Benton Wednesday night, where about $50, tire tools and a flashlight were taken.

The two were picked up by Dennis in Benton about 8 a.m. today. The service station was broken into about 5 a.m., Sam Stuckey, the owner, said.

Dennis said all the stolen goods have been recovered.

Bottle Injures Carrier's Eye

Sikeston police have identified a youth who threw a soda bottle from a school bus Tuesday evening in the 700 block of Greer and struck Bobby Bye, a carrier for the Daily Standard, above the left eye.

Bobby is the son Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bye, 216 Goode. He was taken to the hospital Tuesday evening and referred for treatment in a doctor's office. He attended school Wednesday, but stayed home today, because the eye has swollen and is watering, Mrs. Bye said.

The information obtained by police was given to school authorities.

In other activity, Vernon Morris, 411 North Ingram, reported to police Wednesday that a rock was thrown through a window in his house.

Mrs. Theon Compas, 305 Kay Dr., reported to police Wednesday evening that a wheel was taken from a riding power mower parked on the carport.

John A. Evans

City Appoints Two Officers

The appointment of a police patrolman and a humane officer was announced today by City Manager W. Raymert Miller.

John A. Evans, 24, Bertrand, manager of the Rex Theater in Sikeston, will be a patrolman. His appointment is effective Saturday.

Robert Williams, 28, 1602 Matthews, a painter, was appointed as humane officer.

British Seamen Quit After Seeing Grain Bagged for Viet North

LONDON (AP) — Eight British merchant seamen who quit a British ship which had carried Australian grain to Red China said Wednesday night they saw the grain going "straight into bags stamped North Vietnam."

"It was in Tsingtau," said seaman Alan McIntyre, 34, adding: "The Australians have troops in South Vietnam fighting. It's disgusting."

GI Bill Program Brings in 9,200

ST. LOUIS (AP) -- In the first 13 months of the program, more than 9,200 Missouri servicemen and veterans have entered training under the Post-Korean G. I. Bill, the Veterans Administration announced today.

There are 9,234 trainess enrolled in the program, the St. Louis VA regional office reported, including 6,964 veterans and 146 servicemen who entered at the college level or above. The figure includes 2,088 veterans and 36 servicemen who enrolled in vocational training or other courses below the college level.

The bill became effective June 1, 1966.

The number of Missouri trainees is expected to be increased under the recently-passed Veterans Pension and Readjustment Assistance Act of 1967, the VA said. The act becomes effective on Oct. 1 and includes the same types of training for those who are veterans of the Vietnam conflict.

Pope's Doctors Say Operation Not Urgent

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI's three doctors said today their examinations showed no immediate need for an operation to correct the prostate condition which led to his illness.

Informed sources had said, however, that although the operation was not urgent, it would be necessary eventually.

The 69-year-old Pope fell ill Sept. 4 but has recovered enough that the sources said he may even be able to preside at the opening of the worldwide bishops' synod meeting Sept. 29.

The doctors said the Pontiff's recovery was continuing relatively rapidly, and that the treatment he has been receiving seemed sufficient to bring about his almost complete recovery from the inflammation of the urinary system which he has suffered.

Miller Attends League Meeting

City Manager W. Raymert Miller is in Kansas City today attending the 33rd annual conference of the Missouri Municipal League.

The program includes a series of discussions on city problems and workshops. Governor Warren E. Hearnes will address the group today.

A panel discussion will be conducted today on "Paying the Cost of local Government."

The conference opened Wednesday and will conclude after sessions tomorrow.

Queen Mary Ends First Leg of Final Journey

NEW YORK (AP)— The aging Queen Mary--fast enough to outrun Hitler's U-boats as a troopship a generation ago but unable to keep pace with jet age travel — arrived under gray and somber skies today on the first leg of her 500th and last trans Atlantic round trip.

She carried 1,500 passengers—many of them Americans who flew to England for the sentimental journey.

Friday the 31-year-old one-time sea queen sails home to Southampton where thousands sang the British national anthem, waved and wept as she departed last Saturday on her last trip to New York.

And next month comes a 35-day final passenger cruise around Cape Horn to Long Beach, Calif., which has bought the Queen Mary for $3.5 million to use as a floating hotel and museum.

China Ridicules U.S. Antimissile Plans

TOKYO (AP) — Saying that the United States has panicked, Red China today ridiculed American plans to build a $5 billion antimissile defense against a possible nuclear attack by the Chinese in the 1970s.

"In the past when China had no nuclear weapons, it did not submit to the United States or the Soviet nuclear big stick," said the official New China News Agency. "Much less will the Chinese people be cowed by an intimidation or blackmail now that they have their own nuclear weapons."

St. Louis Man Dies in Collision

James Arthur Thompson, 57, St. Louis, died today at 10:45 a.m. from injuries received in a highway accident at 8:30 a.m. today on highway 67, 15 miles south of Fredericktown.

His body is at the Wilson Funeral Home in Fredericktown.

He was traveling north in a 1962 Ford, when a 1962 Chevrolet, driven south by Rube Moffit, 59, Poplar Bluff, struck the Thompson car headon.

Moffit was taken to the Madison County Memorial hospital, Fredericktown, suffering from a bruised chest.

Four others were injured in vehicle collisions Wednesday according to the highway patrol.

Mrs. Cleo S. Bailey, 71, Perkins, was injured at 1:45 p.m. on route E, two and one half miles east of Benton.

A 1949 John Deere tractor driven by James LeGrand, 21, Benton, pulling a wagon, attempted to make a left turn, when a 1964 Valiant, driven by W. S. Bailey, 71, husband of Cleo S. Bailey, struck the tractor in the left side in an attempt to pass.

Mrs. Bailey, a passenger in the Valiant, was taken to the Southeast Missouri hospital in Cape Girardeau, where she was treated for head and shoulder injuries.

Nada Anderson, 58, Morley, driving a 1961 Ford, received leg cuts and head bruises at 5:15 p.m. on a gravel road in Morley.

Her car was struck by a 1961 Chevrolet, driven by Larry Boley, 18, Bell City. Brush obscured the view at a street intersection.

Mrs. Anderson was treated at the Missouri Delta Community hospital.

Leonard Hokey, 57, route two, Essex, driving a 1957 Buick, was treated for cuts on his cheek after a two-car collision at 1:15 p.m. on route V, five miles west of Sikeston.

A 1957 Ford, driven by Earl Landers, 20, Morehouse, slid through a stop sign on slick pavement and into the side of the Buick.

Landers was given a summons for careless and reckless driving, and failure to yield the right-of-way.

At 2:10 p.m. on business route 60, one half mile west of Sikeston, a 1966 Ford, driven by Lena Landers, 49, Canalou, pulled from a drive and was struck by a 1957 Ford pickup truck, driven by Charles R. Lambert, 60, Sikeston.

Mrs. Landers received cuts on her head and was treated at the Missouri Delta Community hospital.

A summons was given Lambert for careless and reckless driving.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

AUTUMN, HER GIFTS AND WOUNDS

The Autumnal Equinox begins at 12:33 p.m. on Saturday, Sept. 23.

STONE HARBOR, N.J. -- If April is the cruelest month, as T. S. Eliot would insist, September may be the kindest. September is a relief from the hurts of summer and a preparation for the slings and arrows of winter. On the Atlantic littoral the waters are warmer than in July, although the waves are more vigorous.

Asters frost the fencerows, and sumac berries flame at the roadside. Migratory birds begin forming their sun-clouding southward planes. Maples turn to glory and shed, and the smoke and smell of leaves burning spreads through the suburbs. Children trudge schoolward, and man relaxes.

THIS IS A GOOD SUMMER, to have over, as the U. S. Weather Bureau concedes. Nature gave a little and took a little. After a five-year drought, the Northeast is watersoaked. Great waves of cold air moved south from the Arctic to the Midwest and West this summer. Then planetary winds scooped up the cold air and carried it eastward, where it met the Bermuda high. The warm, moist air went up; the cold air condensed into rain.

Forest fires are vexing the Northwest. Smokejumpers have seen more action this year than ever before. On all state, federal, and private lands, there were 122,500 forest or brush fires in 1966, turning more than 4-1/2 million acres into ash. This year bids to be worse. The third weekend in August was the worst of the year, with hundreds of fires, mostly touched off by lightning, burning in the West.

Summer's weather was unusual, but then all weather is fickle, according to the federal experts. "The atmosphere is always abnormal," says Jerome Namais, chief of the Weather Bureau's Extended Forecast Division.

MOST CURIOUS has been the late start to hurricane activity, usually September's lash. So far we have had only Arlene, Beulah, Chloe and Doria of a string of girls' names for tropical storms and hurricanes that the Weather Bureau this year roguishly extends through Verna and Wallis. Not since 1941 has there been such a delayed start.

The official hurricane season extends from June 15 through Nov. 15, but the brunt usually comes in September. There is a record of only one hurricane (in 1925) as late as Nov. 30. Last year there were 11 tropical storms in the Gulf of Mexico, Carribean, and Southwestern Atlantic. About half reached the 75-mile-an-hour itensity needed to qualify as a hurricane. This year we have had 10 or 11 tropical storms -- well above normal -- on the Pacific side of Mexico and Central America, but only weak activity in the Atlantic.

The Weather Bureau has been experimenting for two decades with dispersing hurricanes by cloud-seeding. A modification in regulations allows a wider range this year. As many as 14 planes will be on standby until Oct. 15 at Roosevelt Roads Naval Air Station, Puerto Rico, and the Jacksonville, Fla., Naval Air Station.

Storms of all kinds, and seismic sea waves, claim 500 to 600 lives a year in the United States, and do $1 billion to $15 billion damage. Hurricanes are major contributors to both tolls. September and autumn are welcome, so long as they leave their windy and willful ladies behind them.

EAGLETON TAKES THE PLUNGE

Democratic organization stalwarts may deplore the prospect of a strong challenge to Senator Long's renomination next year, but the general public has reason to welcome Lt. Gov. Eagleton's decision to become a candidate. Party organizations -- and of course incumbents -- always like to keep things quiet, somnolent and tidy in the primary. It's more comfortable all around, and less of a strain on campaign funds, to hand the incumbent renomination without a struggle, and to concentrate upon re-electing him in the general election.

Lt. Gov. Eagleton, after much soul-searching and listening at the grass roots, has decided not to play the game. He has always been a prime prospect for United States Senator some day, and now rejects the advice of those who want him to wait until some year when he can get the nomination easily. Well, why not? His decision to run will compel Senator Long to give the state good reasons why he should be nominated in preference to a young and very attractive challenger. If the contest results in airing issues that ought to be aired, notably foreign policy and the war in Vietnam, the people can only gain.

There will be plenty of time to choose between the two -- and possibly more -- candidates when the contest has developed. For the present, we think Missourians can welcome the fact that there will be a contest.

THE DECLINE OF HERESY

In an unorthodox age, who can be called a heretic? That, essentially, is the question that a special committee of the Episcopal Church attempted to answer in a recent report. The committee concluded that "Any risks the church may run by fostering a climate of geniune freedom are minor in comparison to the dangers it surely will encounter from any attempt at suppression, censorship or thought control." The triennial general convention of the Episcopal Church, which opens in Seattle on Sunday, Sept. 17, will debate and pass judgment on the report.

Although the Rt. Rev. James A. Pike, former Bishop of California, was not mentioned in the report, it obviously was written with him in mind. Bishop Pike's repudiation of such traditional Christian doctrines as the Virgin Birth and the Trinity prompted the Episcopal House of Bishops to initiate heresy proceedings against him last autumn. The proceedings were halted after adoption of a resolution rejecting the concept of heresy trials, but Bishop Pike insisted on a trial to clear his name. Formation of the special church committee followed. Bishop Pike, now a theologian in residence at the Center for the Study of Democratic Institution, Santa Barbara, Calif., has said he will withdraw his demand for a heresy trial if the Seattle convention approves the committee report.

Bishop Pike's controversial views would certainly have furnished grounds for heresy proceedings in the early days of Christianity. Prior to the Council of Nicaea (325 A.D.), the Christian Church was seriously challenged by pagan and Jewish beliefs which threatened to become blended with the faith. At that time, the punishment of heresy was by reproof or excommunication. In the post-Nicene period heresies became less significant differences in interpretation of Christian doctrine. Nevertheless, the penalties for heresy grew more severe, as during the Spanish Inquisition.

Today, the various Christian faiths are working toward reunification in a single church. The emphasis is on finding common denominators of belief, not on underlining doctrinal differences. Achievement of Christian unity, however, might well lead to formation of an entirely new orthodoxy. Then heresy would again become one of the prime concerns of Christian religious leaders.

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — For "like new" Spider Man comic books and a free baby sitter (if you'll take her to the beach) turn to the boys and girls want ad page in the Yonkers Herald-Statesman.

It's free and it's fun for the young advertisers but the Statesman limits ads to 25 words and a special rules clause keeps parents from using their kids' names to peddle boats, cars, pianos or baby cribs.

The wheeler, dealer teens of the New York City suburb filled six or seven columns a day for two weeks in a mad scramble for part-time jobs, reading swaps and second-hand merchandising.

Billy Wolfe's Sealpoint Siamese had eight "beautiful kittens," which he said he'd let go for just $25 apiece. The kittens are pretty desirable because they were "home raised with a dog."

"If you like," advertized Gail Freddolino, 9, "I would like to sell my two stuffed animals for only $1. They are good stuffed animals."

Also for sale were "a low mileage record player" by Lynne Galant, 14, and a sleeping bag by Ken Johnsson, who insisted: "I never used it. No lie."

Harlene Grossman, 11, was "selling books to suit every cause and every person. The books are in good shape. They just aren't read."

And two samples from that booming comic book trade:

"I am selling 5 Spider Man, 5 Avenger, 1 Little Archie, 1 Green Lantern, 1 Batman, 1 Fantastic Four and 2 Illustrated Classics for $1." Clifford Firstenberg, 11.

"I will trade 12 good giant Dennis the Menace comics for 15 good small Marvel Super Hero comics," Matthew Alderman, 10.

The want ad columns were bursting with "eager" and "enthusiastic" baby sitters. And the need to compete produced some unusual offers.

"Going to the beach! Take me along and I will sit the kids. No charge." Ellen Cohen, 15.

From Mary Buhler, 12, a would-be "mother's helper," came this suasion: "Have general idea help at home with 4 brothers & Sisters. Won't cost you much."

For 25 cents an hour 9-year-old Kathleen O'Keefe "will read to or play with children 1½-5 while mother does housework."

In the classic job-seekers ad, Donald Flynn, 18, wrote: "Responsible youth seeks employment as a Catholic organist or waiter or clerk or counterman or gardener. No experience available."

Richard Barrer, 14, "will pay top dollar for toads, common or foreign." And "if anyone has any radios or any type of electrical or scientific equipment to get rid of," please call Allen Weiner, 13.

The Missouri State Highway Patrol has been selected as a member of the Federal Bureau of Investigation's National Crime Information Center.

The Center is a computerized information system established as a service to all law enforcement agencies -- local, state and federl. Several police agencies throughout the country are members of NCIC.

Information dealing with stolen automobiles, wanted persons, stolen property and other such police information will be transmitted by the member agencies directly into the computer center at the FBI Headquarters in Washington, D. C. The submitted information will then be available to any inquiring police agency in the country. The total transaction time of an inquiry to and response from the Center will be about thirty seconds.

Colonel E. I. (Mike) Hockaday, the Patrol Superintendent, said, "The National Crime Information Center will enable law enforcement agencies throughout the country to check on information Center will enable law enforcement agencies throughout the country to check on information concerning crime and criminals at one location. This will make for more efficient handling and exchange of documented police information."

The Superintendent also stated that additional personnel are needed to operate this system. He said, "We are looking for young men with technical or operational experience in communications to work i this new activity. Those qualified men selected will be in on the beginning of an interesting and important law enforcement communications program."

Colonel Hockaday pointed out that letters of inquiry for these positions should be addressed to the Missouri State Highway Patrol, Division of Communications, Jefferson City, Missouri.

IS IT NOW A PLANE?

Those who make a study of so-called classic cars make much of such famous old gas buggies as the Stutz, the Mercer, the Pierce-Arrow and others of a bygone era. All of them played a significant role in ushering in the age of the automobile.

We submit, however, that the glories of all those old cars fade dimly in comparison with a car of more recent vintage -- the Edsel, sometimes referred to as the Fiasco Eight. From what we have read about it, it was the most carefully conceived car ever built. Not only was the engineering computerized down to the last nut, bolt and knob, it was carefully calculated -- by some Dearborn Whiz Kids, no doubt -- so that it would be irresistible to buyers.

Responsible for this remarkable vehicle was Robert G. McNamara, who now directs our Department of Defense (or is it Disarmanent?). While McNamara made many valuable contributions to his former employer, it is indisputable that the Edsel was his crowning achievement, indeed his monument in the motor world.

So impressed were his fellow officials with the car, or with its creator's arguments in favor of it, that cost became no object. It is estimated that more than a quarter-billion dollars were spent in developing it and getting it on the market.

But it was one thing to get it on the market and something else again to keep it there. For reasons unknown, it evoked no enthusiasm whatsoever from those who ultimately decide the success or failure of any commodity -- the buying public.

Of course if Mr. McNamara had been able to talk to each prospective buyer personally, with all those computerized arguments and a few charts, he might have been able to sell them a bill of goods. But along about this time he was busy with other matters. And then his employers patriotically allowed him to accept a job with the U. S. Government.

What has become of the Edsels that were sold? You occasionally see one in running condition, recognizable by the odd-looking horse-collar radiator. But they're scarce and getting scarcer.

One rumor is that the Defense Department has bought them all up to get the engines for Mr. McNamara's TFX wonder plane. Maybe the new Congressional investigation of the TFX will confirm or discount the rumor.

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON -- Former Vice President Nixon is doing a lot more to get the GOP nomination than the public knows about. He's quiet, methodical, efficient. And He's gained a lot of ground.

Nixon's forces recently held a "team meeting." It was held behind closed doors in Washington. Very little leaked out, but this column can now report what happened.

About 20 were expected, but about 40 went to the meeting. It was the first meeting presided over by Henry Bellmon, former Republican governor of Oklahoma, replacing Gaylord Parkinson as chairman of the Nixon forces. Parkinson, whose wife is seriously ill, has returned to California.

Bellmon dropped word that on April 1 he would announce his candidacy against Sen. Mike Monroney, who has long dominated Democratic politics in Oklahoma. Monroney has been a popular and competent senator, but Bellmon seemed to feel that sentiment was swinging toward the Republicans in Oklahoma and that he could win.

John Sears, age 32 and Bellmon's assistant, gave a briefing on political polls, a survey of the press, and listed the press stooges for each of Nixon's Republican rivals.

--YOUNG MEN FOR OLD--

Two members of the executive staffs of Newsweek and Time, and a radio network official said they were attending the Nixon meeting at the risk of their jobs; nevertheless they were out to defeat Johnson and elect Nixon.

The secret diagnosis of Nixon's GOP rivals was given as follows:

1. Gov. Romney of Michigan has "swallowed himself."

2. Gov. Rockefeller of New York has been using Sen. Charles Percy of Illinois as a front. Percy has no chance.

3. Rockefeller has no chance to be nominated, even if he wanted to run. The Republican party simply will not take Rockefeller.

It was agreed that Nixon is the best debater and best qualified to attack Johnson on the credibility gap.

Biggest danger to Nixon, it was decided, is that in the early primaries, especially New Hampshire, supporters of Ronald Reagan would write his name in just as Henry Cabon Lodge was a write-incandidate four years ago. This could take constructive votes away from Nixon, help Romney.

It was also agreed that a major danger to Nixon is the "he can't win" psychology based on the fact that he has been defeated for President and Governor of California.

One important decision made at the meeting was that "old men" should stand aside -- except for raising funds -- and let young men run the Nixon show. To that end, David Sterling, age 27, was appointed manager of Nixon's campaign in the New Hampshire primary. Sterling, absolutely unknown in national politics, is a Yale Law School student from Hillsboro, N. H.

To show what the "old men" could still do, however, several of them pledged to raise around $25,000 each for Nixon's preliminary primary campaign expenses. Most of these pledges came from Californais, among them Maurice Stans, director of the budget under Eisenhower.

It was decided that Nixon would enter all of the early primaries, beginning with New Hampshire and continuing through Wisconsin, Indiana, Oregon and Nebraska.

The most encouraging development was a poll conducted by James C. Cleveland in the second district of New Hampshire which showed Nixon running well ahead.

Out of 3,680 replies from Republicans, Nixon scored 1,242, Rockefeller, 703, Romney 667, Reagan 515.

Among the 2,091 Democrats who replied to the poll, 1,426 were for President Johnson, 315 for Sen. Bobby Kennedy, 149 for ex-Gov. George Wallace of Alabama, 100 for Vice President Humphrey, 72 for Sen. William Fulbright of Arkansas, and 25 for Sen. Teddy Kennedy of Massachusetts.

The meeting closed on a note of "Let's win big with our boy Dick."

--MORSE VS. LBJ--

Two strong men who disagree vigorously on Vietnam but agree on a lot of other things were at the White House last week as the Railroad Arbitration Board brought in its settlement of the railroad-labor dispute. Present were President Johnson, Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz, and members of the board, headed by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore.

The President first called on several of the board members to express their views. Fred Kappel, retired chairman of the giant American Telephone and Telegraph company, had signed the report but wrote some objections. He repeated these objections.

The President then turned to George Meany, President of the AFL-CIO. "George, what do you think?" he said.

"The unions would like to have had more," said Meany. "Sen. Morse has spoken for me. I thought it was a fine agreement."

"You provided us with a great chairman," said Public Representative Ted Khiel, referring to Morse. "He did a great job."

"I'm not surprised," said LBJ. "Will both sides accept it?"

Ex-Sen. Saltonstall of Massachusetts said that he had put this question to both sides, and the answer was no.

"They won't even accept the time of day," said Morse.

At this point the President made an unusual political statement.

"I want you to know that I don't engage im primaries," he said, "but I'm a Morse man."

Undoubtedly the President had in mind the fact that Sen. Morse is up for reelection and faces possibie primary opposition inside the Democratic party by ex-Rep. Bob Duncan, who is strong for the war in Vietnam. Morse is not.

WASHINGTON ECONOMIC ADVISERS ARE POOR PROPHETS

The President's Council of Economic Advisers has tremendous influence over the decisions and policies of our federal government. Each January they issue a prediction for the new year, on which many vital economic decisions and policies for that year are based.

For many years the Council has been dominated by and most of the time entirely made up of Keynesian economists, who believe that government not only can but ought to regularly spend beyond its income. That belief certainly seems strange to most of us. But perhaps the best test of the expertise of these economists is the accuracy of their annual predictions. They have proved to be very poor prophets.

In January 1966 Gardner Ackley, successor to Walter Heller as chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, predicted that residential construction "on balance is likely to change but little." As most people are well aware, the bottom dropped out of the housing construction market later in the year. He predicted that residential construction "on improvement in our balance of payments deficit. There has been none. He predicted improvement in the stability of the British pound, but its base has been further weakened.

Finally, he underestimated inflation by 100% and projected a $1.8 billion federal deficit which instead turned out to be $18.8 billion.

With economic prophets like these, we would do better flipping a coin. At least then the predictions would come out right half of the time. Better yet, the President should secure some economic advisers who reject Keynesian nonsense and understand the value of sound money. HLH

Johnson's Roving Ambassador Arthur Goldberg, Wins Friends And Influences Critical People (For LBJ) in Pivotal New York

New York: -- The view inside the 42nd floor -- the world's highest ambassadorial residence -- was spectacular. On the walls of this Waldorf Towers suite were miniature etchings gently placed by Mrs. Dorothy Goldberg, a sensitive lady and artist who is also the wife of America's ambassador to the United Nations. There were precious bound volums; intimate photos of the almost forgotten Franklin Delano Roosevelts; and President Johnson's favorite bit of sculpture, a bucking bronco who had thrown his cowboy rider.

Immediately the bronze suggested to a visitor that Lyndon Johnson was a roughrider and that the host, Ambassador Arthur Goldberg, was omnipresent, in his fashion, to prevent Mr. Johnson from ever taking a fall.

It was a small party that evening not too many days ago--for a few close friends, namely, the leaders of Americal labor.

George Meany, proud of once having been a plumber, munched a delicate hors d'oeuvre; Dave Sullivan, proud of leading elevator operators and janitors, talked of his mission to Vietnam; David Dubinsky, proud erstwhile cutter of ladies garments, beamed at the full coming of age of American labor. They were all there, the members of the AFL-CIO Executive Council, quietly making history amid the cold shrimp, fine Scotch and quinche Lorraine.

This was the first time an American ambassador had invited labor's high command in its entirety to such a gathering.

Of course there had to be a toast. Someone rumpled the piano keys and the former labor lawyer from Chicago, proud of once having trundled a junk wagon, spoke quietly, softly, good-humoredly -- and historically.

"For three reasons, I'm glad I have come from the labor movement," Goldberg said with what seemed an almost quality as the men of massive power listened to their former counsel. "To come from labor means to know about foreign affairs. You deal with the world now. And I knew how to negotiate. Some diplomats wondered how in three days I could sit and deal with the most sophisticated of them. They should have been in on some of our negotiations.

"And you get to know people if you are in the labor movement."

And "Arthur" knew people. You could see his ease with the men who once had retained him. No awkwardness. No mawkishness. There was the leader of the sprawling United Steelworkers of America, I.W. Abel, whose cause Goldberg had fought fo so strenously against the large steel corporations. Now "Abe," though at the moment only a few of us knew it, was one of "Arthur's" alternates on the UN mission to the upcoming General Assembly. The President had just appointed "Ave," but the announcement was yet to come.

It was a nice touch and no one doubted that "Abe" would fight the steel companies and the White House next summer just as roughly as though he had not been named. But the appointment won't hurt relationships one bit when, this time in '68, the nation faces a national steel walkout as it now faces a series of rolling strikes.

And then "Arthur," with characteristic smile and gesture, wandered over to the toughest fighter of them all, the machinists' Roy Siemiller.

"Roy, why don't you and I alone go on down to the White House and talk to the President," said the Ambassador, eager to patch things up between his two old friends.

"Roy," who has shut down airlines, railroads and armament plants to wih higher wages for his skilled followers, replied with that Herb Shriner twang:

"Okay, Arthur, if it makes YOU happy."

Siemiller meant it. And the others reflected this affection for their former lawyer. They knew they had not been honored by an official reception high in the Waldorf to talk business. And they made small talk. But President Johnson's personal comfort and political strength are an avocation, not a profession, for "Arthur."

The Ambassador wants nothing more than to return to the Supreme Court eventually, and for the moment to lend his bargaining skill to the President now under so much fire on the global front.

And he will, in his fashion. Many a labor man in this state has swung to Gov. Nelson Rockefeller. Many a liberal has been disaffected by the war. And this is a key make-or-break state. Thus, it will not hurt President Johnson when, at the invitation of Dubinsky and the hatters' Alex Rose, the Ambassador takes time out from the deadly General Assembly hours to speak to a Liberal Party gathering on Sept. 28. The party will renominate Lyndon Johnson. It will neutralize the disaffection.

It will neutralize Nelson Rockefeller, perhaps. It will neutralize Sen. Jacob Javits, who must stand for reelection next year.

If it succeeds it will make history since history is making so much of Lyndon Johnson whom these labor leaders truly helped make.

The view from the 42nd floor was spectaclar, indeed.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

AUTUMN, HER GIFTS AND WOUNDS

The Autumnal Equinox begins at 12:33 p.m. on Saturday, Sept. 23.

STONE HARBOR, N.J. -- If April is the cruelest month, as T. S. Eliot would insist, September may be the kindest. September is a relief from the hurts of summer and a preparation for the slings and arrows of winter. On the Atlantic littoral the waters are warmer than in July, although the waves are more vigorous.

Asters frost the fencerows, and sumac berries flame at the roadside. Migratory birds begin forming their sun-clouding southward planes. Maples turn to glory and shed, and the smoke and smell of leaves burning spreads through the suburbs. Children trudge schoolward, and man relaxes.

THIS IS A GOOD SUMMER, to have over, as the U. S. Weather Bureau concedes. Nature gave a little and took a little. After a five-year drought, the Northeast is watersoaked. Great waves of cold air moved south from the Arctic to the Midwest and West this summer. Then planetary winds scooped up the cold air and carried it eastward, where it met the Bermuda high. The warm, moist air went up; the cold air condensed into rain.

Forest fires are vexing the Northwest. Smokejumpers have seen more action this year than ever before. On all state, federal, and private lands, there were 122,500 forest or brush fires in 1966, turning more than 4-1/2 million acres into ash. This year bids to be worse. The third weekend in August was the worst of the year, with hundreds of fires, mostly touched off by lightning, burning in the West.

Summer's weather was unusual, but then all weather is fickle, according to the federal experts. "The atmosphere is always abnormal," says Jerome Namais, chief of the Weather Bureau's Extended Forecast Division.

MOST CURIOUS has been the late start to hurricane activity, usually September's lash. So far we have had only Arlene, Beulah, Chloe and Doria of a string of girls' names for tropical storms and hurricanes that the Weather Bureau this year roguishly extends through Verna and Wallis. Not since 1941 has there been such a delayed start.

The official hurricane season extends from June 15 through Nov. 15, but the brunt usually comes in September. There is a record of only one hurricane (in 1925) as late as Nov. 30. Last year there were 11 tropical storms in the Gulf of Mexico, Carribean, and Southwestern Atlantic. About half reached the 75-mile-an-hour itensity needed to qualify as a hurricane. This year we have had 10 or 11 tropical storms -- well above normal -- on the Pacific side of Mexico and Central America, but only weak activity in the Atlantic.

The Weather Bureau has been experimenting for two decades with dispersing hurricanes by cloud-seeding. A modification in regulations allows a wider range this year. As many as 14 planes will be on standby until Oct. 15 at Roosevelt Roads Naval Air Station, Puerto Rico, and the Jacksonville, Fla., Naval Air Station.

Storms of all kinds, and seismic sea waves, claim 500 to 600 lives a year in the United States, and do $1 billion to $15 billion damage. Hurricanes are major contributors to both tolls. September and autumn are welcome, so long as they leave their windy and willful ladies behind them.

EAGLETON TAKES THE PLUNGE

Democratic organization stalwarts may deplore the prospect of a strong challenge to Senator Long's renomination next year, but the general public has reason to welcome Lt. Gov. Eagleton's decision to become a candidate. Party organizations -- and of course incumbents -- always like to keep things quiet, somnolent and tidy in the primary. It's more comfortable all around, and less of a strain on campaign funds, to hand the incumbent renomination without a struggle, and to concentrate upon re-electing him in the general election.

Lt. Gov. Eagleton, after much soul-searching and listening at the grass roots, has decided not to play the game. He has always been a prime prospect for United States Senator some day, and now rejects the advice of those who want him to wait until some year when he can get the nomination easily. Well, why not? His decision to run will compel Senator Long to give the state good reasons why he should be nominated in preference to a young and very attractive challenger. If the contest results in airing issues that ought to be aired, notably foreign policy and the war in Vietnam, the people can only gain.

There will be plenty of time to choose between the two -- and possibly more -- candidates when the contest has developed. For the present, we think Missourians can welcome the fact that there will be a contest.

THE DECLINE OF HERESY

In an unorthodox age, who can be called a heretic? That, essentially, is the question that a special committee of the Episcopal Church attempted to answer in a recent report. The committee concluded that "Any risks the church may run by fostering a climate of geniune freedom are minor in comparison to the dangers it surely will encounter from any attempt at suppression, censorship or thought control." The triennial general convention of the Episcopal Church, which opens in Seattle on Sunday, Sept. 17, will debate and pass judgment on the report.

Although the Rt. Rev. James A. Pike, former Bishop of California, was not mentioned in the report, it obviously was written with him in mind. Bishop Pike's repudiation of such traditional Christian doctrines as the Virgin Birth and the Trinity prompted the Episcopal House of Bishops to initiate heresy proceedings against him last autumn. The proceedings were halted after adoption of a resolution rejecting the concept of heresy trials, but Bishop Pike insisted on a trial to clear his name. Formation of the special church committee followed. Bishop Pike, now a theologian in residence at the Center for the Study of Democratic Institution, Santa Barbara, Calif., has said he will withdraw his demand for a heresy trial if the Seattle convention approves the committee report.

Bishop Pike's controversial views would certainly have furnished grounds for heresy proceedings in the early days of Christianity. Prior to the Council of Nicaea (325 A.D.), the Christian Church was seriously challenged by pagan and Jewish beliefs which threatened to become blended with the faith. At that time, the punishment of heresy was by reproof or excommunication. In the post-Nicene period heresies became less significant differences in interpretation of Christian doctrine. Nevertheless, the penalties for heresy grew more severe, as during the Spanish Inquisition.

Today, the various Christian faiths are working toward reunification in a single church. The emphasis is on finding common denominators of belief, not on underlining doctrinal differences. Achievement of Christian unity, however, might well lead to formation of an entirely new orthodoxy. Then heresy would again become one of the prime concerns of Christian religious leaders.

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — For "like new" Spider Man comic books and a free baby sitter (if you'll take her to the beach) turn to the boys and girls want ad page in the Yonkers Herald-Statesman.

It's free and it's fun for the young advertisers but the Statesman limits ads to 25 words and a special rules clause keeps parents from using their kids' names to peddle boats, cars, pianos or baby cribs.

The wheeler, dealer teens of the New York City suburb filled six or seven columns a day for two weeks in a mad scramble for part-time jobs, reading swaps and second-hand merchandising.

Billy Wolfe's Sealpoint Siamese had eight "beautiful kittens," which he said he'd let go for just $25 apiece. The kittens are pretty desirable because they were "home raised with a dog."

"If you like," advertized Gail Freddolino, 9, "I would like to sell my two stuffed animals for only $1. They are good stuffed animals."

Also for sale were "a low mileage record player" by Lynne Galant, 14, and a sleeping bag by Ken Johnsson, who insisted: "I never used it. No lie."

Harlene Grossman, 11, was "selling books to suit every cause and every person. The books are in good shape. They just aren't read."

And two samples from that booming comic book trade:

"I am selling 5 Spider Man, 5 Avenger, 1 Little Archie, 1 Green Lantern, 1 Batman, 1 Fantastic Four and 2 Illustrated Classics for $1." Clifford Firstenberg, 11.

"I will trade 12 good giant Dennis the Menace comics for 15 good small Marvel Super Hero comics," Matthew Alderman, 10.

The want ad columns were bursting with "eager" and "enthusiastic" baby sitters. And the need to compete produced some unusual offers.

"Going to the beach! Take me along and I will sit the kids. No charge." Ellen Cohen, 15.

From Mary Buhler, 12, a would-be "mother's helper," came this suasion: "Have general idea help at home with 4 brothers & Sisters. Won't cost you much."

For 25 cents an hour 9-year-old Kathleen O'Keefe "will read to or play with children 1½-5 while mother does housework."

In the classic job-seekers ad, Donald Flynn, 18, wrote: "Responsible youth seeks employment as a Catholic organist or waiter or clerk or counterman or gardener. No experience available."

Richard Barrer, 14, "will pay top dollar for toads, common or foreign." And "if anyone has any radios or any type of electrical or scientific equipment to get rid of," please call Allen Weiner, 13.

The Missouri State Highway Patrol has been selected as a member of the Federal Bureau of Investigation's National Crime Information Center.

The Center is a computerized information system established as a service to all law enforcement agencies -- local, state and federl. Several police agencies throughout the country are members of NCIC.

Information dealing with stolen automobiles, wanted persons, stolen property and other such police information will be transmitted by the member agencies directly into the computer center at the FBI Headquarters in Washington, D. C. The submitted information will then be available to any inquiring police agency in the country. The total transaction time of an inquiry to and response from the Center will be about thirty seconds.

Colonel E. I. (Mike) Hockaday, the Patrol Superintendent, said, "The National Crime Information Center will enable law enforcement agencies throughout the country to check on information Center will enable law enforcement agencies throughout the country to check on information concerning crime and criminals at one location. This will make for more efficient handling and exchange of documented police information."

The Superintendent also stated that additional personnel are needed to operate this system. He said, "We are looking for young men with technical or operational experience in communications to work i this new activity. Those qualified men selected will be in on the beginning of an interesting and important law enforcement communications program."

Colonel Hockaday pointed out that letters of inquiry for these positions should be addressed to the Missouri State Highway Patrol, Division of Communications, Jefferson City, Missouri.

IS IT NOW A PLANE?

Those who make a study of so-called classic cars make much of such famous old gas buggies as the Stutz, the Mercer, the Pierce-Arrow and others of a bygone era. All of them played a significant role in ushering in the age of the automobile.

We submit, however, that the glories of all those old cars fade dimly in comparison with a car of more recent vintage -- the Edsel, sometimes referred to as the Fiasco Eight. From what we have read about it, it was the most carefully conceived car ever built. Not only was the engineering computerized down to the last nut, bolt and knob, it was carefully calculated -- by some Dearborn Whiz Kids, no doubt -- so that it would be irresistible to buyers.

Responsible for this remarkable vehicle was Robert G. McNamara, who now directs our Department of Defense (or is it Disarmanent?). While McNamara made many valuable contributions to his former employer, it is indisputable that the Edsel was his crowning achievement, indeed his monument in the motor world.

So impressed were his fellow officials with the car, or with its creator's arguments in favor of it, that cost became no object. It is estimated that more than a quarter-billion dollars were spent in developing it and getting it on the market.

But it was one thing to get it on the market and something else again to keep it there. For reasons unknown, it evoked no enthusiasm whatsoever from those who ultimately decide the success or failure of any commodity -- the buying public.

Of course if Mr. McNamara had been able to talk to each prospective buyer personally, with all those computerized arguments and a few charts, he might have been able to sell them a bill of goods. But along about this time he was busy with other matters. And then his employers patriotically allowed him to accept a job with the U. S. Government.

What has become of the Edsels that were sold? You occasionally see one in running condition, recognizable by the odd-looking horse-collar radiator. But they're scarce and getting scarcer.

One rumor is that the Defense Department has bought them all up to get the engines for Mr. McNamara's TFX wonder plane. Maybe the new Congressional investigation of the TFX will confirm or discount the rumor.

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON -- Former Vice President Nixon is doing a lot more to get the GOP nomination than the public knows about. He's quiet, methodical, efficient. And He's gained a lot of ground.

Nixon's forces recently held a "team meeting." It was held behind closed doors in Washington. Very little leaked out, but this column can now report what happened.

About 20 were expected, but about 40 went to the meeting. It was the first meeting presided over by Henry Bellmon, former Republican governor of Oklahoma, replacing Gaylord Parkinson as chairman of the Nixon forces. Parkinson, whose wife is seriously ill, has returned to California.

Bellmon dropped word that on April 1 he would announce his candidacy against Sen. Mike Monroney, who has long dominated Democratic politics in Oklahoma. Monroney has been a popular and competent senator, but Bellmon seemed to feel that sentiment was swinging toward the Republicans in Oklahoma and that he could win.

John Sears, age 32 and Bellmon's assistant, gave a briefing on political polls, a survey of the press, and listed the press stooges for each of Nixon's Republican rivals.

--YOUNG MEN FOR OLD--

Two members of the executive staffs of Newsweek and Time, and a radio network official said they were attending the Nixon meeting at the risk of their jobs; nevertheless they were out to defeat Johnson and elect Nixon.

The secret diagnosis of Nixon's GOP rivals was given as follows:

1. Gov. Romney of Michigan has "swallowed himself."

2. Gov. Rockefeller of New York has been using Sen. Charles Percy of Illinois as a front. Percy has no chance.

3. Rockefeller has no chance to be nominated, even if he wanted to run. The Republican party simply will not take Rockefeller.

It was agreed that Nixon is the best debater and best qualified to attack Johnson on the credibility gap.

Biggest danger to Nixon, it was decided, is that in the early primaries, especially New Hampshire, supporters of Ronald Reagan would write his name in just as Henry Cabon Lodge was a write-in candidate four years ago. This could take constructive votes away from Nixon, help Romney.

It was also agreed that a major danger to Nixon is the "he can't win" psychology based on the fact that he has been defeated for President and Governor of California.

One important decision made at the meeting was that "old men" should stand aside -- except for raising funds -- and let young men run the Nixon show. To that end, David Sterling, age 27, was appointed manager of Nixon's campaign in the New Hampshire primary. Sterling, absolutely unknown in national politics, is a Yale Law School student from Hillsboro, N. H.

To show what the "old men" could still do, however, several of them pledged to raise around $25,000 each for Nixon's preliminary primary campaign expenses. Most of these pledges came from Californais, among them Maurice Stans, director of the budget under Eisenhower.

It was decided that Nixon would enter all of the early primaries, beginning with New Hampshire and continuing through Wisconsin, Indiana, Oregon and Nebraska.

The most encouraging development was a poll conducted by James C. Cleveland in the second district of New Hampshire which showed Nixon running well ahead.

Out of 3,680 replies from Republicans, Nixon scored 1,242, Rockefeller, 703, Romney 667, Reagan 515.

Among the 2,091 Democrats who replied to the poll, 1,426 were for President Johnson, 315 for Sen. Bobby Kennedy, 149 for ex-Gov. George Wallace of Alabama, 100 for Vice President Humphrey, 72 for Sen. William Fulbright of Arkansas, and 25 for Sen. Teddy Kennedy of Massachusetts.

The meeting closed on a note of "Let's win big with our boy Dick."

--MORSE VS. LBJ--

Two strong men who disagree vigorously on Vietnam but agree on a lot of other things were at the White House last week as the Railroad Arbitration Board brought in its settlement of the railroad-labor dispute. Present were President Johnson, Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz, and members of the board, headed by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore.

The President first called on several of the board members to express their views. Fred Kappel, retired chairman of the giant American Telephone and Telegraph company, had signed the report but wrote some objections. He repeated these objections.

The President then turned to George Meany, President of the AFL-CIO. "George, what do you think?" he said.

"The unions would like to have had more," said Meany. "Sen. Morse has spoken for me. I thought it was a fine agreement."

"You provided us with a great chairman," said Public Representative Ted Khiel, referring to Morse. "He did a great job."

"I'm not surprised," said LBJ. "Will both sides accept it?"

Ex-Sen. Saltonstall of Massachusetts said that he had put this question to both sides, and the answer was no.

"They won't even accept the time of day," said Morse.

At this point the President made an unusual political statement.

"I want you to know that I don't engage im primaries," he said, "but I'm a Morse man."

Undoubtedly the President had in mind the fact that Sen. Morse is up for reelection and faces possible primary opposition inside the Democratic party by ex-Rep. Bob Duncan, who is strong for the war in Vietnam. Morse is not.

New York: -- The view inside the 42nd floor -- the world's highest ambassadorial residence -- was spectacular. On the walls of this Waldorf Towers suite were miniature etchings gently placed by Mrs. Dorothy Goldberg, a sensitive lady and artist who is also the wife of America's ambassador to the United Nations. There were precious bound volums; intimate photos of the almost forgotten Franklin Delano Roosevelts; and President Johnson's favorite bit of sculpture, a bucking bronco who had thrown his cowboy rider.

Immediately the bronze suggested to a visitor that Lyndon Johnson was a roughrider and that the host, Ambassador Arthur Goldberg, was omnipresent, in his fashion, to prevent Mr. Johnson from ever taking a fall.

It was a small party that evening not too many days ago--for a few close friends, namely, the leaders of Americal labor.

George Meany, proud of once having been a plumber, munched a delicate hors d'oeuvre; Dave Sullivan, proud of leading elevator operators and janitors, talked of his mission to Vietnam; David Dubinsky, proud erstwhile cutter of ladies garments, beamed at the full coming of age of American labor. They were all there, the members of the AFL-CIO Executive Council, quietly making history amid the cold shrimp, fine Scotch and quinche Lorraine.

This was the first time an American ambassador had invited labor's high command in its entirety to such a gathering.

Of course there had to be a toast. Someone rumpled the piano keys and the former labor lawyer from Chicago, proud of once having trundled a junk wagon, spoke quietly, softly, good-humoredly -- and historically.

"For three reasons, I'm glad I have come from the labor movement," Goldberg said with what seemed an almost quality as the men of massive power listened to their former counsel. "To come from labor means to know about foreign affairs. You deal with the world now. And I knew how to negotiate. Some diplomats wondered how in three days I could sit and deal with the most sophisticated of them. They should have been in on some of our negotiations.

"And you get to know people if you are in the labor movement."

And "Arthur" knew people. You could see his ease with the men who once had retained him. No awkwardness. No mawkishness. There was the leader of the sprawling United Steelworkers of America, I.W. Abel, whose cause Goldberg had fought fo so strenously against the large steel corporations. Now "Abe," though at the moment only a few of us knew it, was one of "Arthur's" alternates on the UN mission to the upcoming General Assembly. The President had just appointed "Ave," but the announcement was yet to come.

It was a nice touch and no one doubted that "Abe" would fight the steel companies and the White House next summer just as roughly as though he had not been named. But the appointment won't hurt relationships one bit when, this time in '68, the nation faces a national steel walkout as it now faces a series of rolling strikes.

And then "Arthur," with characteristic smile and gesture, wandered over to the toughest fighter of them all, the machinists' Roy Siemiller.

"Roy, why don't you and I alone go on down to the White House and talk to the President," said the Ambassador, eager to patch things up between his two old friends.

"Roy," who has shut down airlines, railroads and armament plants to wih higher wages for his skilled followers, replied with that Herb Shriner twang:

"Okay, Arthur, if it makes YOU happy."

Siemiller meant it. And the others reflected this affection for their former lawyer. They knew they had not been honored by an official reception high in the Waldorf to talk business. And they made small talk. But President Johnson's personal comfort and political strength are an avocation, not a profession, for "Arthur."

The Ambassador wants nothing more than to return to the Supreme Court eventually, and for the moment to lend his bargaining skill to the President now under so much fire on the global front.

And he will, in his fashion. Many a labor man in this state has swung to Gov. Nelson Rockefeller. Many a liberal has been disaffected by the war. And this is a key make-or-break state. Thus, it will not hurt President Johnson when, at the invitation of Dubinsky and the hatters' Alex Rose, the Ambassador takes time out from the deadly General Assembly hours to speak to a Liberal Party gathering on Sept. 28. The party will renominate Lyndon Johnson. It will neutralize the disaffection.

It will neutralize Nelson Rockefeller, perhaps. It will neutralize Sen. Jacob Javits, who must stand for reelection next year.

If it succeeds it will make history since history is making so much of Lyndon Johnson whom these labor leaders truly helped make.

The view from the 42nd floor was spectaclar, indeed.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Eugene Hale

Miss Joy Ann Craig Says Vows With Ronald E. Hale

DEXTER--Southwest Church of the Nazarene was the setting Sept. 2 for the wedding of Miss Joy Ann Craig and Ronald Eugene Hale, route two, Farmington.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Craig, route two, Dexter. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. William C. Hale, route two, Farmington.

The Rev. Edwin Abla performed the double ring ceremony at 2 p.m.

The church was decorated with a 15 branch candelabra, two potted plams and a kneeling bench.

Mrs. Edwin Abla, organist, accompained soloist Gene Hinze, who sang "Through the Years," "Whether Thou Goest" and "The Wedding Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the former Miss Craig wore a summer white peau de soie gown. The bodice featured a rounded neckline and sleeves that ended above her wrists. Satin cording trimmed the sleeves and neck. A pleat on each side of the front skirt formed a semi-fullness. A train was attached with a bow above the back waistline.

The bride wore a tiara securing a three tiered fingertip veil. She carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations.

Miss Sharon Peacher of Columbia, the bride's cousin, was maid of honor. Another cousin, Miss Shirley Dampf of Florissant, was bridesmaid. Marsha Abla of Dexter was flower girl. Candlelighters were Phyllis Peacher of Columbia, the bride's cousin, and Loretta Craig of Dexter, the bride's sister.

The maid of honor and bridesmaid wore pastel blue brocade gowns. The floor-length skirts were bell shaped. The bodices were fashioned with rounded necklines and short sleeves. The candlelighters wore street length gowns. Attendants carried bouquets of white tipped in blue carnations. Candlelighters wore corsages of blue tipped white carnations.

Eugene Dement of Farmington was best man. Darrell Hale of Farmington, the groom's brother, was groomsman. Ringbearer was Danny Craig, the bride's brother.

The bride's mother wore a dark blue fitted shantung dress, black patent accerories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Mrs. Hale wore a dark blue jersey knit sheath fashioned with short sleeves. She wore black accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

The reception was held in the Brown fellowship center of the church. The bride's table was covered with a white cloth and overlaid with lace. A three tiered cake decorated with white and blue bells and birds appointed the table. The room was decorated with blue and white crepe paper and wedding bells.

Serving at the reception were Mrs. Lynda Bowman, Miss Jacque Harper and Miss Jo Ann Dowdy, all of Dexter.

The couple traveled through Arkansas on their wedding trip. The new Mrs. Hale wore a blue and red plaid two-piece suit and red accessories.

They are now at home on route eight, Columbia. Mrs. Hale attended the University of Missouri and is employed in the state probation and parole office in Columbia. Hale is a senior at the university.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Peacher, Mrs. Josie Craig, all of Columbia; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Dampf, Florissant; David Hildreth, Carthage; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tiberghien, Jefferson City; Mr. and Mrs. Dines Hale, Glen Carbon, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. William Graham, Mrs. A. J. Gordon, all of Framington.

Couple Married 40 Years

ORAN -- Mr. and Mrs. James Maddox celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary at an open house in their home on Sunday from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Maddox was born and reared in Oran while Mrs. Maddox, the former Miss Marie Hibner, was reared at Chaffee. They were married by her grandfather, the late Rev. A. H. Broens at East Alton, Ill., Sept. 17, 1927. Their witnesses were her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Paul B. Cleland.

They have three children: a daughter, Mrs. N. A. Hass of San Bernadino, Calif., two sons, James "Buddy" Maddox of Belleville, Ill. and Edward Maddox of Waterloo, Ill. They have six grandchildren.

Maddox is a retired employee of American Telephone and Telegraph Company of St. Louis. They are both members of Trinity Methodist church and are active in its activities. He is a church lay leader, a member of Morley Masonic Lodge no. 184 and both are members of Morley Order of Eastern Star no. 342 and Calvary Shrine no. 8 of Cape Girardeau.

Guests were served cake and punch from the serving table centered with a sweetheart cake with the names "James" and "Marie" on each. Among gifts received were several pieces of ruby red glassware.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Louis Matthews and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Smith, Morley; Lawrence Westcoat, Kewanee; Mr. and Mrs. James Curd, Advance; Mrs. W. H. Cunningham, Mrs. Elsie Adams, Mrs. Esther Ryans, Charles Cunningham and Tom Ancell, Chaffee; Mr. and Mrs. Chester Frobase, Mrs. Vera Miller and Mrs. Harry Swinger, Benton.

Mrs. Paul B. Cleland and son Jim and Robert Bramdstadt of Mascoutah, Ill. surprised her sister and husband with a visit before noon and spent the day.

Barbara Gale McIlroy Bride of Jerry Kay Keene

EAST PRAIRIE--Miss Barbara Gale McIlroy and Jerry Kay Keene were married Sept. 2 in the Christian church.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Sue McIlroy, Ruth street, and the late P. C. McIlroy. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Keene, Sr., Johnston City, Ill.

The Rev. Don Woodstock officiated at the ceremony. Baskets of roses and gladioli on white pedestals decorated the church.

Organist Marilyn Glenn provided the nuptial music.

The former Miss McIlroy wore a fitted sheath of white satin under white lace cage that featured long sleeves. A wedding band headpiece held a bouffant veil of bridal illusion. She carried a white orchid atop a white Bible.

Miss Brenda McTigue of East Prairie, the bride's niece, was maid of honor. She wore a yellow fitted sheath with a cage of yellow chiffon styled identically to the bride's dress. She wore a nosetip veil attached to a cornet.

Bobby McTigue, the bride's nephew, was best man. Monty McTigue, another nephew, was usher.

Debbie Pemberton, the bride's niece, was in charge of the guest book.

A reception was held at the bride's mother's home. The bride's table was centered with glowing tapers in silver holders and a wedding cake topped with a miniature bridal couple. Serving at the reception were Mrs. Carolyn Hooten, the bride's sister, and Mrs. Darceen Malone.

The bride's mother wore a two piece blue and white dress and a corsage of white carnations.

The couple spent the weekend in Cape Girardeau. For travel, the new Mrs. Keene wore a three piece blue and white knie suit.

The couple is living on Star Route, East Prairie. Mrs. Keene is a 1966 graduate of East Prairie high school. She is employed with Mississippi County Savings and Loan Association.

Keene is a 1964 graduate of East Prairie high school and is employed by McTigue and Parker Construction Company.

Carlton Loses But Sets Bird Record

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Three day wait and a driving rainstorm had little dampening effect on some 1,000 fans who turned out early today to greet the National League pennant winning St. Louis Cardinals.

The Cards wrapped up the title Monday in Philadelphia and the players celebrated immediately after the game and the fans back home had to wait to show their approval.

The crowd overflowed the west concourse of the terminal chanting, "We want Cha Cha," until slugging first baseman Orlando Cepeda appeared. A group of six policemen had to convoy Cepeda through the crowd while fans grabbed at him, hugged him and slapped him on the back.

Cardinal Manager Red Schendienst was the first man off the plane and he held an impromptu news conference with reporters in the rain.

The "Red Head" shrugged off all questions about the American League race. He said he didn't care who won as long as somebody wins without a playoff.

Cepeda was unconcerned about a playoff. As he pushed his way through the crowd he said, "I don't think any team can beat us. The rest wouldn't hurt us."

A 3-1 loss Wednesday night to the Phillies may have blunted some of the Cardinals enthusiasm. Steve Carlton struck out 16, but walked three and allowed eight hits in suffering his ninth defeat. He has won 14.

The Phillies Cookie Rojas had a hand in all of the Phillie scoring. The first run came in the third on singles by Bobby Wine, Rojas and Tony Taylor. In the fourth, Gene Oliver doubled and Rojas singled again, driving in what proved to be the winning run. Rojas doubled in the seventh, went to third on a wild pitch and scored on a sacrifice fly.

Ed Spiezo's fourth inning homer was the only effective Cardinal offense as the Phillies Chris Short allowed only three other hits, struck out nine and walked only one.

St. Louis plays Atlanta in Busch Memorial Stadium. Ray Washburn will be on the mound for the Cards and Ron Reed for the Braves.

BATTING — Carl Yastrzemski, Red Sox, had four hits, including his 41st homer and scored the winning run as Boston edged Cleveland 5-4.

PITCHING — Joe Sparma, Tigers, held New York to seven hits as Detroit bombed the Yankees 10-1.

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — A. J. Foyt, top money-winner in auto racing this year, Wednesday entered the National 500-mile race at Charlotte Motor Speedway which will be held Oct. 15.

Rain...Rain...Go Away...Please!

Area prep grid football teams take to the field again tomorrow night and are faced with another rain slick turf. Drenching rain showers covered the area Wednesday with amounts from one inch to four in some places.

Eight games are featured on tonight's tab with conference clashes in six meetings. Conference teams in both the north and south divisions get into action.

All teams, with the exception of Cape Girardeau and Malden, will face conference foes. Central takes on its second out-of-state foe in two weeks, the Mayfield, Ky., Cardinals are the Tigers prey. Malden deets Gideon.

Caruthersville in the southern division and Poplar Bluff in the norther opened up defense of their conference titles last week with rousing victories. The Tigers bumped off their arch-rival Hayti, who held half of last season's southern title and the Mules kicked Kennett into last place in the northern standings.

This week's top southern conference contest shapes up at Dexter, where the divisions top two teams meet in a battle for sole possession. Caruthersville opened its season last week with a 20-0 romp over Hayti and Dexter posted a conference win with a 14-12 triumph at Portageville.

Both Caruthersville and Dexter were in the shadows of Malden in the pre-season polls. The Wave had its trouble at Jackson last week and have fallen into fourth place in conference standings with no record against conference foes but 1-1 overall.

The Waves go into Friday night's game at home against Gideon without the services of all-conference signal caller Scott Norrid, who will return to action against Caruthersville. He is suffering from bruises above the kidneys sustained in last Friday's game at Jackson.

In the only other Southern division contest, Chaffee will be at home entertaining Portageville.

Sikeston and Poplar Bluff got the jump on northern division foes last week with the Mules trimming Kennet, 27 to 6, and the Bulldogs nudging Perryville's Pirates, 20 to 14.

The northern conference game of the week will find Sikeston's 2-0 Bulldogs clashing with arch-rival Charleston 2-0 on the Blue Jays home field.

Coach Herbert Marshall's Jays have yet to be scored upon this season in its first two outings and have scored 69 points and the aerial antics of Charlie Babb seem to be the Jays strong point.

The Mules will seek their 17th straight win at Perryville tomorrow night.

Cape Central will be featured in the top game outside conference action as the Tigers meet Kentucky's seventh ranked team.

East Prairie will seek its first season victory as it plays host to Hayti in a southern conference meeting.

The Schedule:

Poplar Bluff at Perryville*
Sikeston at Charleston*
Jackson at Kennett*
Cape Central at Mayfield, Ky.
Hayti at East Prairie*
Caruthersville at Dexter*
Portageville at Chaffee*
Gideon at Malden

Goose Hunting Regulation

JEFFERSON CITY - An important feature for the goose hunter in Missouri is that geese may not be transported except as the personal baggage of the hunter who killed them. This is a new regulation.

Therefore, even though the hunter who killed the geese may legally give them to a friend--up to the friend's possession limit, of course---the friend may not take them home. The hunter who killed the geese is the only person authorized to transport them. And he may not send them by mail, or express, or by any other method. He must take them himself.

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Bobby Fisher, the American chess champion from New York, said today he will play in the interzonal tournament for the world championship which begins Oct. 16 in Tunis.

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP) — Del Insko, harness racing driver from South Beloit, Ill., scored with Constant Byrd in the ninth race at Roosevelt Raceway Tuesday night for his 200th victory of the season.

CHICAGO (AP) — Craig Perret, a 16-year-old apprentice jockey from New Orleans, nrode five winners at the Hawthorne race track Wednesday.

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yacht Club received Wednesday a French challenge for a series of races in 1970 for the America's Cup.

As a service to area high schools. . . The Daily Standard sports department will help schools in obtaining games in any sport and officials.

Any coach interested in this service may call collect. . . . GR 1- 1137.

The Standard will run a column each week in which each school's needs will be included.

NEW YORK (AP) — Jockey Braulio Baeza rode the winner of the first race, Irish Chief, at Aqueduct Wednesday, then flew to Atlantic City where he brought in Assagai second to Flit-To in the $100,000 United Nations Handicap.

FAYETTE, Mo. (AP) — Volney Ashford, longtime football coach at Missouri Valley College, is reported doing well in Keller Memorial Hospital here.

Ashford suffered a heart attack during a team scrimmage nearly two weeks ago.

SEMO Area Boasts Six Undefeated Teams

Only six teams remain undefeated in this week's Southeast Missouri High School standings, four in the northern conference and two in the southern. Undefeated football teams take their unblemished records into tomorrow night's third week of action.

Poplar Bluff and Sikeston are 1-0 in conference play while the other two northern division undefeated teams have yet to play a conference game.

The defending northern champs, Poplar Bluff, has racked up 73 points in its two early season victories while yielding six markers. Sikeston has tallied 48 points while giving up 14.

Charleston, one of two unscored upon teams in Southeast Missouri is second in total scoring with 69 points. Caruthersville is the other unscored upon team in the district, having played one game and tallying 20 points. Charleston has conquered two challengers so far this season.

Cape Girardeau Central has allowed their opponents only seven points and holds a 2-0 mark.

Dexter is leading the southern conference with a 2-0 overall won-loss record and a 1-0 slate in conference action.

Kennett, Jackson and East Prairie are the only conference teams yet to win a game. All three are 0-2 with Kennett and East Prairie suffering one loss each in conference play.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Boxing promoter George Parnassus said Tuesday night that Ernie Terrell will fight Manuel Ramos here Oct. 14 as part of the card on which Vicente Saldivar will defend his world featherweight title against Howard Winstone.

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Lions reactivated end Gail Cogdill, leading pass receiver in Lions' history, and said Wednesday he would be available for Sunday's National Football League game with the Cleveland Browns.

Carlton Loses But Sets Bird Record

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Three day wait and a driving rainstorm had little dampening effect on some 1,000 fans who turned out early today to greet the National League pennant winning St. Louis Cardinals.

The Cards wrapped up the title Monday in Philadelphia and the players celebrated immediately after the game and the fans back home had to wait to show their approval.

The crowd overflowed the west concourse of the terminal chanting, "We want Cha Cha," until slugging first baseman Orlando Cepeda appeared. A group of six policemen had to convoy Cepeda through the crowd while fans grabbed at him, hugged him and slapped him on the back.

Cardinal Manager Red Schendienst was the first man off the plane and he held an impromptu news conference with reporters in the rain.

The "Red Head" shrugged off all questions about the American League race. He said he didn't care who won as long as somebody wins without a playoff.

Cepeda was unconcerned about a playoff. As he pushed his way through the crowd he said, "I don't think any team can beat us. The rest wouldn't hurt us."

A 3-1 loss Wednesday night to the Phillies may have blunted some of the Cardinals enthusiasm. Steve Carlton struck out 16, but walked three and allowed eight hits in suffering his ninth defeat. He has won 14.

The Phillies Cookie Rojas had a hand in all of the Phillie scoring. The first run came in the third on singles by Bobby Wine, Rojas and Tony Taylor. In the fourth, Gene Oliver doubled and Rojas singled again, driving in what proved to be the winning run. Rojas doubled in the seventh, went to third on a wild pitch and scored on a sacrifice fly.

Ed Spiezo's fourth inning homer was the only effective Cardinal offense as the Phillies Chris Short allowed only three other hits, struck out nine and walked only one.

St. Louis plays Atlanta in Busch Memorial Stadium. Ray Washburn will be on the mound for the Cards and Ron Reed for the Braves.

Five Teachers Employed by Three Rivers

POPLAR BLUFF — Five faculty members have been employed by Three Rivers Junior College.

The new faculty members are part-time employees. They are: Mrs. Noemy Jibben of Dexter, instructor of English. Mrs. Jibben possesses the bachelor of science and master of science degrees from Northeast Missouri State Teachers College at Kirksville.

Richard Minetree, Poplar Bluff, instructor in English. Minetree, teacher in Poplar Bluff high school, received the bachelor of arts degree from Westminster College, Fulton, and the master of arts from Columbia University in New York.

Mrs. Lena Hughes, Poplar Bluff high school English teacher, has earned the bachelor of science and master of science degrees from Arkansas State University at Jonesboro. She will teach English.

Phillip H. Brown, associate professor of social science, Southeast Missouri State College, Cape Girardeau, received the bachelor of arts degree from the University of Missouri at Columbia and the master of business administration degree from Harvard University. He will teach economics.

Goose Hunting Regulation

JEFFERSON CITY - An important feature for the goose hunter in Missouri is that geese may not be transported except as the personal baggage of the hunter who killed them. This is a new regulation.

Therefore, even though the hunter who killed the geese may legally give them to a friend--up to the friend's possession limit, of course---the friend may not take them home. The hunter who killed the geese is the only person authorized to transport them. And he may not send them by mail, or express, or by any other method. He must take them himself.

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Bobby Fisher, the American chess champion from New York, said today he will play in the interzonal tournament for the world championship which begins Oct. 16 in Tunis.

SEMO Area Boasts Six Undefeated Teams

Only six teams remain undefeated in this week's Southeast Missouri High School standings, four in the northern conference and two in the southern. Undefeated football teams take their unblemished records into tomorrow night's third week of action.

Poplar Bluff and Sikeston are 1-0 in conference play while the other two northern division undefeated teams have yet to play a conference game.

The defending northern champs, Poplar Bluff, has racked up 73 points in its two early season victories while yielding six markers. Sikeston has tallied 48 points while giving up 14.

Charleston, one of two unscored upon teams in Southeast Missouri is second in total scoring with 69 points. Caruthersville is the other unscored upon team in the district, having played one game and tallying 20 points. Charleston has conquered two challengers so far this season.

Cape Girardeau Central has allowed their opponents only seven points and holds a 2-0 mark.

Dexter is leading the southern conference with a 2-0 overall won-loss record and a 1-0 slate in conference action.

Kennett, Jackson and East Prairie are the only conference teams yet to win a game. All three are 0-2 with Kennett and East Prairie suffering one loss each in conference play.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Boxing promoter George Parnassus said Tuesday night that Ernie Terrell will fight Manuel Ramos here Oct. 14 as part of the card on which Vicente Saldivar will defend his world featherweight title against Howard Winstone.

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Lions reactivated end Gail Cogdill, leading pass receiver in Lions' history, and said Wednesday he would be available for Sunday's National Football League game with the Cleveland Browns.

The 1968 Ford offers unexcelled luxury in its field with the LTD two-door hardtop (above). The strikingly different XL GT fastback (below) creates a sporty new dimension for Ford. Both models feature a full-width, air-scoop-type grille with headlights concealed behind retractable doors when not in use.

1968 FORD

The 1968 Ford, substantially altered in appearance, offers something for every car buyer. The lineup includes three more models than in 1967, a host of new mechanical and safety features, and two new engine options.

With the 1968 Ford, "we feel we are better equipped than ever to go after a substantial share of both low and medium price markets," said M. S. (Matt) McLaughlin, Ford Motor Company vice president and Ford Division general manager.

"Our LTD and XL series match the medium-price cars in luxury and comfort, while our Galaxie 500 and Custom 500 models continue to offer the low-price car buyer the type of transportation he seeks."

The addition of a Galaxie 500 two-door hardtop with a formal roof line and two Custom 500 Ranch Wagons brings the total of 1968 Ford models to 21. One of the wagons is a six-passenger model; the other, a 10-passenger with dual facing rear seats.

New sheet metal below the window line gives the new Ford a longer, lower profile. Three separate roof treatments distinguish the hardtop models, which include a new fastback version of the XL and Galaxie 500. The new die-cast grille in the LTD, XL and Country Squire models has horizontal headlights with retractable doors.

Ford Motor Company's Improved Combustion System is standard on all models equipped with the Cruise-O-Matic transmission. Ford's Thermactor Emission Control System is standard on all models equipped with a manual transmission. Both systems are designed to reduce the emission of hydrocarbons and carbon monixide in the engine exhaust.

A 302-cubic-inch V-8 engine replaces the 289 as the basic V-8 engine in the Ford line. The high performance powerplant is a hydraulic valve version of Ford's famous 427-cubic-inch engine, rated at 390 horsepower, which is available only with a Cruise-O-Matic transmission.

Safety features on all 1968 Fords include a new energy-absorbing steering column that compresses under heavy impacts; a redesigned instrument panel offering improved injury protection; a dual, hydraulic brake system, and squeeze-type inside door handles.

A number of new options are available for Ford buyers in 1968, including an AM-FM Stereo Radio that produces true stereophonic sound through two front-door-mounted speakers. An automatic loadleveler and a rear-window defogger have appeal for the driver who seeks maximum comfort and convenience.

Available on all Ford models are Ford's new disc-rear drum, power-assisted brakes which provide improved cooling characteristics and better braking action.

All Ford models will be on display in dealer showrooms September 22.

STYLING

A new grille, new sheet metal below the window line and redesigned roof areas on all hardtop models give the 1968 Ford an impressive new look for 1968.

The forward-thrusting front fenders have sculptured windsplits along the sides that follow the curved contour of the body profile. A slight dip in the door area provides overall styling continuity.

Each series has ornamentation and distinctive identifcation features. Custom 500 models have a thin spear molding running the full length of the body side. The Galaxie 500 has a bright rocker panel molding joining the bright frames around the wheel openings.

XL and LTD models have wide rocker panel moldings with fender and quarter panel extensions joined by wheel lip moldings. Vinyl tape stripes above the rocker panel distinguish the XL models. LTD models have contrasting paint pinstripes extending the full-length of the body.

Imparting a new look to the hardtops are the rooflines. The fastback has more sweep to its rear window and new ridges at the window's sides for a sporty look. Both the formal two-door and the four-door hardtop models have wider rear roof pillars and less slant to the rear window. Both versions offer a vinyl roof option.

At the front, the new grille sweeps forward at the sides to join the thrusting fenders and create a scoop effect. A deep-sectioned, one-piece bumper enhances the look of luxury. XL, LTD and Country Squiare models featured a special die-cast grille. Retractable headlamp doors extend the grille pattern to the full width of the car. A vacuum motor activiated by the light switch opens the doors automatically.

Interiors of all Ford models have been restyled. The XL has new, wider foam-padded bucket seats with a standard center console. LTD models have a new, luxury Brogham, all-cloth trim option. Wall-to-wall nylon carpeting is standard on LTD models. Other models have nylon-rayon carpeting.

A deeply recessed instrument panel puts all controls and instrumentation directly in front of the driver. The entire panel is covered with force-distributing padding devoid of sharp edges. The instrument panel padding, windshield wiper arms and blades, and many other items in the driver's field of vision have low gloss surfaces.

POWER TEAMS

Two new V-8 engines join the line-up of powerplants available in the 1968 Ford-a 302-cubic-inch engine that is standard in the LTD and Squire models, and a high performance, hydraulic valve lifter 427-cubic-inch engine.

Optional on other Ford models, the 302 in the newest branch on the 289 family tree. Although the bore of the cylinders remains the same, the increased displacement results from longer cylinders which accommodate an increased stroke.

Equipped with a two-barrel carburetor, the 302 produces 210 horsepower at 4,600 rpm. The four-barrel version produces 230 horsepower at 4,800 rpm. The 427 engine offered in 1968 differs from earlier versions in that it has hydraulic rather than mechanical valve lifters for quieter operation and reduced maintenance requirements.

The 240-cubic-inch engine remains standard in all six-cylinder Fords except the LTD and Squire models. Available again in 1968 are two- and four-barrel versions of the 390-cubic-inch V-8 and a four-barrel 428-cubic-inch V-8.

The fully synchronized, three-speed manual transmission is standard on all models. The popular Select Shift Cruise-O-Matic transmission is available as an option on all models. A four-speed manual transmission is available with the four-barrel 390 and 428 engines.

SAFETY FEATURES

All 1968 Fords are equipped with safety features ranging from a redesignes steering wheel and column to squeeze-type interior door handles.

The two-spoke wheel and fully padded hub deform under impact conditions while the force builds up to overcome the initial inertial load of the new collapsible column. The lower end of the column has an outer bellows-like section of metal covered with a specially treated plastic. The shifting and steering shafts consist of two sections each, one slightly smaller in diameter. The two sections are held together by a plastic material and telescope one into the other. In impact situations, the outer bellows and telescoping shafts permit the columns to compress as much as eight inches.

The interiors of all Ford Division products have been redesigned for 1968. A squeeze-type door handle is recessed within the arm rest for added protection against accidental opening and injury through side impacts.

Coat hooks are of a new, broader, softer construction. All exposed knobs are more rounded and window controls are flatter. Even ash tray placement has been safety designed.

The instrument panel area on all models has been designed for improved impact protection. Controls and instruments are safety designed. The panel itself is designed to absorb impact energy. Force-distributing foam on the top and on the top facing edge is covered with low-gloss vinyl to minimize reflection.

Retained from the safety features introduced in 1967 are such items as the dual hydraulic brake system, emergency flashers, lane changing signal, padded windshield pillars and two-speed windshield wipers and windshield washers. Following is a complete list of safety features on all 1968 Ford Division products:

OTHER FEATURES

Ford's optional AM-FM stereo radio produces true stereophonic sound through two front - door mounted speakers. The fully transistorized radio has five pushbuttons that may be pre-set for a selection of 10 stations -- five AM and five FM. A stereophonic tape system is available with pushbutton AM radio.

New for 1968 is the automatic load leveler system that maintains a level car attitude regardless of load. As the load is increased the system automatically increases air pressure in heavy duty rubber air cylinders fitted inside the rear coil springs.

Ford's optional rear window defogger is designed to remove annoying condensation by directing a stream of air across the inside surface of the glass.

An optional tilt steering allows the driver to move the wheel to any of seven driving positions forward on the turn signal lever. Available again in 1968 are such Ford features as the two - way tailgate for station wagons, the optional fingertip speed control system and six-way power seats.

The city slicker, arrested on a charge of speeding, vehemently denied his guilt, while the rural justice of the peace absently thumbed through a large volume on his desk.

"Guilty!" the official suddenly interrupted, slamming the book closed. "An $18.90 fine!"

While the accused was paying his fine he got a good look at the book the judge had been consulting. It was a mail-order catalog!

"So that's the way you decide your fines!" he angrily exclaimed. "From a mail-order catalog!"

"Yep," confirmed the court clerk, "and you're mighty lucky he had it open at wheelbarrows. Yesterday he was looking at automobiles!"

Annual Clash Saturday; Ole Miss At Memphis

MEMPHIS -- Memphis State and Ole Miss uncork the 1967 football season Saturday night at Memorial Stadium. A sellout crowd of 50,160 -- the fifth straight capacity audience to witness this match -- will gather for the 7:30 p.m. kickoff.

Both clubs appear primed and ready for the 22nd meeting of this series. The Tigers and Rebels came off the 1966 season with splendid records and both have a arge number of returning starters.

Memphis State finished 7-2 a year ago and one of its losses was to the Rebs, 13-0. Ole Miss was 8-2 over the regular season.

Both teams are so loaded with veterans that only a handful of rookied have been able to crack the lineups. Each will start nine seniors on its offensive unit.

The quarterbacks Terry Padgett of Memphis State and Bruce Newell of Ole Miss -- are both seniors and tested veterans. Newell spurred the Rebs to a brilliant finish of six straight victories in '66.

Padgett, a former fullback and linebacker, had his baptism at quarterback in this game a year ago. He became an excellent trigerman and Tiger fans are looking for the stocky 200-pounder to have a big year in 1967.

Rookies have manager to crack the defensive units of both clubs -- Ole Miss has three sophomores and Memphis State one -- but each is expected to have another rugged defense. The Rebs have gone to a six-man line that contains such able veterans as end Jerry Richardson, tackle Jim Uebanek and guard Dan Sartin.

With the exception of left end and middle guard the Memphis State defense returns intact and will be led by tackle Francis Winkler, end Alex Dees, linebacker Joe Rushing and monster Bill McRight.

1968 FORD

The 1968 Ford, substantially altered in appearance, offers something for every car buyer. The lineup includes three more models than in 1967, a host of new mechanical and safety features, and two new engine options.

With the 1968 Ford, "we feel we are better equipped than ever to go after a substantial share of both low and medium price markets," said M. S. (Matt) McLaughlin, Ford Motor Company vice president and Ford Division general manager.

"Our LTD and XL series match the medium-price cars in luxury and comfort, while our Galaxie 500 and Custom 500 models continue to offer the low-price car buyer the type of transportation he seeks."

The addition of a Galaxie 500 two-door hardtop with a formal roof line and two Custom 500 Ranch Wagons brings the total of 1968 Ford models to 21. One of the wagons is a six-passenger model; the other, a 10-passenger with dual facing rear seats.

New sheet metal below the window line gives the new Ford a longer, lower profile. Three separate roof treatments distinguish the hardtop models, which include a new fastback version of the XL and Galaxie 500. The new die-cast grille in the LTD, XL and Country Squire models has horizontal headlights with retractable doors.

Ford Motor Company's Improved Combustion System is standard on all models equipped with the Cruise-O-Matic transmission. Ford's Thermactor Emission Control System is standard on all models equipped with a manual transmission. Both systems are designed to reduce the emission of hydrocarbons and carbon monixide in the engine exhaust.

A 302-cubic-inch V-8 engine replaces the 289 as the basic V-8 engine in the Ford line. The high performance powerplant is a hydraulic valve version of Ford's famous 427-cubic-inch engine, rated at 390 horsepower, which is available only with a Cruise-O-Matic transmission.

Safety features on all 1968 Fords include a new energy-absorbing steering column that compresses under heavy impacts; a redesigned instrument panel offering improved injury protection; a dual, hydraulic brake system, and squeeze-type inside door handles.

A number of new options are available for Ford buyers in 1968, including an AM-FM Stereo Radio that produces true stereophonic sound through two front-door-mounted speakers. An automatic load leveler and a rear-window defogger have appeal for the driver who seeks maximum comfort and convenience.

Available on all Ford models are Ford's new disc-rear drum, power-assisted brakes which provide improved cooling characteristics and better braking action.

All Ford models will be on display in dealer showrooms September 22.

STYLING

A new grille, new sheet metal below the window line and redesigned roof areas on all hardtop models give the 1968 Ford an impressive new look for 1968.

The forward-thrusting front fenders have sculptured windsplits along the sides that follow the curved contour of the body profile. A slight dip in the door area provides overall styling continuity.

Each series has ornamentation and distinctive identifcation features. Custom 500 models have a thin spear molding running the full length of the body side. The Galaxie 500 has a bright rocker panel molding joining the bright frames around the wheel openings.

XL and LTD models have wide rocker panel moldings with fender and quarter panel extensions joined by wheel lip moldings. Vinyl tape stripes above the rocker panel distinguish the XL models. LTD models have contrasting paint pinstripes extending the full-length of the body.

Imparting a new look to the hardtops are the rooflines. The fastback has more sweep to its rear window and new ridges at the window's sides for a sporty look. Both the formal two-door and the four-door hardtop models have wider rear roof pillars and less slant to the rear window. Both versions offer a vinyl roof option.

At the front, the new grille sweeps forward at the sides to join the thrusting fenders and create a scoop effect. A deep-sectioned, one-piece bumper enhances the look of luxury. XL, LTD and Country Squiare models featured a special die-cast grille. Retractable headlamp doors extend the grille pattern to the full width of the car. A vacuum motor activiated by the light switch opens the doors automatically.

Interiors of all Ford models have been restyled. The XL has new, wider foam-padded bucket seats with a standard center console. LTD models have a new, luxury Brogham, all-cloth trim option. Wall-to-wall nylon carpeting is standard on LTD models. Other models have nylon-rayon carpeting.

A deeply recessed instrument panel puts all controls and instrumentation directly in front of the driver. The entire panel is covered with force-distributing padding devoid of sharp edges. The instrument panel padding, windshield wiper arms and blades, and many other items in the driver's field of vision have low gloss surfaces.

POWER TEAMS

Two new V-8 engines join the line-up of powerplants available in the 1968 Ford--a 302-cubic-inch engine that is standard in the LTD and Squire models, and a high performance, hydraulic valve lifter 427-cubic-inch engine.

Optional on other Ford models, the 302 in the newest branch on the 289 family tree. Although the bore of the cylinders remains the same, the increased displacement results from longer cylinders which accommodate an increased stroke.

Equipped with a two-barrel carburetor, the 302 produces 210 horsepower at 4,600 rpm. The four-barrel version produces 230 horsepower at 4,800 rpm. The 427 engine offered in 1968 differs from earlier versions in that it has hydraulic rather than mechanical valve lifters for quieter operation and reduced maintenance requirements.

The 240-cubic-inch engine remains standard in all six-cylinder Fords except the LTD and Squire models. Available again in 1968 are two- and four-barrel versions of the 390-cubic-inch V-8 and a four-barrel 428-cubic-inch V-8.

The fully synchronized, three-speed manual transmission is standard on all models. The popular Select Shift Cruise-O-Matic transmission is available as an option on all models. A four-speed manual transmission is available with the four-barrel 390 and 428 engines.

SAFETY FEATURES

All 1968 Fords are equipped with safety features ranging from a redesignes steering wheel and column to squeeze-type interior door handles.

The two-spoke wheel and fully padded hub deform under impact conditions while the force builds up to overcome the initial inertial load of the new collapsible column. The lower end of the column has an outer bellows-like section of metal covered with a specially treated plastic. The shifting and steering shafts consist of two sections each, one slightly smaller in diameter. The two sections are held together by a plastic material and telescope one into the other. In impact situations, the outer bellows and telescoping shafts permit the columns to compress as much as eight inches.

The interiors of all Ford Division products have been redesigned for 1968. A squeeze-type door handle is recessed within the arm rest for added protection against accidental opening and injury through side impacts.

Coat hooks are of a new, broader, softer construction. All exposed knobs are more rounded and window controls are flatter. Even ash tray placement has been safety designed.

The instrument panel area on all models has been designed for improved impact protection. Controls and instruments are safety designed. The panel itself is designed to absorb impact energy. Force-distributing foam on the top and on the top facing edge is covered with low-gloss vinyl to minimize reflection.

Retained from the safety features introduced in 1967 are such items as the dual hydraulic brake system, emergency flashers, lane changing signal, padded windshield pillars and two-speed windshield wipers and windshield washers. Following is a complete list of safety features on all 1968 Ford Division products:

1968 FORD MOTOR COMPANY LIFEGUARD DESIGN SAFETY FEATURES

OTHER FEATURES

Ford's optional AM-FM stereo radio produces true stereophonic sound through two front - door mounted speakers. The fully transistorized radio has five pushbuttons that may be pre-set for a selection of 10 stations -- five AM and five FM. A stereophonic tape system is available with pushbutton AM radio.

New for 1968 is the automatic load leveler system that maintains a level car attitude regardless of load. As the load is increased the system automatically increases air pressure in heavy duty rubber air cylinders fitted inside the rear coil springs.

Ford's optional rear window defogger is designed to remove annoying condensation by directing a stream of air across the inside surface of the glass.

An optional tilt steering allows the driver to move the wheel to any of seven driving positions forward on the turn signal lever. Available again in 1968 are such Ford features as the two - way tailgate for station wagons, the optional fingertip speed control system and six-way power seats.

The city slicker, arrested on a charge of speeding, vehemently denied his guilt, while the rural justice of the peace absently thumbed through a large volume on his desk.

"Guilty!" the official suddenly interrupted, slamming the book closed. "An $18.90 fine!"

While the accused was paying his fine he got a good look at the book the judge had been consulting. It was a mail-order catalog!

"So that's the way you decide your fines!" he angrily exclaimed. "From a mail-order catalog!"

"Yep," confirmed the court clerk, "and you're mighty lucky he had it open at wheelbarrows. Yesterday he was looking at automobiles!"

MRS ROBERT BUCHANAN of Dexter selects a recipe from a cookbook.

Mrs. Robert Buchanan Plans To Become Commercial Artist

Editor's Nots: This is the 55th in a series of articles about the home life of Sikeston area families.

By RUTH DILLENDER

DEXTER-- Mrs. Pat Buchanan, 812 West Oak, plans to be a commercial artist when she completes a correspondence course in art. She is studying all phases of art.

Mrs. Buchanan and her husband, Robert, have two children, a son, Chris, eight; a third grade student at Central elementary school, and a daughter, Cheri, seven, a second grade student at Central.

Buchanan is a truck driver for Will Smith. The couple has lived in Dexter six years.

Mrs. Buchanan sews for herself and her daughter. She likes to cook, a talent she says she learned through experience and from her husband.

The family attends Southwest Church of the Nazarene. Mrs. Buchanan is secretary of the Nazarene Young People's Society, publicity chairman of the Missionary Society, social chairman of the Young Adults' Faithful Followers Sunday School class and a member of the prayer and fasting league of the church. Mr. and Mrs. Buchanan fish and hunt together. A treasure in the home is a cedar chest that Buchanan gave to his wife.

Recipes that Mrs. Buchanan suggests are:

STRAWBERRY CAKE

Mix:
1/3 cup Wesson oil
1 box white cake mix
1 box strawberry Jello
4 eggs, well beaten
1/2 cup cold water
3/4 cup crushed strawberries

Bake according to directions on cake box.

Icing:
Box confectioner's sugar
1/4 cup margarine, melted
1/2 cup crushed strawberries

TUNA CASSEROLE

1 1/3 cups Minute Rice
1 1/3 cup water
1 can cream of mushroom soup
1 small can peas
1 can tuna
About 2 tablespoons diced onions
Salt and pepper to taste

Place onions in soup with one can of water in sauce pan and heat. Butter casserole dish and put about half of rice to cover bottom. Then half of tuna, half of peas, and half of soup in layers. Repeats and cover top with strips of cheese. Bake 25 minutes at 375 degrees.

YEAST BREAD

6 cups sifted all-purpose flour
3 tablespoons sugar
2 teaspoons salt
1/3 cup shortening
1 cup scalded milk
1 1/4 cups lukewarm water
1 package active dry yeast

Variation: Whole wheat bread--substitute 1 1/2 cups granular whole wheat cereal for same amount of flour and molasses and let stand for five minutes before adding to milk and yeast mixture.

Scald milk; add shortening, salt and sugar. Stir Well. Cool to lukewarm.

Place water in three-quart bowl and sprinkle yeast on water. Stir until dissolved.

Add milk to water. Add half the flour and blend. Add remainder of flour to make a soft dough.

Begin to knead dough in the bowl; then turn onto a well floured board and knead until dough is elastic.

Wash, dry and grease bowl. Place dough in bowl and covered with a clean damp cloth. Place in a warm place. Allow dough to rise until it has doubled its bulk, about 1 1/2 hours.

When dough will hold the impression of a finger, remove from bowl and divide into two equal pieces. To shape loaves, flatten each piece of dough by slapping and pressing with hands. Stretch dough to an 18 by 10 inch rectangle.

Fold one side to center, pressing out air pockets. Fold second side to overlap. Then fold over both ends of dough about one third of length and overlap at center. Press edges together.

Place each shaped loaf in 5 by 9-inch greased bread pan, seam side down.

Cover with a clean damp towel and allow to rise until double in bulk and the center is above the pan, about 1 1/2 hours.

Bake at 400 degrees for 50 minutes. Remove from pans and place on a rack to cool.

PRUNE CAKE

2 1/4 cups sifted flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon allspice
1/2 cup butter
2 eggs, well beaten
1 cup sour milk
1 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon cloves
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 1/2 cups sugar
1 cup cooked prunes, pureed

Sift flour; measure. Sift again with baking soda and spices. Cream butter and gradually add sugar, beating until creamy.

Blend in eggs and then prunes. Mix well. Add flour alternately with milk, adding a small amount at a time and beating until smooth after each addition. Pour into greased 10-inch square pan and bake at 350 degrees 40 to 45 minutes.

About Our Schools

By Lynn Twitty

By Lynn Twitty

While the teaching of handwriting is probably not as important, in this era of typewriters, tape recorders and other devices which to a large extent have replaced handwritten messages, it is still a skill of importance and we attempt to teach it as well as we can.

It has been our observation that most of the youngsters learn to write clearly, legibly, even attractively in the first, second, third and fourth grades. But something seems to happen as they progress in school and it seems that in the upper grades they don't write even as well as they do in the lower grades. There may be reasons for this, the necessity of taking quick notes in class, writing more with the idea of the content of the message, rather than its form. Anyway, most of the adults whom I know, including myself, don't write as legibly as do the elementary school youngsters.

One of the aids which we use to teach writing, is a standardized writing paper which is provided at school for use in writing class. We also encourage that parents provide the same paper for all of their school work and for home use as well. Each of our elementary school P.T.A.'s, has adopted the sale of this standardized paper as a project. It is available at comparatively low cost, in fact, no more expensive than other writing paper or pads.

A panel of educational advisors, appointed by the President, to study education above the public school level has recommended the creation of an education opportunity bank to permit students to finance their college education. According to the recommendation they could borrow the full cost against a pledge to repay the loan out of their earnings over a period from 30 to 40 years. The plan would establish the opportunity bank as an agency of the federal government. The bank would borrow money at going governmental rates and in turn would lend it to administrating the plan. It is estimated that the bank would become self-sustaining if it charged students one per cent of gross income over 30 years for every $3,000 borrowed, example: a student borrows $2,000 a year for four years for a total of $8,000. If he earns $10,000 in a subsequent year, he would repay $266 along with his income tax bill for that year.

If this recommendation becomes proposed legislation, it will likely encounter much opposition especially from that vocal segment of our Congress who believe in education only those who come from families, affluent enough to pay their own way.

Unfortunately as college costs go up, (and if you have a son or daughter in college, you believe it) fewer and fewer of our capable, but poor youngsters will have the opportunity for an education above the high school. This is a loss for the individual and for the nation.

There are in fact, those who propose educating the capable student at full public expense on the very reasonable assumption that they will not only add to the strength of our country, but will also pay much more than the cost of their education in the form of taxes on their increased incomes.

An experience that indicates that public money spent for education is a good investment, was established under the GI Bill following World War II. Records indicate that the money allocated to these veterans for college education has been much more than repaid in the form of income taxes from those who receive the benefits.

Our observation is that a large majority of our young people are well-behaved and law-abiding. Unfortunately it is a fact that the number who misbehave, who get into trouble, who break the law, who have no regard for the property of others, is increasing. This is a matter of intense concern for those of us involved in schools and education. We try to teach the individual responsibility, regard for others, respect for the law, the difference between right and wrong, etc., as well as we can in school. We give it more attention than we did when the problem was not so pressing. However, we can not, in the short time we have a child in school, take over the responsibility of the parent. There is no substitute for the proper concern for right and wrong, and for decent conduct as taught in the home. Or at least as it should be.

Schools are organized to teach certain things, to instill knowledge, to develop skills which can not be best done in the home, and which in most cases would be impossible. We can give some attention to conduct, but this area must be the total responsibility of parents.

Misconduct, disregard for authority, violation of reasonable rules, disrupt the educational process. If we are to accomplish our educational goals, we cannot tolerate misbehavior, especially when repeated violations occur. In fact, we do not intend to.

A study conducted at the University of Connecticut in physical education indicates that students taking isometric exercise achieve physical fitness faster than those involved in a vigorous athletic program.

Isometrics is the exercise system that puts human muscles in a short but intense effort against immovable objects such as bars, walls, opposing muscles, etc.

The advantage of isometrics is that little equipment, if any is required and the exercises can be done in the privacy of the home as well as the gymnasium.

In the study conducted, the isometric group achieved three times the improvement of the athletic group in agility, power, strength and endurance but was matched in speed by the control group.

Although we do not use isometrics, generally in the physical education program here, the system has been used for several years to condition members of the athletic teams. We may also incorporate isometrics, on a limited basis, in the general physical education program.

Woman Gets Suspended Sentence for Leaving - Baby in Incinerator

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (AP)--Mrs. Mildred Helm, 41, of Weatherby, Mo., has been given a 90-day suspended jail sentence on a charge of endangering the life and health of her child, who was found severely burned in an incinerator at Fort Collins July 5.

The sentence was imposed and suspended by Judge William F. Smoke of Larimer Court. Mrs. Helm changed her plea from innocent to guilty. The suspension was granted on condition she stay out of trouble for a year.

Sheriff's officers said the woman told them she placed the baby in the incinerator after giving birth unattended because she thought it was dead.

Poplar Bluff Votes Curfew

POPLAR BLUFF - The City Council has established a teenage curfew from midnight to 5 a.m.

The huge siren atop city hall, which has been blown routinely only at 10 p.m. since about 1937, will now be blown at noon each day. The traditional kid whistles familiar to all Poplar Bluffians orginally was ordered blown as a curfew, but the antiquated curfew has not been enforced for many years.

In the early years the siren was blown at 10 p.m. and also at noon, but the noon signal soon was dropped.

During discussion on the new curfew, an alderman suggested blowing the siren at 11:30 p.m. "to give the kids a 30-minute warning." But the council finally decided that the loud warning device that late at night would disturb the sleep of citizens as well as guests of downtown hotels.

So Second Ward Alderman Ezra Cox suggested blowing the whistle at noon, "like they used to do when I was a kid," and the council thought it was a good idea. No one seems to know why the siren must be blown regularly each day.

Men will make all sorts of allowances for a pretty woman, and women for an unmarried man. Mignon McLaughlin

My husband and several other men were traveling on a road covered with deep new fallen snow. They finally came to a halt on a long, steep hill and began to struggle with their tire chains.

Near the top of the grade, another vehicle had also bogged down. The driver, a woman, was rolling up huge snowballs. "Probably making a snowman," one man observed critically, "while waiting for some gentleman to come to her rescue."

However, before they got their own wheels in motion again, the woman opened the trunk of her car, hoisted in the heavy balls of snow and, with a minimum of spinning, drove on over the crest of the hill. The added weight gave her just the traction she needed! Beatrice Maki

STRAWBERRY CAKE

Mix:
1/3 cup Wesson oil
1 box white cake mix
1 box strawberry Jello
4 eggs, well beaten
1/2 cup cold water
3/4 cup crushed strawberries

Bake according to directions on cake box.

Icing:
Box confectioner's sugar
1/4 cup margarine, melted
1/2 cup crushed strawberries

TUNA CASSEROLE

1 1/3 cups Minute Rice
1 1/3 cup water
1 can cream of mushroom soup
1 small can peas
1 can tuna
About 2 tablespoons diced onions
Salt and pepper to taste

Place onions in soup with one can of water in sauce pan and heat. Butter casserole dish and put about half of rice to cover bottom. Then half of tuna, half of peas, and half of soup in layers. Repeats and cover top with strips of cheese. Bake 25 minutes at 375 degrees.

YEAST BREAD

6 cups sifted all-purpose flour
3 tablespoons sugar
2 teaspoons salt
1/3 cup shortening
1 cup scalded milk
1 1/4 cups lukewarm water
1 package active dry yeast

Variation: Whole wheat bread--substitute 1 1/2 cups granular whole wheat cereal for same amount of flour and molasses and let stand for five minutes before adding to milk and yeast mixture.

Scald milk; add shortening, salt and sugar. Stir Well. Cool to lukewarm.

Place water in three-quart bowl and sprinkle yeast on water. Stir until dissolved.

Add milk to water. Add half the flour and blend. Add remainder of flour to make a soft dough.

Begin to knead dough in the bowl; then turn onto a well floured board and knead until dough is elastic.

Wash, dry and grease bowl. Place dough in bowl and covered with a clean damp cloth. Place in a warm place. Allow dough to rise until it has doubled its bulk, about 1 1/2 hours.

When dough will hold the impression of a finger, remove from bowl and divide into two equal pieces. To shape loaves, flatten each piece of dough by slapping and pressing with hands. Stretch dough to an 18 by 10 inch rectangle.

Fold one side to center, pressing out air pockets. Fold second side to overlap. Then fold over both ends of dough about one third of length and overlap at center. Press edges together.

Place each shaped loaf in 5 by 9-inch greased bread pan, seam side down.

Cover with a clean damp towel and allow to rise until double in bulk and the center is above the pan, about 1 1/2 hours.

Bake at 400 degrees for 50 minutes. Remove from pans and place on a rack to cool.

PRUNE CAKE

2 1/4 cups sifted flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon allspice
1/2 cup butter
2 eggs, well beaten
1 cup sour milk
1 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon cloves
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 1/2 cups sugar
1 cup cooked prunes, pureed

Sift flour; measure. Sift again with baking soda and spices. Cream butter and gradually add sugar, beating until creamy.

Blend in eggs and then prunes. Mix well. Add flour alternately with milk, adding a small amount at a time and beating until smooth after each addition. Pour into greased 10-inch square pan and bake at 350 degrees 40 to 45 minutes.

About Our Schools

By Lynn Twitty

By Lynn Twitty

While the teaching of handwriting is probably not as important, in this era of typewriters, tape recorders and other devices which to a large extent have replaced handwritten messages, it is still a skill of importance and we attempt to teach it as well as we can.

It has been our observation that most of the youngsters learn to write clearly, legibly, even attractively in the first, second, third and fourth grades. But something seems to happen as they progress in school and it seems that in the upper grades they don't write even as well as they do in the lower grades. There may be reasons for this, the necessity of taking quick notes in class, writing more with the idea of the content of the message, rather than its form. Anyway, most of the adults whom I know, including myself, don't write as legibly as do the elementary school youngsters.

One of the aids which we use to teach writing, is a standardized writing paper which is provided at school for use in writing class. We also encourage that parents provide the same paper for all of their school work and for home use as well. Each of our elementary school P.T.A.'s, has adopted the sale of this standardized paper as a project. It is available at comparatively low cost, in fact, no more expensive than other writing paper or pads.

A panel of educational advisors, appointed by the President, to study education above the public school level has recommended the creation of an education opportunity bank to permit students to finance their college education. According to the recommendation they could borrow the full cost against a pledge to repay the loan out of their earnings over a period from 30 to 40 years. The plan would establish the opportunity bank as an agency of the federal government. The bank would borrow money at going governmental rates and in turn would lend it to administrating the plan. It is estimated that the bank would become self-sustaining if it charged students one per cent of gross income over 30 years for every $3,000 borrowed, example: a student borrows $2,000 a year for four years for a total of $8,000. If he earns $10,000 in a subsequent year, he would repay $266 along with his income tax bill for that year.

If this recommendation becomes proposed legislation, it will likely encounter much opposition especially from that vocal segment of our Congress who believe in education only those who come from families, affluent enough to pay their own way.

Unfortunately as college costs go up, (and if you have a son or daughter in college, you believe it) fewer and fewer of our capable, but poor youngsters will have the opportunity for an education above the high school. This is a loss for the individual and for the nation.

There are in fact, those who propose educating the capable student at full public expense on the very reasonable assumption that they will not only add to the strength of our country, but will also pay much more than the cost of their education in the form of taxes on their increased incomes.

An experience that indicates that public money spent for education is a good investment, was established under the GI Bill following World War II. Records indicate that the money allocated to these veterans for college education has been much more than repaid in the form of income taxes from those who receive the benefits.

* * * * *

Our observation is that a large majority of our young people are well-behaved and law-abiding. Unfortunately it is a fact that the number who misbehave, who get into trouble, who break the law, who have no regard for the property of others, is increasing. This is a matter of intense concern for those of us involved in schools and education. We try to teach the individual responsibility, regard for others, respect for the law, the difference between right and wrong, etc., as well as we can in school. We give it more attention than we did when the problem was not so pressing. However, we can not, in the short time we have a child in school, take over the responsibility of the parent. There is no substitute for the proper concern for right and wrong, and for decent conduct as taught in the home. Or at least as it should be.

Schools are organized to teach certain things, to instill knowledge, to develop skills which can not be best done in the home, and which in most cases would be impossible. We can give some attention to conduct, but this area must be the total responsibility of parents.

Misconduct, disregard for authority, violation of reasonable rules, disrupt the educational process. If we are to accomplish our educational goals, we cannot tolerate misbehavior, especially when repeated violations occur. In fact, we do not intend to.

A study conducted at the University of Connecticut in physical education indicates that students taking isometric exercise achieve physical fitness faster than those involved in a vigorous athletic program.

Isometrics is the exercise system that puts human muscles in a short but intense effort against immovable objects such as bars, walls, opposing muscles, etc.

The advantage of isometrics is that little equipment, if any is required and the exercises can be done in the privacy of the home as well as the gymnasium.

In the study conducted, the isometric group achieved three times the improvement of the athletic group in agility, power, strength and endurance but was matched in speed by the control group.

Although we do not use isometrics, generally in the physical education program here, the system has been used for several years to condition members of the athletic teams. We may also incorporate isometrics, on a limited basis, in the general physical education program.

Woman Gets Suspended Sentence for Leaving - Baby in Incinerator

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (AP)-- Mrs. Mildred Helm, 41, of Weatherby, Mo., has been given a 90-day suspended jail sentence on a charge of endangering the life and health of her child, who was found severely burned in an incinerator at Fort Collins July 5.

The sentence was imposed and suspended by Judge William F. Smoke of Larimer Court. Mrs. Helm changed her plea from innocent to guilty. The suspension was granted on condition she stay out of trouble for a year.

Sheriff's officers said the woman told them she placed the baby in the incinerator after giving birth unattended because she thought it was dead.

Poplar Bluff Votes Curfew

POPLAR BLUFF - The City Council has established a teenage curfew from midnight to 5 a.m.

The huge siren atop city hall, which has been blown routinely only at 10 p.m. since about 1937, will now be blown at noon each day. The traditional kid whistles familiar to all Poplar Bluffians orginally was ordered blown as a curfew, but the antiquated curfew has not been enforced for many years.

In the early years the siren was blown at 10 p.m. and also at noon, but the noon signal soon was dropped.

During discussion on the new curfew, an alderman suggested blowing the siren at 11:30 p.m. "to give the kids a 30-minute warning." But the council finally decided that the loud warning device that late at night would disturb the sleep of citizens as well as guests of downtown hotels.

So Second Ward Alderman Ezra Cox suggested blowing the whistle at noon, "like they used to do when I was a kid," and the council thought it was a good idea. No one seems to know why the siren must be blown regularly each day.

Men will make all sorts of allowances for a pretty woman, and women for an unmarried man.

Mignon McLaughlin

My husband and several other men were traveling on a road covered with deep new fallen snow. They finally came to a halt on a long, steep hill and began to struggle with their tire chains.

Near the top of the grade, another vehicle had also bogged down. The driver, a woman, was rolling up huge snowballs. "Probably making a snowman," one man observed critically, "while waiting for some gentleman to come to her rescue."

However, before they got their own wheels in motion again, the woman opened the trunk of her car, hoisted in the heavy balls of snow and, with a minimum of spinning, drove on over the crest of the hill. The added weight gave her just the traction she needed!

Bill Capeheart

Capeheart Takes Managership

Bill Capehart has been named a product merchandising manager for A & W Root Beer Co. He will serve A & W drive-in restaurants in the company's central merchandising division, which covers 13 states.

Prior to joining A & W, Capehart was a sales representative for Sealtest Dairy, a division of the National Dairy Corp. Before that, he was associated with Kraft Foods, the Sealtest Co., and the Kroger grocery chain, all in the St. Louis area.

A native of St. Louis, Capehart attended Roosevelt High School there. After serving with the army airborne, he enrolled at Washington University in St. Louis, where he was graduated in 1960 with a bachelor of science degree in business administration.

He and his wife, Joyce, and their three children: Kurt, 14; Linda, 11; and Ellen, 4, live at 106 Dudley St.

Commission Urged For Sizing up Viet Government Merits

WASHINGTON (AP) — blue-ribbon U.S. commission should be set up to help determine whether the performance of the newly elected South Vietnamese government merits continuation of the American military effort there, Sen. Jacob K. Javits said today.

The future of the U.S. commitment in Vietnam, the New York Republican said, will be determined in large part by the ability of the new government to gain popular support, institute reforms and take over many activities now performed by Americans.

Javits said the commission's reports could bridge "the alleged credibility gap which contributes so much to the divisiveness, bitterness and confusions surrounding the Vietnam issue."

His proposal was in the form of a joint resolution calling for creation of a 21-member commission.

The President would name 11 members and designate the chairman. The vice president would name five senators and the House speaker, five representatives.

PTA Meets At Bell City

BELL CITY -- The Parent-Teachers Association had its first regular meeting of the school year Tuesday night.

Mrs. John B. Spencer Jr., president, presided.

Supt. Forrest Jackson introduced John E. Richards, elementary pricipal, and Gordor Atchison, high school principal. The principals introduced the teachers.

Larry Strobel spoke on the Stoddard county health program.

Other officers are Mrs. Larry Strobel, vice president; Mrs. Paul H. Barks, secretary, and Cleatus Lemmons, treasurer.

A reception for new teachers followed the meeting, with Mrs. Ferel Austin, Mrs. John F. Johnson and Mrs. Herman Vetter in charge.

The refreshment table was decorated in fall colors, with an orange floral centerpiece. Orange - colored punch and cake were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Worth are parents of a son born Sept. 15 at Missouri Delta Community hospital in Sikeston. The infant weighed eight pounds and three ounces. Mrs. Worth is the fromer Sue Phillips, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Phillips. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Worth.

Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Hesselrode and children, Terry, Lance, Mark and Tonya, spent the weekend in the South. They also visited their son, Jerry, a student at Oklahoma Christian College, Oklahoma City, and her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Moxley, who have returned home from Thailand.

Mr. and Mrs. Winford Green and family of Chicago, Ill., were guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Green. Their son, Bob, spent a 10-day leave from the army with his grandparents before leaving for a year's tour of duty in Turkey.

Maurice Klemmee, Bessie, Okla., returned home Saturday after visiting relatives. He is a former resident of Bell City, leaving here about 50 years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Limbaugh, Mrs. Ethel Limbaugh and Shelby Long attended the funeral of Webster Limbaugh of St. Louis Sunday at Lutesville. Mrs. Ethel Limbaugh visited her uncle and aunt, Dr. and Mrs. D. L. L. Seabaugh of Jackson, who celebrated their 62nd wedding anniversary.

The high school band played at the Stoddard county fall meeting of the teachers association at Dexter Friday. Kenneth Riley is band director.

David Dalton, who has been stationed at Fort Benjamin Harrison. Ind., left Wednesday for Washington, D. C., where he will be in the administration department at Walter Reed hospital. He spent five days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Blair Dalton.

Benjamin Richmond of Delta, formerly of Bell City and Advance, was honored with a surprise birthday party Sept. 10 at the home of his foster daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Roberts of Delta, with whom he lives. Richmond is 90 years old.

Mrs. Roberts is the former Lillie Hefner.

The home was decorated with fresh flowers and the serving table was lace-covered, with a birthday cake and floral arrangement forming the centerpiece.

Coffee and punch were served from silver and crystal and cake from china.

Mrs. Roberts was assisted by her daughters, Mrs. Janis Ann Devors of Delta and Glenda Faye Copman of Cape Girardeau. Sixty-nine persons attended.

Richmond was married to the former Clara Stockdale, who died several years ago. They had three children, Mrs. Oma Goodin, Milwaukee, Wis.; Floyd Richmond, Homewood, Ill., and Mrs. R. M. Painton, Painton. All children attended the party.

Richmond listens to all St. Louis Cardinal baseball games on the radio and is able to get around with the use of a cane.

QUICK QUIZ

Q—What city lies partly in Europe and partly in Asia?
A—Istanbul, Turkey.

Q—What is Chinese grass cloth made from?
A—A vegetable fiber, ramie, which is grown chiefly in China and Japan. One of the toughest of vegetable fibers, it is well-adapted to many industrial uses, can be mixed with silk or wool in woven goods or can be made to resemble a low-grade linen.

Q—Is there really a town called "Santa Claus" in the United States?
A—Yes, in Spencer County, Ind. Every Christmas, millions of cards and packages are mailed from its post office for the sake of the postmark.

Q—When is a plant classed as an annual?
A—The term is applied to a plant which reaches maturity and completes its life cycle during the first season of growth. After producing flowers and ripening seeds, the plant dies.

Q—How far from Siberia is the city of Nome, Alaska?
A—165 miles away.

Q—What was the first military use of the flag of the United Nations?
A—Adopted in 1947, the flag was first flown by armed forces at war in July 1950, when the Security Council authorized its use by Gen. Douglas MacArthur in Korea.

Q—Is the giraffe native to Africa?
A—Yes. The first giraffe to reach Europe was imported by Julius Caesar, who exhibited it in Rome in 46 B. C.

Q—How are congressional pages appointed?
A—On a patronage basis by members of Congress and by the marshal of the Supreme Court with consent of the chief justice. There are 26 pages in the Senate, 50 in the House, and four in the Supreme Court—80 in all.

Q—In what country did comic valentines originate?
A—They probably began in America and were sometimes called "penny dreadfuls."

Q—What weather element was the first to be measured?
A—The amount of rainfall. The Greeks kept some rainfall records as far back as the fifth century B.C.

Q—Why are the Moslems in the Philippines called Moros?
A—The Moslems, who were named Moros by the Spaniards after the Moors of Spain, live only in the southern Philippines. The Moros were converted to Islam by Moslem missionaries from India in the 15th and 16th centuries.

Q—Where is the largest collection of dinosaur remains in the world?
A—Dinosaur Park, Alberta, Canada.

Q—What changes did President Truman make in the U.S. coat of arms?
A—The eagle now not only faces to its right—the direction of honor—but also toward the olive branches of peace, which it holds in its right talon. Formerly the eagle faced toward the arrows in its left talon, symbolic of war.

Q—Which president was given the pseudonym of "His Fraudulency"?
A—Rutherford B. Hayes.

Q—What is a catchpole?
A—A constable, bailiff, or other petty law officer who serves warrants and makes arrests.

Q—In reference to the stock market, what is the meaning of the expression, "trading on a shoe string"?
A—When a person trades in stocks or commodities on margin, with a very limited capital, he is said to be "trading on a shoe string."

(NEA Telephoto)

WORLD'S LARGEST rocket, America's Saturn 5, is poised and ready for its test-firing sometime in October. The 365-foot-high launch vehicle is a key in the program to put an astronaut on the moon.

Q&A on cigarette smoking and heart disease

Q Do young smokers necessarily get "hooked" by the cigarette habit?

A NO. Young people just starting to smoke are not like older people who have smoked for 15 or 20 years. The habit is certainly not as strong for them. When teen-agers decide that they want to quit and are determined to do it, the chances are excellent that they will succeed.

No. 11 in a series of 12 questions and answers about smoking and health — published by this newspaper in cooperation with your Heart Association

QUICK QUIZ

Q—What city lies partly in Europe and partly in Asia?
A—Istanbul, Turkey.

Q—What is Chinese grass cloth made from?
A—A vegetable fiber, ramie, which is grown chiefly in China and Japan. One of the toughest of vegetable fibers, it is well-adapted to many industrial uses, can be mixed with silk or wool in woven goods or can be made to resemble a low-grade linen.

Q—Is there really a town called "Santa Claus" in the United States?
A—Yes, in Spencer County, Ind. Every Christmas, millions of cards and packages are mailed from its post office for the sake of the postmark.

Q—When is a plant classed as an annual?
A—The term is applied to a plant which reaches maturity and completes its life cycle during the first season of growth. After producing flowers and ripening seeds, the plant dies.

Q—How far from Siberia is the city of Nome, Alaska?
A—165 miles away.

Q—What was the first military use of the flag of the United Nations?
A—Adopted in 1947, the flag was first flown by armed forces at war in July 1950, when the Security Council authorized its use by Gen. Douglas MacArthur in Korea.

Q—Is the giraffe native to Africa?
A—Yes. The first giraffe to reach Europe was imported by Julius Caesar, who exhibited it in Rome in 46 B. C.

Q—How are congressional pages appointed?
A—On a patronage basis by members of Congress and by the marshal of the Supreme Court with consent of the chief justice. There are 26 pages in the Senate, 50 in the House, and four in the Supreme Court—80 in all.

Q—In what country did comic valentines originate?
A—They probably began in America and were sometimes called "penny dreadfuls."

Q—What weather element was the first to be measured?
A—The amount of rainfall. The Greeks kept some rainfall records as far back as the fifth century B.C.

Q—Why are the Moslems in the Philippines called Moros?
A—The Moslems, who were named Moros by the Spaniards after the Moors of Spain, live only in the southern Philippines. The Moros were converted to Islam by Moslem missionaries from India in the 15th and 16th centuries.

Q—Where is the largest collection of dinosaur remains in the world?
A—Dinosaur Park, Alberta, Canada.

Q—What changes did President Truman make in the U.S. coat of arms?
A—The eagle now not only faces to its right—the direction of honor—but also toward the olive branches of peace, which it holds in its right talon. Formerly the eagle faced toward the arrows in its left talon, symbolic of war.

Q—Which president was given the pseudonym of "His Fraudulency"?
A—Rutherford B. Hayes.

Q—What is a catchpole?
A—A constable, bailiff, or other petty law officer who serves warrants and makes arrests.

Q—In reference to the stock market, what is the meaning of the expression, "trading on a shoe string"?
A—When a person trades in stocks or commodities on margin, with a very limited capital, he is said to be "trading on a shoe string."

(NEA Telephoto)

WORLD'S LARGEST rocket, America's Saturn 5, is poised and ready for its test-firing sometime in October. The 365-foot-high launch vehicle is a key in the program to put an astronaut on the moon.

Q&A
on cigarette smoking and heart disease

Q Do young smokers necessarily get "hooked" by the cigarette habit?

A NO. Young people just starting to smoke are not like older people who have smoked for 15 or 20 years. The habit is certainly not as strong for them. When teen-agers decide that they want to quit and are determined to do it, the chances are excellent that they will succeed.

Missouri Sign Bill Cited to Other States

KANSAS CITY (AP)— A bill regulating outdoor advertising passed by the last Missouri Legislature is so good the federal government is citing it to other states, says State Sen. Richard M. Webster, R-Carthage.

Webster spoke her to the Greater Kansas City Sign Industry Association.

He said the measure "will comply with the federal law, clean rubbish off the highways and allow for the orderly growth of a great American industry."

The lawmaker urged the sign industry to join with others in removing "abandoned signs advertising forgotten products and non-existent businesses.

Mr. Charles Blanton
The Daily Sikeston Standard
Sikeston, Missouri

Dear Mr. Blanton:

In behalf of the Matthews Community Club, Volunteer Firemen, and citizens of the community I want to express to you our appreciation for the fine publicity given in the Daily Sikeston Standard to our Fourth Annual Fall Festival.

It was generous of you to send a photographer to make the pictures and to give them and the news articles front page coverage. We sincerely appreciate it.

Very truly yours,

Ann Landers

Lack of Privacy Bugs Girl

Dear Ann Landers: My boyfriend and I are both 17. We got into a jam last May because he kissed me good-bye on the school premises. (It was three o'clock in the afternoon.) The lecture went something like this: "There is a time and place for everything."

A few weeks later we parked along a well-lit road about 10:00 p.m. to talk about our future. A squad car came along and the police asked us what we were doing. We said we were talking about our future. The policeman ordered us to "get moving."

Last night we went to a public park and spread a blanket out under a tree so we could talk about life. About 20 little kids who were on a camping trip began to pester us. They circled around yelling, "Lovers, lovers, kiss, kiss, kiss!" After 15 minutes we left.

If there is a time and place for everything, please tell us where is the place for teenagers to have a nice, quiet conversation. --- INVADED PRIVACY

Dear In: Do you have a home? A living room, a parlor, or a front porch are all good places to talk about life. And if you are SITTING on a park bench, your chances for privacy are better than if you are lying down. There are also coffee houses, sandwich shops and snack drive-ins. The list is endless. Be my guest.

Dear Ann Landers: Most of the steaming hot weather is over but there are still a few scorchers ahead. So please print this letter.

Too many people think they are being kind to their dogs when they take them on shopping trips to town. Most stores do not allow dogs, so the poor animals are locked up in unbearably hot automobiles for two and three hours at a time.

The average car can build up heat to 140 degrees in a half-hour. A dog cools off by radiation, without any evaporation. In a hot car there is no place for the dog's heat to go. He could die.

People do not realize they are being cruel to their pets when they keep them cooped up this way. If any of your readers come across pets who are trapped in overheated cars, please call the Humane Society at once.--- ONE WHO LOVES DOGS

Dear One: I have seen pets crying and jumping about frantically in parked cars but it never occurred to me that they might be suffocating from the heat. I thought they were merely unhappy at being left alone. Thenk you for making me wiser.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I like our future daughter-in-law very much. We have always treated her like one of the family. Donna has had dinner over here dozens of times. We invited her to our vacation cottage last summer and again this spring.

Yesterday a friend said to me, "I hear your son is marrying Donna. I do hope everything works out all right." I asked her what she meant. She answered, "Donna told my daughter she is very much in love, but she can't warm up to her future mother-in-law.

I am so shocked and hurt I don't know what to do. I had planned a pre-nuptial party for Donna but now I don't have the heart to go through with it. In fact, I don't even feel like going to the wedding. Please advise me. --- CRUSHED

Dear C.: I don't know what kind of friends you have, but if this woman is an example, I suggest that you start trading up.

A person who would make such a cutting remark is visious. She could also be a liar -- or guilty of gross exaggeration. One thing is certain, she is no friend. Write off the comment and carry on as if you never heard it.

When romantic glances turn to warm embraces is it love or chemistry? Send for the booklet "Love Or Sex And How To Tell The Difference," by Ann Landers. Enclose a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and 35¢ in coin with your request.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

We have secured the lease of Talley's Place, one half mile north of Sikeston on 61, where we will continue to operate the service station and restaurant. The Potashnicks.

A card from J. M. Pitman says he has a splendid position with a cleaning and tailoring establishment in St. Louis. His address is 919 Hamilton street.

A representative of The Standard visited the farm of Frank Van Horne Monday afternoon and had the pleasure of watching the force of about 15 women at work canning tomatoes. Mr. Van Horne had about 20 acres in tomatoes and a good many were ready for market when the canning factory burned, but by getting busy just as soon as it was learned that the factory would not be rebuilt rebuilt he has saved about half of his crop.

Pawnbroker Responsible For Ring in Open Safe

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

When it began to rain on Finnigan's luck, Finnigan was left with no choice but to hock a large diamond ring to stop the downpour. As fate would have it, however, the torrents continued to fall.

Shortly after Finnigan left his ring with the pawnbroker, a hold-up man sauntered into the shop and, at gun point, removed the contents of the pawnbroker's open safe, including Finnigan's ring.

The result? When Finnigan's luck improved and he returned to reclaim his ring, the pawnbroker threw up his hands again but, this time, in despair.

"I'm sorry," he said, "but having your ring stolen from me was a risk you assumed when you hocked it."

"That's your story," was Finnigan's answer. "All I know is that I gave it to you and you've got to give it back."

When the pawnbroker refused to recognize Finnigan's redeeming qualities, Finnigan sued him for the value of the ring.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you make the pawnbroker pay up?

This is how the judge ruled: Yes! The judge held that a pawnbroker is excused from redelivering goods if he exercises care for its safekeeping. But in this case, concluded the Judge, there was a question whether the pawnbroker had exercised care for the safety of Finnigan's ring by leaving it in an open safe.

Elvis Decks Former Employe With Fists

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Elvis Presley used his fists to flatten a former employe during an argument, according to the Shelby County Sheriff's office.

A sheriff's office report indicated the 31-year-old millionaire entertainer decked Troy Ivy, 38, with one blow. Ivy denied he had gone down but said Presley hit him twice.

No arrests were made.

The report said the incident ccurred Sunday at the front ate of Presley's estate-Graceland, in suburban Whitehaven. Ivy was identified as a former yardman for Presley's father.

James M. Hughes, educator, Evansville, Ind.: "A plain bar of iron is worth $5. This same bar of iron when made into horseshoes is worth $10.50. If made into needles it is worth $4,285. If turned into balance wheels for watches it becomes worth $250,000. This is true of another kind of material--you. Your value is determined by what you make of yourself."

Missouri Sign Bill Cited to Other States

KANSAS CITY (AP)— A bill regulating outdoor advertising passed by the last Missouri Legislature is so good the federal government is citing it to other states, Missouri Sign Assn. Richard M. Webster, R.Carthage.

Webster spoke her to the Greater Kansas City Sign Industry Association.

He said the measure "will comply with the federal law, clean rubbish off the highways and allow for the orderly growth of a great American industry."

The lawmaker urged the sign industry to join with others in removing "abandoned signs advertising forgotten products and non-existent businesses.

Ann Landers

Lack of Privacy Bugs Girl

Dear Ann Landers: My boyfriend and I are both 17. We got into a jam last May because he kissed me good-bye on the school premises. (It was three o'clock in the afternoon.) The lecture went something like this: "There is a time and place for everything."

A few weeks later we parked along a well-lit road about 10:00 p.m. to talk about our future. A squad car came along and the police asked us what we were doing. We said we were talking about our future. The policeman ordered us to "get moving."

Last night we went to a public park and spread a blanket out under a tree so we could talk about life. About 20 little kids who were on a camping trip began to pester us. They circled around yelling, "Lovers, lovers, kiss, kiss, kiss!" After 15 minutes we left.

If there is a time and place for everything, please tell us where is the place for teenagers to have a nice, quiet conversation. --- INVADED PRIVACY

Dear In: Do you have a home? A living room, a parlor, or a front porch are all good places to talk about life. And if you are SITTING on a park bench, your chances for privacy are better than if you are lying down. There are also coffee houses, sandwich shops and snack drive-ins. The list is endless. Be my guest.

Dear Ann Landers: Most of the steaming hot weather is over but there are still a few scorchers ahead. So please print this letter.

Too many people think they are being kind to their dogs when they take them on shopping trips to town. Most stores do not allow dogs, so the poor animals are locked up in unbearably hot automobiles for two and three hours at a time.

The average car can build up heat to 140 degrees in a half-hour. A dog cools off by radiation, without any evaporation. In a hot car there is no place for the dog's heat to go. He could die.

People do not realize they are being cruel to their pets when they keep them cooped up this way. If any of your readers come across pets who are trapped in overheated cars, please call the Humane Society at once.--- ONE WHO LOVES DOGS

Dear One: I have seen pets crying and jumping about frantically in parked cars but it never occurred to me that they might be suffocating from the heat. I thought they were merely unhappy at being left alone. Thenk you for making me wiser.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I like our future daughter-in-law very much. We have always treated her like one of the family. Donna has had dinner over here dozens of times. We invited her to our vacation cottage last summer and again this spring.

Yesterday a friend said to me, "I hear your son is marrying Donna. I do hope everything works out all right." I asked her what she meant. She answered, "Donna told my daughter she is very much in love, but she can't warm up to her future mother-in-law.

Pawnbroker Responsible For Ring in Open Safe

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

When it began to rain on Finnigan's luck, Finnigan was left with no choice but to hock a large diamond ring to stop the downpour. As fate would have it, however, the torrents continued to fall.

Shortly after Finnigan left his ring with the pawnbroker, a hold-up man sauntered into the shop and, at gun point, removed the contents of the pawnbroker's open safe, including Finnigan's ring.

The result? When Finnigan's luck improved and he returned to reclaim his ring, the pawnbroker threw up his hands again but, this time, in despair.

"I'm sorry," he said, "but having your ring stolen from me was a risk you assumed when you hocked it."

"That's your story," was Finnigan's answer. "All I know is that I gave it to you and you've got to give it back."

Today In U. S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, Sept. 21, the 264th day of 1967. There are 101 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1949, West Germany came into formal existence when the Allied high commission transferred to it the administration of American, British and French zones of occupation.

On this date:

In 1776, the first naval battle of the American Revolution was fought at Lake Champlain.

In 1792, the French assembly voted to abolish the monarchy.

In 1893, Frank Furyea, a toolmaker, operated the first successful gasoline automobile in Springfield, Mass.

In 1938, Czechoslovakia announced it had agreed to cede the Sudeten German area of that country to Nazi Germany.

In 1939, Russia and Germany agreed on the demarcation of Poland.

In 1945, President Harry Truman officially approved "World War Two" as the title of the war which had just ended.

Ten years ago — A West German sailing vessel sank off the Azores with a loss of 80 lives.

Five years ago — Algerians went to the polls to vote for their first national assembly.

One year ago — U.S. jet pilots downed two Communist MIGs over North Vietnam and damaged three others in the biggest day of air combat of the war so far.
